Ballynahatty Barrie Hartwell, Sarah Gormley, Catriona Brogan, Caroline Malone, 2023-08-15 Just six miles from the center of Belfast County Down on the plateau of Ballynahatty above the River Lagan is one of Ireland's great Neolithic henge monuments the 200 m wide Giant's Ring For over a thousand years this area was the focus of intense funerary ritual seemingly designed to send the dead to their ancestors and secure the land for the living Scattered through the fields to the north and west of the Ring are flat cemeteries standing stones tombs cists and ring barrows ancient monuments that were leveled by the plough when the land was enclosed in the 18th and 19th centuries A great 90 m long timber enclosure with an elaborate entrance and inner temple was first observed through crop marks in aerial photos Excavation of the site between 1990 1999 revealed a complex structure composed of over 400 postholes many over 2 m deep This was a building in the grand style elegantly designed to control space views and access to an inner sanctum containing a platform for exposure of the dead By 2550 BC the timber temple had been swept away in a massive conflagration and the remains dismantled Ballynahatty was one of the last great public ceremonial enterprises known to have been constructed by the Neolithic farmers in Northern Ireland an enterprise proclaiming their enigmatic religion ancestral rights and territorial aspirations This report reconstructs the remarkable building complex and explains the sophistication and organization of its construction and use The report sets the site and excavation in the wider development of the Ballynahatty landscape and its study to the present day heritage issues relating to community participation and interpretation On St Kitts the legacy of forced confinement of lepers ties into debates of current public health policy Plantation site studies from Antigua and Martinique are especially relevant because they detail comparisons of French and British patterns of African enslavement and provide insights into how each addressed the social and economic changes that occurred with emancipation Contributors Todd M Ahlman Douglas V Armstrong Samantha Rebovich Bardoe Paul Farnsworth Jeffrey R Ferguson R Grant Gilmore III Diana Gonz lez Tennant Edward Gonz lez Tennant Barbara J Heath Carter L Hudgins Kenneth G Kelly Eric Klingelhofer Roger H Leech Stephan Lenik Gerald F Schroedl Diane Wallman Christian Williamson
