Creativity and Leadership in Science, Technology, and Innovation Sven Hemlin, Carl Martin Allwood, Ben Martin, Michael D. Mumford, 2014-03-14 Leadership is vital to creativity and successful innovation in groups and organizations leadership is however seldom studied in the academic literature as a creativity driver One reason for the lack of attention paid to leadership's effect on creativity may be the common belief that creativity cannot and should not be managed Creative individuals and groups are regarded as and indeed often are autonomous and self-driving From this belief the erroneous conclusion is drawn that there is no need for leadership in creative environments and situations The better conclusion proposed by this book is that leadership not only stimulates creativity but that such a leadership in the science technology and innovation fields should specifically possess at least two features a expertise in the field's and b an ability to create support and encourage individuals groups and creative knowledge environments A number of specialist authors in this volume offer original theoretical empirical and applied chapters that elucidate how to better organize and lead creative efforts in science technology and innovation A number of important research questions are raised and answered including What kinds of leaderships are needed at different levels of S T organizations for a creative output What social and cognitive abilities and skills are needed for leadership in creative environments How does leadership vary with different phases of the creative process This book offers concrete analysis of how leaders and managers can facilitate promote and organize for creative performance in science technology and in innovating organizations making it required reading for academic and industrial research leaders scientists and engineers

Naval Innovation for the 21st Century Robert Buder, 2013-11-15 The Office of Naval Research known widely as ONR was formed in 1946 largely to support the pursuit of basic science to help ensure future U S naval dominance and as such it set the model for the subsequently created National Science Foundation But everything changed after the Cold War The U S entered a period of greater fiscal constraints and the concept of warfare shifted from conventional land and sea battles and super power conflicts to an era of asymmetric warfare where the country might be engaged in many smaller fights in unconventional arenas Naval Innovation in the 21st Century is a narrative account of ONR's efforts to respond to this transformation amidst increasing pressure to focus on programs directly relevant to the Navy but without sacrificing the seed corn of fundamental science the organization helped pioneer Told through the eyes of the admirals leading ONR and the department heads who oversee key programs the book follows the organization as it responds to the fall of the Soviet Union the terrorist attack on the USS Cole in 2000 and subsequent wars in Iraq and Afghanistan These events are inspiring an array of innovations for land and sea Consider unmanned undersea vehicles that can patrol strategic coastlines for months on end novel types of landing craft that can travel up to 2 500 nautical miles without refueling and precision shipborne rail guns whose GPS guided shells can hit targets from hundreds of miles off Other efforts include advanced electronics designed to swap out scores of antennas on ships for two solid state apertures greatly increasing speed and stealth and speed virtual training methods that spare the environment by avoid the need to fire tons of live shells and new ways to protect Marines from improvised explosive devices All these programs some pursued in conventional manner and some set up as skunk works designed to spur out of the box thinking are part of an ongoing evolution that seeks to connect scientific investment more directly to the warfighter without forsaking the Navy s longer term future Naval Innovation in the 21st Century is a narrative history and a story of organizational change centered around the struggles of management and key personnel to adapt to shifting priorities while holding on to their historic core mission of supporting longer term research As such it holds great lessons and insights for how the U S government should fund and maintain military R D in a new era of small ball conflicts and how the country must prepare for the future of warfare

21st Century Innovation Systems for Japan and the United States National Research Council,Policy and Global Affairs,Board on Science, Technology, and Economic Policy,Committee on Comparative Innovation Policy: Best Practice for the 21st Century,2009-05-15 Recognizing that a capacity to innovate and commercialize new high technology products is increasingly a key for the economic growth in the environment of tighter environmental and resource constraints governments around the world have taken active steps to strengthen their national innovation systems These steps underscore the belief of these governments that the rising costs and risks associated with new potentially high payoff technologies their spillover or externality generating effects and the growing global competition require national R D programs to support the innovations by new and existing high technology firms within their borders The National Research Council s Board on Science Technology and Economic Policy STEP has embarked on a study of selected foreign innovation programs in comparison with major U S programs The 21st Century Innovation Systems for the United States and Japan Lessons from a Decade of Change symposium reviewed government programs and initiatives to support the development of small and medium sized enterprises government university industry collaboration and consortia and the impact of the intellectual property regime on innovation This book brings together the papers presented at the conference and provides a historical context of the issues discussed at the symposium Clustering for 21st Century Prosperity National Research Council,Policy and Global Affairs,Board on Science, Technology, and Economic Policy,Committee on Competing in the 21st Century: Best Practice in State and Regional Innovation Initiatives,2012-09-14 Responding to the challenges of fostering regional growth and employment in an increasingly competitive global economy many U S states and regions have developed programs to attract and grow companies as well as attract the talent and resources necessary to develop regional innovation clusters These state and regionally based initiatives have a broad range of goals and increasingly include larger resources commitments often with a sectoral focus and often in partnership with foundations and universities Recent studies however have pointed out that many of these efforts lack the scale and the steady commitment needed for success This has prompted new initiatives to coordinate and concentrate investments from a variety of federal agencies to develop research parks business incubators and other strategies to encourage entrepreneurship and high tech development in the nation s regions Understanding the nature of innovation clusters and public policies associated with successful cluster development is therefore of current relevance Clustering for 21st Century Prosperity identifies best practices with regard to goals structures instruments modes of operation synergies across private and public programs funding mechanisms and levels and evaluation efforts The committee under the Board on Science Technology and Economic Policy STEP is reviewing selected state and regional efforts to capitalize on federal and state investments in areas of critical national needs This review includes both efforts to strengthen existing industries as well as specific technology focus areas such as nanotechnology stem cells and advanced energy in order to better understand program goals challenges and accomplishments As part of this study the committee is convening a series of public workshops and symposia involving responsible local state and federal officials and other stakeholders Drawing from discussions at these symposia fact finding meetings and commissioned analyses of existing state and regional programs and technology focus areas the committee will subsequently produce a final report with findings and recommendations focused on lessons issues and opportunities for complementary U S policies created by these state and regional initiatives

Innovation for the 21st Century Michael A. Carrier, 2009-03-26 In recent years innovation has been threatened by the United States legal system Much of the blame can be attributed to the antitrust and intellectual property laws Innovation for the 21st Century seeks to reverse this trend offering ten revolutionary proposals from pharmaceuticals to peer to peer software to help foster innovation Michael A Carrier illustrates the benefits of improving the patent system and incorporating innovation into copyright and antitrust law He also dips into a rich business literature to import ideas on disruptive innovation and user innovation And he replaces the 20th century view that the IP and antitrust laws are in conflict with a new 21st century framework that treats them as collaborators Innovation for the 21st Century Harnessing the Power of Intellectual Property and Antitrust Law provides a comprehensive framework for the patent copyright and antitrust laws to promote innovation
