No Globalization Without

Representation Paul Adler, 2021-05-28 How consumer and environmental activists became significant players in U S and world politics Amid the mass protests of the 1960s another less heralded political force arose public interest progressivism Led by activists like Ralph Nader organizations of lawyers and experts worked inside the system They confronted corporate power and helped win major consumer and environmental protections By the late 1970s some public interest groups moved beyond U S borders to challenge multinational corporations This happened at the same time that neoliberalism a politics of empowerment for big business gained strength in the U S and around the world No Globalization Without Representation is the story of how consumer and environmental activists became significant players in U S and world politics at the twentieth century's close NGOs like Friends of the Earth and Public Citizen helped forge a progressive coalition that lobbied against the emerging neoliberal world order and in favor of what they called fair globalization From boycotting Nestl in the 1970s to lobbying against NAFTA to the Battle of Seattle protests against the World Trade Organization in the 1990s these groups have made a profound mark This book tells their stories while showing how public interest groups helped ensure that a version of liberalism willing to challenge corporate power did not vanish from U S politics Public interest groups believed that preserving liberalism at home meant confronting attempts to perpetuate conservative policies through global economic rules No Globalization Without Representation also illuminates how professionalized organizations became such a critical part of liberal activism and how that has affected the course of U S politics to the present day
