Creating A Service Culture In Higher Education Administration:

Creating a Service Culture in Higher Education Administration Mario Martinez, Brandy Smith, Katie Humphreys, 2023
Service delivery is part and parcel of every higher education professional's job both to improve service to students and to each other as internal customers. Until now, higher education professionals have had to rely for their professional development on books and training designed for the business sector. This book is the first to specifically address the needs of higher education professionals across a wide range of administrative functions within college and university environments. It is designed for administrative staff and management ranging from professionals working in centralized functions such as student affairs and enrollment management to those working as advisors or in career centers whether in community colleges, four-year institutions or for-profit institutions. Each chapter applies customer service principles to scenarios that are relevant to higher education. The book begins by engaging the reader to define service and identify the external and internal customers who are recipients of that service. It then maps customer interactions into a series of steps and offers departments and individuals a tool to maximize the customer experience. Additional chapters address customer expectations, creating a service culture on your campus, and managerial influences on staff service delivery. Creating a Service Culture in Higher Education Administration is a complementary book to the online customer service and management training resources at softskillspros.com. Creating a Service Culture in Higher Education Administration Mario Martinez, 2013

McClinton,2023-07-03 For Black women faculty members and student affairs personnel this book delineates the needed skills and the range of possible pathways for attaining administrative positions in higher education This book uses a survey that identifies the skills and knowledge that Black women administrators report as most critical at different stages of their careers as a foundation for the personal narratives of individual administrators career progressions The contributors address barriers strategies and considerations such as the comparative merits of starting a career at an HBCU or PWI or at a public or private institution Their stories shine light on how to develop the most effective leadership style how to communicate and the importance of leading with credibility They dwell on the necessity of listening to one s inner voice in guiding decisions of maintaining integrity and having a clear sense of values and of developing a realistic sense of personal limitations and abilities They illustrate how to combine institutional and personal priorities with service to the community share how the authors carved out their distinct and purposeful career paths and demonstrate the importance of the mentoring they received and provided along the way A theoretical chapter provides a frame for reflecting on the paths traveled These accounts and reflections provide enlightenment inspiration and nuggets of wisdom for all Black women who want to advance their careers in higher education Creating Our Identities in Service-Learning and Community Engagement Shelley H. Billig,Barbara A. Holland,Barbara E. Moely,2009-11-01 In this volume in the IAP series on Advances in Service Learning Research top researchers present recent work studying aspects of program development student and community outcomes and future research directions in the field of service learning and community engagement These chapters selected through a rigorous peer review process are based on presentations made at the annual meeting of the International Research Conference on Service Learning and Community Engagement held in October 2008 in New Orleans This volume features efforts in research and practice to support and expand service learning and engaged scholarship in both K 12 and higher education Models of effective partnerships between institutions of higher education and their community partners are developed in chapters looking at relationships between campus and community in terms of partnership identity or in terms of shared understanding by campus and community partners Outcomes for K 12 and college students engaged in service learning are the focus of several studies The impact of high quality service learning on K 12 student achievement and school related behaviors is described Racial identity theory provides a useful frame for understanding developing student conceptualizations while another chapter emphasizes aspects of self exploration and relationship building as bases for gains in student attitudes and skills In a final section chapters deal with service learning and community engagement as a coherent research field with a distinct identity reviewing current work and proposing directions for future research Handbook of Research on Leading Higher Education Transformation With Social Justice, Equity, and Inclusion Reneau, Clint-Michael,Villarreal, Mary

Ann,2021-06-25 With the resurgence of race related incidents nationally and on college campuses in recent years acts of overt racism hate crimes controversies over free speech and violence continue to impact institutions of higher education

Such incidents may impact the overall campus racial climate and result in a racial crisis which is marked by extreme tension and instability. How institutional leaders and the campus community respond to a racial crisis along with the racial literacy demands of the campus leaders can have as much of an effect as the crisis itself. As such 21st century university leaders must become more emotionally intelligent and responsive to emergent campus issues. Improving campus climate is hard and to achieve notable gains higher education professionals will have to reimagine how they approach this work with equity influenced practices and transformative leadership. The Handbook of Research on Leading Higher Education Transformation With Social Justice Equity and Inclusion offers a window into understanding the deep intersections of identity and professional practice as well as guideposts for individual leadership development during contested times. The chapters emphasize how identity manifests in the way we lead, supervise, make decisions, persuade, form relationships and negotiate responsibilities each day. In this book the authors provide insight, examples and personal narratives that explore how their identities, lens and commitments shaped their leadership and supported their courageous acts for equity and social justice. It provides practical tools that leaders can draw on to inform sustainable equity and inclusion focused practices and policies on college campuses and will discuss important campus climate issues and ways to address them. This book is a valuable reference work for higher education administrators, policymakers, leaders, managers, university presidents, social justice advocates, practitioners, faculty, researchers, academicians and students who are interested in higher education leadership practices that support and promote social justice, equity and inclusion.

Leadership for Intellectual Disability Service
Elizabeth A. Curtis, Fintan Sheerin, 2019-04-11. Intellectual disability (ID), once called mental retardation, is characterized by below average intelligence or mental ability and a lack of skills necessary for day to day living. People with intellectual disabilities can and do learn new skills but they learn them slowly. The proposed book argues for alternative and innovative approaches to leadership in intellectual disability service provision. It does this in the light of service scandals including Winterborne View UK, Oswald D Heck USA, Aras, Attracta Ireland and many others. The book will explore the failed leadership issues underpinning such debacles and then examine how the context for intellectual disability service provision has changed. It will then propose alternative models for service leadership that are contiguous with the changed landscape, ending with exemplary vignettes outlining situations where such innovative change is happening.

Developing Public Service Leaders
Mike Wallace, Michael Reed, Dermot O'Reilly, Michael Tomlinson, Jonathan Morris, Rosemary Deem, 2022-10-17. Developing Public Service Leaders examines why and how governments and representative bodies in public service organizations have mounted major interventions over the last two decades to develop senior staff as leaders. A critical explanation is developed of the foundational contribution made by national leadership development interventions in the 2000s to the emergence, proliferation and normalization of leadership development provision. Through carrying out qualitative research in England the authors investigate the national leadership development interventions for school education healthcare and higher education Whilst also looking at the contemporary legacy of these interventions within a global scale examining the growing international movement and comparing interventions across the world The book looks at new ways to approach leadership development adopting a novel perspective on leadership as a metaphorical concept and coining the concept of leaderism and exploring how although senior staff may be widely acculturated as leaders they may not necessarily be committed to acting as government change agents Leadership development makes a diffuse contribution towards the ongoing neoliberalization of public services Developing Public Service Leaders is a comprehensive and essential read for a researcher or policymaker striving for an in depth understanding of the field and its ramifications

Disrupting Leadership in Entrepreneurial Universities Jill Blackmore, 2022-10-20

What is the future of the contemporary university and for those who lead them Considering leadership in the broadest sense including academic leadership teaching and research as well as leadership practices of those in formal management positions Jill Blackmore outlines how multiple pressures on universities have produced leadership practices in management and research which are more corporate than collegial and which discourage many academics from aspiring to leadership She uses a range of theoretical tools informed by critical and feminist organisational studies to unpack higher education and how it is being transformed in ways that undermine its core work of teaching and research Drawing from three Australian university case studies this book uses leadership as a lens through which to investigate the effects of restructuring of the higher education sector which have impacted differently on academic identities and careers
