

HOW TO WRITE A FORMAL LETTER

FORMAL LETTER FORMAT

Heading

A letter's heading is the uppermost section of a letter, and the first thing that a reader sees. This section is composed of your own personal information: your address or the address of the institution you represent, and the date. In some cases, you may also include your full name or the name of the company that you represent and relevant contact information, such as a telephone number or email address. Whether or not to include this information comes down to personal preference. However, if you do not include this information in the header, it is key to include it as a part of the letter's signature. The general rule of thumb is that this section is meant to tell the reader where the letter is coming from, and where they can send further correspondence. The heading can go at either the top-left or top-right corner of the page.

Information of the Recipient

4 lines below the heading lies the information of the recipient. This next section is similar to the heading, except that it contains the recipient's information instead of the sender's. Be sure to include the recipient's full name or the name of the organization and the street address that the letter is being sent to. Skip 1 line before including the letter's salutation.

Salutation

This part of the letter is where you may usually see phrases such as "Hello", "Good Evening", and "Dear". Depending on who the intended recipient is, the salutation that is most appropriate will change. Whenever possible, use the recipient's name and proper pronouns or titles. In the case that you do not know who you may be writing to, as may be the case with contacting large corporations, a simple "To Whom It May Concern" will suffice. Always follow the salutation with a comma (,) and skip 1 line before starting the main body of the letter.

Body

The main body is the meat and bones of the letter; it's where you include all of the pertinent information that needs to be communicated to the sender. Start the main body of the letter with a short paragraph outlining the key points that you will use the remainder of the letter's body to elaborate on. Keep sentences brief, easy to understand, and on-topic. Skip 1 more line before including the letter's closing.

Closing and Signature

A letter's closing is where you will see phrases such as "Sincerely", "Regards", and "Yours Truly". These closings can, in general, be used interchangeably. However, "Sincerely" tends to be the most commonly used option. Follow the closing with a comma (,) and skip 3-4 lines before writing your full name in print. The purpose of this large space is to leave room for a signature, preferably written in ink. In most cases, the formal letter will be type on a computer, printed, and then hand-signed before being delivered. If it is the case that the formal letter is being transferred electronically, use this space to include an electronic version of your signature. If you did not include your telephone number and email address in the letter's heading, include it after your signature and full name.

ADDITIONAL TIPS AND TRICKS

1. In the first paragraph, include the 5 W's and 1 H that prompted the letter in the first place: who, what, when, where, why, and how
2. Keep all information firmly on topic and related to the matter at hand
3. Make sure to include any relevant reference information that the reader may immediately need, such as account numbers or other referential information
4. Keep paragraphs short, preferably no longer than 3-5 sentences
5. Be respectful: use please and thank you. Make sure to proofread the letter before printing or sending so as to check for grammatical and spelling errors

THINGS TO AVOID

1. Going off on tangents, or including information that is unrelated to the topic at hand
2. Personal information or anecdotes, unless it is pertinent to the situation at hand
3. Using vulgar, disrespectful, or otherwise inappropriate language
4. Using slang or colloquial terms
5. Using contractions, such as "can't" or "won't"; instead, use the uncontracted "can not" and "will not"
6. Using the abbreviated forms of words, such as "TV" for "television" and "photo" for "photograph"

Knowledge Dissemination in the Long Nineteenth Century Marina Dossena,Stefano Rosso,2016-06-22 Distinctive in its markedly interdisciplinary approach this book presents studies dealing with literary cultural and linguistic history both in Europe and in the US bringing together scholars from different fields while highlighting features that are shared among their contributions It offers new insights into phenomena which have generally been under investigated such as the role played by popular culture music and the arts in the circulation of information in the construction of popular taste and even in scientific popularisation on both sides of the Atlantic As for the choice to focus on the nineteenth century this is dictated by the fact that in those decades for the first time in history scientific technological and social developments accelerated simultaneously It is therefore important to see how such new knowledge was circulated among an ever growing audience by means of different genres and text types bearing in mind that divisions between the literary and non literary were hardly as sharp as they are today The book presents contributions by Robert Louis Abrahamson Nicholas Brownlees Bruno Cartosio Sonia Di Loreto Aileen Dillane Marina Dossena Kirsten Lawson Angela Locatelli William H Mulligan Jr Stefano Rosso and Polina Shvanyukova Subject Guide to Books in Print ,1997 The Oxford

Handbook of the Age of Shakespeare Robert Malcolm Smuts,2016 Rather than seeking to survey the historical background to Shakespeare the essays in the collection display a variety of perspectives insights and methodologies found in current historical work that may also inform literary studies In addition to Elizabethan and early seventeenth century politics they examine such topics as the characteristics of the early modern political imagination the growth of public controversy over religion and other issues duringthe period and ways in which this can be related to drama attitudes about honour and shame and their relation to concepts of gender histories of crime and murder and ways in which changing attitudeswere expressed through architecture printed images and the layout of Tudor gardens Instructions to Applicants... ,1895
