Architecture After Deleuze and Guattari Chris L. Smith, 2023-05-04 This study illuminates the complex interplay between Deleuze and Guattari's philosophy and architecture Presenting their wide ranging impact on late 20th and 21st century architecture each chapter focuses on a core Deleuzian Guattarian philosophical concept and one key work of architecture which evokes contorts or extends it Challenging the idea that a concept or theory defines and then produces the physical work and not vice versa Chris L Smith positions the relationship between Deleuze and Guattari's philosophy and the field of architecture as one that is mutually substantiating and constitutive In this framework modes of architectural production and experimentation become inextricable from the conceptual territories defined by these two key thinkers producing a rigorous discussion of theoretical practical and experimental engagements with their ideas

Participation in Art and Architecture Martino Stierli, Mechthild Widrich, 2015-10-16 Does participatory art and architecture shape social reality or is it shaped by it Shifting the ground of this debate which tends to assume one or other direction of influence this innovative book explores the inherently dialectic relationship between society and the built environment At the same time it strives for a historically conscious discussion of a very contemporary issue Chapters rethink the top down model of participation and audience activation of high modernism from Alexander Dorner's immersive museum to Mies van der Rohe's rooms for play investigate participation in spaces under political pressure from exhibitions in bombed out buildings in besieged Sarajevo 1992-5 to the art and organizing of revolution in Egypt 2012-13 draw historical parallels between modes of participation and the exercise of power that are seldom compared with one another from sites of occupation in 1968 Mexico and 2011 Spain finally creating links between cartography and feminism and between tourism and internet surveillance With these juxtapositions of the aesthetic and the everyday and the built and the mediated new questions arise is space formed once and for all or is it the changeable product of changeable patterns of use Does the aesthetic always correspond to the political or might an aesthetically authoritarian space be conducive to social justice In exploring these questions this book looks at how participants themselves exert power rather than being victimised or liberated from it in Architecture Stefanos Roimpas, 2023-04-28 Perspective as Logic offers an architectural examination of the filmic screen as an ontologically unique element in the discipline's repertoire. The book determines the screen's conditions of possibility by critically asking not what a screen means but how it can mean anything of architectural significance. Based on this shift of enquiry towards the question of meaning, it introduces Jacques Lacan and Alain Badiou in an unprecedented way to architecture since they exemplify an analogous shift of perspective towards the question of the subject and the question of being accordingly. The book begins by positing perspective projection as being a logical mapping of space instead of a matter of sight. Lacan. Secondly, it discusses the very nature of architecture's view and relation to the topological notion of outside between immediacy and mediation. Diller and Scofidio The Slow House. It examines the limitation of pictorial illusion and the productive negativity in the suspension of architecture's signified equivalent to language's production of undecidable propositions. Eisenman. Badiou. In addition, the book outlines the difference between the point of view and the vanishing point by introducing two different conceptions of infinity. Michael Webb Temple Island. Finally, a series of design experiments playfully shows how the screen exemplifies architecture's self-reflexive capacity where material and immaterial components are part of the spatial conception to which they refer and produce. This book will be particularly appealing to scholars of architectural theory, especially those interested in the domains of philosophy, psychoanalysis, and the linguistic turn of architecture. Art rendez-vous Architecture ¥ Episode 6 Alexander Pilis, Design and Visual Culture from the Bauhaus to Contemporary Art Edit Tóth, 2018-05-16 This book complements the more textually based Bauhaus scholarship with a practice-oriented and creative interpretive method which makes it possible to consider Bauhaus-related works in an unconventional light. Edit Tóth argues that focusing on the functionalist approach of the Bauhaus has hindered scholars from properly understanding its design work. With a global scope and under-studied topics, the book advances current scholarly discussions concerning the relationship between image technologies and the body by calling attention to the materiality of image production and strategies of re-channeling image culture into material processes and physical body space: the space of dimensionality and everyday activity. Performing Arts in Transition Susanne Foellmer, Maria Katharina Schmidt, Cornelia Schmitz, 2018-12-07 Artists, especially from dance and performance art, as well as opera, are involved to an increasing degree in the transfer between different media, not only in their productions but also the events, materials, and documents that surround them. At the same time, the focus on that which remains has become central to any discussion of performance. Performing Arts in Transition explores what takes place in the moments of transition from one medium to another and from the live performance to that which survives it. Case studies from a broad range of interdisciplinary scholars address phenomena such as The dynamics of transfer between the performing and visual arts. The philosophy and terminologies of transitioning between media. Narratives and counternarratives in historical re-creations. The status of chronology and the document in art scholarship. This is an essential contribution to a vibrant multidisciplinary and international field of research.
