Creating Better Cities With Children And Youth A Manual For Participation:

Creating Better Cities with Children and Youth David Driskell, 2017-07-28 Creating Better Cities with Children and Youth is a practical manual on how to conceptualize structure and facilitate the participation of young people in the community development process. It is an important tool for urban planners, municipal officials, community development staff, non-governmental organizations, educators, youth serving agencies, youth advocates, and others who are involved in the community development process. It offers inspiration to all who believe in the value of community education and empowerment as a fundamental building block of a vibrant and resilient civil society and those who feel concern for young people and the quality of their lives. The manual's core ideas and methods have been field tested in a wide range of urban settings in both developing and industrialized cities through the work of the UNESCO Growing Up in Cities project. Case studies from project sites help to demonstrate the methods in action and show how they can be customized to meet local needs. They provide lessons and insights to help ensure a successful project and highlight the universal applicability and value of young people's participation.

Creating Better Cities with Children and Youth David Driskill, 2002 Creating Better Cities with Children and Youth David Driskell, 2002 Handbook of Children and Youth Studies Johanna Wyn, Helen Cahill, Hernán Cuervo, 2024-08-20 This second edition of the handbook gives a new scientific perspective to youth and childhood studies as multi-scientific and interdisciplinary subjects which as such have not yet found their own framing in a particular discipline. It provides theoretical and methodological key debates and issues that develop and add an understanding of childhood and youth research discipline from a broader perspective. The Handbook on Children and Youth Studies draws on current thinking but also challenges theoretical and conceptual orthodoxies in the field drawing on interdisciplinary thinking and critical perspectives. It focuses on childhood and youth to address the emerging consensus that the boundaries between childhood, youth, and adulthood are blurred. The view that defining youth and childhood largely in terms of problem topics is out dated Instead the handbook focuses on 16 themes that are open to international perspectives and to different conceptual approaches Each theme is edited by a pair of field editors thereby capturing a plurality of views The 16 themes as a starting point are globally timely and they need scientific debates on the boundaries between childhoods youth and adulthood This handbook will meet the needs of childhood and youth researchers and the academics in the field It recognizes the changing social context of the lives of children and young people while developing theoretical frameworks and discussing about the core substantive issues of Children and Youth Studies

The Art of City Making Charles Landry, 2012-05-16 City making is an art not a formula The skills required to re enchant the city are far wider than the conventional ones like architecture engineering and land use planning There is no simplistic ten point plan but strong principles can help send good city making on its way The vision for 21st century cities must be to be the most imaginative cities for the world rather than in the world This one change of word from in to for gives city making an ethical foundation and value base It helps cities become places of solidarity where the relations between the individual the group outsiders to the city and the planet are in better alignment Following the widespread success of The Creative City this new book aided by international case studies explains how to reassess urban potential so that cities can strengthen their identity and adapt to the changing global terms of trade and mass migration It explores the deeper fault lines paradoxes and strategic dilemmas that make creating the good city so difficult

Ageism in Youth Studies Gayle Kimball, 2017-05-11 Ageism is prevalent in a great deal of current scholarship in the social sciences as scholars fault youth for being delinquent or politically apathetic Researchers ignore young people's actual voices despite their leadership in recent global uprisings some of which unseated entrenched dictators Neoliberalism must be exposed in its focus on youth sub cultures and styles rather than economic barriers caused by growing inequality and rising youth unemployment rates Ageism in Youth Studies also discusses the debate about Generation We or Me and if Millennials are narcissistic Resources about global youth studies are included along with the results of the author s surveys and interviews with over 4 000 young people from 88 countries Jeunes Et L'exclusion Dans Les Quartiers Défavorisés Paul Soto Hardiman, 2004-01-01 This publication examines the issue of social cohesion as it relates to young people living in urban environments There are two major reports on violence and social exclusion the first looks at these issues in a European context taking account of the extent and causes of urban deprivation and how this links to youth violence The second report concentrates on the UK and on the social transition from a welfare state to a stakeholder welfare society Both reports look at issues of crime prevention youth employment projects for training initiatives and urban design processes Both reports find examples of good practice and recommends methods to regenerate social cohesion
