Holocaust Fiction Sue Vice,2003-09-02 Examining the controversies that have accompanied the publication of novels representing the Holocaust this compelling book explores such literature to analyze their violently mixed receptions and what this says about the ethics and practice of millennial Holocaust literature The novels examined including some for the first time are Time s Arrow by Martin Amis The White Hotel by D M Thomas The Painted Bird by Jerzy Kosinski Schindler s List by Thomas Keneally Sophie s Choice by William Styron The Hand that Signed the Paper by Helen Darville Taking issue with the idea that the Holocaust should only be represented factually this compelling book argues that Holocaust fiction is not only legitimate but an important genre that it is essential to accept In a growing area of interest Sue Vice adds a new intelligent and contentious voice to the key debates within Holocaust studies

Essentials of the Theory of Fiction Michael J. Hoffman,Patrick D. Murphy,2005-07-06 A third edition of this anthology of the most influential and comprehensive writing on the theory of fiction from the 19th century through modernism and postmodernism to the present Who Gets to Write Fiction? Ariel Sacks,2023-10-03 Writing and sharing fiction allows adolescents to glimpse other lives The current curricular emphasis on analytical writing can make it feel risky to teach creative writing in ELA classrooms But the opportunity to write fiction in school opens many doors for young people doors the author argues are critical to the development of our students our education system and even our democracy This book will delight English teachers weary of focusing relentlessly on argument and information writing Veteran teacher Ariel Sacks vividly describes the many academic social emotional and community building advantages of teaching imaginative writing in the classroom not least of which is the impact it has on equity for marginalized students Her book is a teacher to teacher text that folds in detailed practical guidance about how to design lessons and meet standards while presenting a powerful central argument that the writing of fiction should be treated not as a luxury for some but as a center of the English curriculum for all students

The Social Dimensions of Fiction Steven Tötösy de Zepetnek,2013-11-11 This work is a comparative study of nineteenth century English Canadian and French Canadian novel prefaces a previously unexplored literary topic As a study in Comparative Literature with the application of a specific literary framework and methodology the study conforms to theoretical and methodological postulates formulated in and prescribed by this framework when applied This a priori postulate necessitates that the research on and the presentation of the Canadian novel preface be carried out in a specific manner as follows First the study will establish the hypothesis that the preface to nineteenth century English Canadian and French Canadian novels is a genre in its own right This hypothesis will rest on the following 1 a taxonomical survey of related terms meaning preface 2 a survey of secondary literature of works dealing with the preface 3 a discussion of the theoretical framework and methodology of the Empirical Theory of Literature and its appropriateness for the study of the preface and 4 a discussion of the process of the compilation of the corpus of nineteenth century Canadian novel prefaces Chapter one In a second step the theoretical postulate outlined in the hypothesis will be put into practice by the development and production of a preface typology Chapter two In a third step further tenets of the Empirical Theory of Literature will be tested on the corpus of the prefaces Chapter three In a fourth step the prefaces will be analysed following the tenets formulated in and prescribed by the systemic framework applied Chapter four Narrative Pleasures in Young Adult Novels, Films and Video Games M. Mackey, 2011-07-08 Stories are told today through many formats and young interpreters bring multimedia experience to bear on every narrative format they encounter In this book twelve young people read a novel watch a film and play a video game from beginning to end Their responses inform a new framework of contemporary themes of narrative comprehension Fiction and the Ways of Knowing Avrom Fleishman, 2014-07-03 In this highly individual study Avrom Fleishman explores a wide range of literary references to human culture the culture of ideas facts and images Each critical essay in Fiction and the Ways of Knowing takes up for sustained analysis a major British novel of the nineteenth or the twentieth century The novels are analyzed in the light of social historical philosophical and other perspectives that can be grouped under the human sciences The diversity of critical contexts in these thirteen essays is organized by Avrom Fleishman's governing belief in the interrelations of literature and other ways of interpreting the world The underlying assumptions of this approach as explained in his introductory essay are that fiction is capable of encompassing even the most recondite facts and recalcitrant ideas that fiction though never a mirror of reality is linked to realities and takes part in the real and that a critical reading may be informed by scientific knowledge without reducing the literary work to a schematic formula Fleishman investigates the matters of fact and belief that make up the designated meanings the intellectual contexts and the speculative parallels in three types of novel Some of the novels discussed make it clear that their authors are informed on matters beyond the nonspecialist's range these essays help bridge this information gap Other fictional works are only to be grasped in an awareness of the cultural lore tacitly distributed in their own time a modern reader must make the effort to fathom their anachronisms And other novels can be found to open passageways that their authors can only have glimpsed intuitively these must be pursued with great caution but equal diligence The novels discussed include Little Dorrit The Way We Live Now Daniel Deronda The Return of the Native and The Magus Also examined are Wuthering Heights Vanity Fair Northanger Abbey To the Lighthouse Under Western Eyes Ulysses and A Passage to India Responsible Pedagogy Eric Detweiler, 2022-10-25 In recent decades public higher education has faced perpetual crises As states slash investment in postsecondary education and for profit entities seek to supplant public colleges and universities these public institutions have tried to compete by maximizing efficiency namely by downplaying and outsourcing the labor of teachers Responsible Pedagogy makes a fresh case for the importance and value of public higher education and the work of teaching In making this case Eric Detweiler surveys the history of rhetoric and writing in postsecondary education looking in particular at the teacher student relationship He finds that from the Socratic method to medieval exercises from MOOCs to remote asynchronous learning the balance of authority and agency in the classroom is often precarious But the problem goes deeper Underlying both authority and agency is the value of mastery which the teacher is to impart to the student It is this emphasis on mastery Detweiler argues that distorts the proper relation between the student and teacher a relationship in which they are responsible for and vulnerable to each other Drawing on contemporary ethics rhetorical theory and critiques of practices in the online classroom Detweiler develops a pedagogy of responsibility and shows how it can be applied in writing and communication curricula assignments and teacher student interactions Rehabilitating the proper role of the teacher Responsible Pedagogy calls into question our newfound trust in educational technology and points the way to a better more effective pedagogy

The Postsouthern Sense of Place in Contemporary Fiction Martyn Bone, 2014-01-13 For generations southern novelists and critics have grappled with a concept that is widely seen as a trademark of their literature a strong attachment to geography or a sense of place In the 1930s the Agrarians accorded special meaning to rural life particularly the farm in their definitions of southern identity For them the South seemed an organic and rooted region in contrast to the North where real estate development and urban sprawl evoked a faceless raw capitalism By the end of the twentieth century however economic and social forces had converged to create a modernized South How have writers responded to this phenomenon Is there still a sense of place in the South or perhaps a distinctly postsouthern sense of place Martyn Bone innovatively draws upon postmodern thinking to consider the various perspectives that southern writers have brought to the concept of place and to look at its fate in a national and global context He begins with a revisionist assessment of the Agrarians who failed in their attempts to turn their proprietary ideal of the small farm into actual policy but whose broader rural aesthetic lived on in the work of neo Agrarian writers including William Faulkner and Eudora Welty By the 1950s adherence to this aesthetic was causing southern writers and critics to lose sight of the social reality of a changing South Bone turns to more recent works that do respond to the impact of capitalist spatial development on the South and on the nation generally including that self declared international city Atlanta Close readings of novels by Robert Penn Warren Walker Percy Richard Ford Anne Rivers Siddons Tom Wolfe and Toni Cade Bambara illuminate evolving ideas about capital land labor and class while introducing southern literary studies into wider debates around social cultural and literary geography Bone concludes his remarkably rich book by considering works of Harry Crews and Barbara Kingsolver that suggest the southern sense of place may be not only post Agrarian or postsouthern but also transnational relation between the novel and ethical thought Henry James and the Promise of Fiction argues that the answer to this question lies not in the content of a work of fiction but in its form Stuart Burrows explores the relationship between James's ethical vision and his densely metaphorical style his experiments with narrative time and his radical reimagining of perspective Each chapter takes as its starting point a different aspect of an issue at the heart of moral philosophy the act of promising Engaging with a range of moral philosophers and literary theorists most notably David Hume Friedrich Nietzsche Paul Ricoeur and Jacques Derrida Henry James and the Promise of Fiction argues that James's formal experimentation represents a significant contribution to ethical thought in its own right
