Fifty Uncommon Birds Of The Upper Midwest Bur Oak Book:

Fifty Uncommon Birds of the Upper Midwest, 2013-08-23 No bird is common if we use common to mean ordinary But birds that are seen more commonly than others can seem less noteworthy than species that are rarely glimpsed In this gathering of essays and illustrations celebrating fifty of the most common birds of the Upper Midwest illustrator Dana Gardner and writer Nancy Overcott encourage us to take a closer look at these familiar birds with renewed appreciation for their not so ordinary beauty and lifeways Beginning with the garishly colored male and the more gently colored female wood duck whose tree cavity nest serves as a launching pad for ducklings in the summer months and ending on a bright yellow note with the American goldfinch whose cheerful presence enlivens the midwestern landscape all year long Overcott combines field observations drawn from her twenty plus years of living and birding in Minnesota s Big Woods with anecdotes and data from other ornithologists to portray each species life cycle its vocalizations and appearance and its habitat food and foraging methods as well as migration patterns and distribution Infused with a dedication to conserving natural resources her succinct yet personable prose forms an ideal complement to Gardner s watercolors as this renowned illustrator of avian life worldwide revisits the birds of his childhood Together art and text ensure that the wild turkey great blue heron sharp shinned hawk barred owl pileated woodpecker house wren ovenbird field sparrow rose breasted grosbeak red winged blackbird and forty other species of the Upper Midwest are never seen as common again With Wings Extended Greg Hoch, 2020-05-04 A century ago many people had given up on the wood duck dooming it to extinction along with the passenger pigeon and Carolina parakeet Today it s one of the most familiar and most harvested ducks in the eastern half of the country and one of America s great conservation success stories In With Wings Extended Minnesota conservationist Greg Hoch introduces readers to a duck they probably recognize but may not know well This book shows how almost anyone can get involved in conservation and do something for wildlife beyond writing checks to conservation organizations Hoch illustrates the complexities of wildlife and habitat management that landowners as well as state and federal wildlife agencies deal with on a daily basis and takes readers through the life stages of what is largely considered the most beautiful duck in the world In this fascinating and practical read Hoch blends the historical literature about the species with modern science and also shows how our views of conservation have changed over the last century Sky Dance of the Woodcock Greg Hoch, 2019-03-15 Woodcock are one of the oddest birds in North America They are a shorebird that got lost and ended up in the scrubby parts of the forest and look like they were put together with the leftover parts of other birds Oddities aside each spring they rise to great beauty with their sky dance at dusk Greg Hoch combines natural history land management scientific knowledge and personal observation to examine this little game bird Woodcock have a complex life history and the management of their habitat is also complex The health of this bird can be considered a key indicator of what good forests look like The Iowa Lakeside Laboratory Michael J. Lannoo, 2012-11-15 Imagine a place dedicated to the long term study of nature in nature a permanent biological field station a teaching and research laboratory that promotes complete immersion in the natural world Lakeside Laboratory founded on the shore of Lake Okoboji in northwestern Iowa in 1909 is just such a place In this remarkable and insightful book Michael Lannoo sets the story of Lakeside Lab within the larger story of the primacy of fieldwork the emergence of conservation biology and the ability of field stations to address such growing problems as pollution disease habitat loss invasive species and climate change At the intersection of major ecosystems with distinct plant and animal communities and surrounded by what ironically may be the most intensely cultivated landscape on earth Lakeside has a long history of rubber boot biologists saturated in the spirit that grounds the new discipline of conservation biology and Lannoo brings this history to life with his descriptions of the people and ideas that shaped it Lakeside s continuing commitment to bringing the laboratory to the field rather than bringing the field to the lab has supported a focus on mammalogy ornithology herpetology ichthyology invertebrate biology parasitology limnology and algology subjects rarely taught now on university campuses but crucial to the planet s health Today s huge array of environmental problems can best be solved by people who have learned about nature within nature at a place with a long history of research and observation people who thoroughly understand and appreciate nature s cogs and wheels Lakeside Lab and biological research stations like it have never been more relevant to science and to society at large than they are today Michael Lannoo convinces us that while Lakeside s past is commendable its future grounded in ecological principles will help shape a more sustainable society

Deep Nature John Pearson, 2009-10 Photographers Linda and Robert Scarth have an incredible eye for that magic moment when small becomes beautiful Matched with patience and skill their eye for magic produces dazzling images of Iowa nature up close Revealing the miniature beauties hidden among the patches of prairie woodland and wetland that remain in Iowa s sadly overdeveloped landscape the seventy five color photographs in Deep Nature give us a breathtaking cross section of the state s smallest inhabitants The Scarths close up images of showy orchis and northern monkshood great spangled fritillary and painted lady red breasted nuthatch and eastern wood pewee ornate box turtle and gray treefrog big bluestem and cotton grass and many other natural wonders look more like paintings than photographs Beginning with an iridescent fly hovering over a neon purple fringed gentian and ending with their iconic image of coneflowers refracted in dewdrops they have created a sparkling jewelbox of images that will make us look at the small world around us with renewed appreciation Attending to the small things in the fabric of nature is the Scarths source of artistic inspiration Taking Walt Whitman s every leaf is a miracle as their beginning they celebrate not only each leaf but each feather insect dewdrop flower lichen and intricate organism in the evolving web of life

A Sugar Creek Chronicle Cornelia F. Mutel, 2016-03-15 In 2010 while editing a report on the effects of climate change in Iowa ecologist Cornelia Mutel came to grips with the magnitude and urgency of the problem She already knew the basics greenhouse gas emissions and global average temperatures are rising on a trajectory that could within decades propel us beyond far reaching irreversible atmospheric changes the results could devastate the environment that enables humans to thrive The more details she learned the more she felt compelled to address this emerging crisis The result is this book an artful weaving together of the science behind rising temperatures tumultuous weather events and a lifetime devoted to the natural world Climate change isn't just about melting Arctic ice and starving polar bears It's weakening the web of life in our own backyards Moving between two timelines Mutel pairs chapters about a single year in her Iowa woodland with chapters about her life as a fledgling and then professional student of nature Stories of her childhood ramblings in Wisconsin and the solace she found in the Colorado mountains during early adulthood are merged with accounts of global environmental dilemmas that have redefined nature during her lifespan Interwoven chapters bring us into her woodland home to watch nature's cycles of life during a single year 2012 when weather records were broken time and time again Throughout in a straightforward manner for a concerned general audience Mutel integrates information about the science of climate change and its dramatic alteration of the planet in ways that clarify its broad reach profound impact and seemingly relentless pace It is not too late she informs us we can still prevent the most catastrophic changes We can preserve a world full of biodiversity one that supports human lives as well as those of our myriad companions on this planet In the end Mutel offers advice about steps we can all take to curb our own carbon emissions and strategies we can suggest to our policy makers

Ecological Restoration in the Midwest Christian Lenhart, Peter C. Smiley, Jr., 2018-06-01 Most people do not realize it but the Midwest has been at the forefront of ecological restoration longer than perhaps any other region in the United States dating back to the 1930s Because of its industrial history agricultural productivity and natural features such as the Great Lakes the Midwest has always faced a unique set of ecological challenges Focusing on six cutting edge case studies that highlight thirty restoration efforts and research sites throughout the region Iowa Indiana Illinois Wisconsin Michigan Minnesota and Ohio editors Christian Lenhart and Peter Rocky Smiley Jr bring together a group of scholars and practitioners to show how midwestern restoration efforts have developed as well as where they are headed Whether cleaning up contamination from auto plants in Ohio or restoring native prairie grasses along the Iowa highway the contributors uncover a vast network of interested citizens and volunteer groups committed to preserving the region's environment This study intended for researchers students and practitioners also provides an updated synthesis of restoration theory and practice and pinpoints emerging issues of importance in the Midwest such as climate change and the increase in invasive species it will bring to the region Though focusing exclusively on the Midwest the contributors demonstrate how these case studies apply to restoration efforts across the globe Contributors Luther Aadland David P Benson Andrew F Casper Hua Chen Joe DiMisa Steve Glass Heath M Hagy John A Harrington Neil Haugerud Constance Hausman Michael J Lemke Christian Lenhart Jen Lyndall Dan Shaw John A Shuey Peter C Smiley Jr Daryl Smith
