A World of Robots

For many years, people have told stories about robots that can do the jobs of humans. These machines can help us live better and can see such robots in movies.

The first movie robot was shown in a film made in 1924. In the movie, the robot was made to free humans from mundane tasks. Sometimes, these friends, Is a world of robots just a dream?

They are now a part of real life. However, robots have only been around for about 100 years. Before robots could be made, scientists had to invent a type of "brain" for them. That happened when people created computer chips. Many robots also have sensors inside them. The sensors help robots "see" light and "feel" walls or things in their paths. Sensors also help by recognizing commands given to robots by people. Commands tell a robot to move in one way or another. By moving in these ways, a robot can do a specific job. What kinds of jobs do people give to robots?

Like the robots in the 1924 movie, robots today can do repetitive tasks without getting tired. They paint things, make car parts, place food in boxes, and even build super chips too!

Robots are programmed to do jobs that are dangerous for people. Robots can take jobs that are too hot or too cold for humans. Robots can crawl into pipes to see if something is blocking the flow of water. Robots can even go into a volcano to collect rock samples.

Robots can go to deep underwater places and very cold places. What if a robot that works on the planet Mars. What would it do in the future?

Robots can learn how to handle different objects around them. They know how to handle a glass, but an egg can break easily. They will learn to handle things that humans cannot. Robots can learn to recognize human emotions. They can smile, cry, and write. With robots like these, our lives will be like the science fiction movies of the past.

Robots can see light and sound.
