Perl,2012-08-10 Since the beginning of the acquired immunodeficiency syndrome AIDS epidemic in the early 1980s many individuals living with the disease have had difficulty finding affordable stable housing As individuals become ill they may find themselves unable to work while at the same time facing health care expenses that leave few resources to pay for housing In addition many of those persons living with AIDS struggled to afford housing even before being diagnosed with the disease The financial vulnerability associated with AIDS as well as the human immunodeficiency virus HIV that causes AIDS results in a greater likelihood of homelessness among persons living with the disease At the same time those who are homeless may be more likely to engage in activities through which they could acquire or transmit HIV Further recent research has indicated that those individuals living with HIV who live in stable housing have better health outcomes than those who are homeless or unstably housed and that they spend fewer days in hospitals and emergency rooms Congress recognized the housing needs of persons living with HIV AIDS when it approved the Housing Opportunities for Persons with AIDS HOPWA program in 1990 as part of the Cranston Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act P L 101 625 The HOPWA program administered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development HUD funds short term and permanent housing together with supportive services for individuals living with HIV AIDS and their families In addition a small portion of funds appropriated through the Ryan White HIV AIDS program administered by the Department of Health and Human Services HHS may also be used to fund short term housing for those living with HIV AIDS In FY2012 Congress appropriated 332 million for HOPWA as part of the Consolidated Appropriations Act P L 112 55 This was a reduction of 3 million from the 335 million appropriated in FY2011 and FY2010 the most funding ever appropriated for the program Prior to FY2010 the most that had been appropriated for HOPWA was 310 million in FY2009 HOPWA funds are distributed to states and localities through both formula and competitive grants HUD awards 90% of appropriated funds by formula to states and eligible metropolitan statistical areas MSAs based on population reported cases of AIDS and incidence of AIDS The remaining 10% is distributed through a grant competition Funds are used primarily for housing activities although grant recipients must provide supportive services to those persons residing in HOPWA funded housing

Persons With HIV U.s. Government Accountability Office,2017-07-28

Over 1 2 million people in the United States are estimated to have HIV Research has shown that persons with HIV who lack stable housing are less likely to adhere to HIV care HUD s HOPWA program and HRSA s Ryan White program provide grants to localities that can be used to fund housing and supportive services specifically for persons with HIV GAO was mandated to review housing assistance for persons with HIV This report addresses 1 the need for housing assistance for persons with HIV and the extent to which assistance reaches communities 2 results achieved through HOPWA and Ryan White and 3 federal oversight of these programs GAO analyzed program data as of 2012 reviewed policies and visited a non generalizable sample of four geographically diverse cities that received both HOPWA and Ryan White

funding Housing Assistance for People with HIV/AIDS ,1993 Persons with HIV Funding Formula for Housing Assistance Could Be Better Targeted, and Performance Data Could Be Improved U S Government Accountability Office,2017-03-04 The extent to which persons with human immunodeficiency virus HIV need housing assistance is not known in part because the Department of Housing and Urban Development s HUD estimate of the housing needs of persons with HIV including those with Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome AIDS is not reliable HUD does not require Housing Opportunities for Persons with AIDS HOPWA grantees to use a consistent methodology to calculate unmet need The agency has taken steps towards developing a standard methodology but it has not established time frames for finalizing these efforts GAO s work on assessing data reliability indicates that data should be consistent Because HUD does not require grantees to use selected data sources in a consistent manner the reported information on unmet housing needs of persons with HIV are not comparable across jurisdictions and are not useful and reliable In addition the statutory HOPWA funding formula is based on cumulative AIDS cases since 1981 including persons who have died rather than on current numbers of persons living with HIV including those with AIDS This approach has led to areas with similar numbers of living HIV cases receiving different amounts of funding Because HOPWA funds are awarded based on cumulative AIDS cases these funds are not being targeted as effectively or equitably as they could be Agency data for HOPWA and the Health Resources and Services Administration s HRSA Ryan White program indicate most recipients of assistance obtained stable permanent housing but Ryan White housing data may have limitations HRSA within the Department of Health and Human Services does not require Ryan White grantees to maintain current data on clients housing status However it uses the data that grantees report to calculate the proportion of clients that have stable housing HRSA is charged with tracking Ryan White clients housing status as a part of the White House s National HIV AIDS Strategy Federal internal control standards state that events should be promptly recorded to maintain their relevance and value to management in controlling operations and making decisions Because HRSA does not require grantees to maintain current data on clients housing status HRSA s data may be of limited usefulness in tracking the National HIV AIDS Strategy goal of improving clients housing status More Than a Shelter Jenné Shayleen Massie,2016 Background The Housing Opportunities for Persons with AIDS HOPWA Program is a national structural approach designed to address housing instability including providing linkages to health care and mental health services for people living with HIV AIDS PLWHA and their families While there is literature supporting the association between HOPWA and positive health outcomes there is a dearth of research examining its broader impact on women living in HOPWA funded housing This study focused on the experiences of a cluster of PLWHA living in Washington DC in need of housing including the use of photovoice methods to explore analyze and document the impact of HIV AIDS sponsored housing services on their lives Methods The study s participants N 9 and researcher relied on both individual and group photo discussions to create critical discourse observations reflections discussion feedback and interpretations of the data collected to gain a culturally grounded and contextual understanding of the impact that HOPWA funded housing plays on the lives of WLHA in Washington DC The study further used a structured sequential step methodology that included a three phase process for conducting a photovoice project to engage a cluster of women living in HOPWA funded housing Phase 1 of the study included gathering experiential data by conducting personal interviews with the women about their experiences including their reflections about photos they took using photovoice methods to accurately identify and describe in detail the essential themes emerging from their personal accounts Phase 2 of the study involved presentation and group discussion of the experiential themes identified and detailed by the participants Finally Phase 3 involved the interpretative phenomenological using the Urban Health Framework and intersectional analyses of this study s research process including qualitative data collected as part of the above noted Phases 1 and 2 Results A majority of the women were unfamiliar with the HOPWA program having acquired stable housing through other HUD programs including for example the Housing Choice Voucher Program Participants perceived access to housing services in DC to be limited in scope and the process of securing and maintaining stable housing was described as being extremely difficult The women experienced long waiting times sometimes extending decades while seeking to secure housing and perceived their gender race and class as being major barriers to qualifying for some housing opportunities Some participants noted that their access to housing had a positive impact on their health promoting behaviors and facilitated social support with family and friends by meeting their basic need for shelter and reducing stress However the women s experiences with subsidized housing often exposed them to mold pests dilapidated structures violence and economic and racial segregation caused in part by rapid gentrification The physical and complex social environments faced by these women had a significantly negative effect on both their physical and mental health Participants asserted that women s HIV AIDS and housing needs were not being met in DC and that policymakers were not addressing their priorities as WLHA Participation in the study had a direct benefit for participants that gained self empowerment and were able to advocate for improvements in accessing adequate housing through participatory action Conclusions Women accessing HIV AIDS housing sponsored services in DC were often subjected to sub standard living conditions with little power or resources to improve their living conditions Participation in this study s photovoice project led to engagement in critical dialogue self empowerment and action that resulted in the improvement of some participants living conditions as well as advancing advocacy in support of women s HIV AIDS housing services needs in DC
