Creating Literacy Instruction for All Children Thomas G. Gunning, 2000 Creating Literacy Instruction for All Children is a comprehensive practical text that provides its readers with step by step guidance for teaching all major aspects of reading and writing Gunning's text helps students discover approaches and techniques that fit teachers personal styles and situations It aims to present as fairly completely and clearly as possible the major methods and strategies shown to be successful in research and practice The text features sample lessons for virtually every major literacy skill strategy and offers numerous reinforcement suggestions and generous listings of materials With two updated chapters on word analysis skills strategies the text continues to give teachers the information and techniques they need to implement a systematic and functional program of word analysis that is integrated with students reading and writing The text also presents the theory behind the methods so students will be free to choose adapt and or construct their own approaches as they create literacy instruction This edition endorses the viewpoint that a well prepared classroom teacher is capable of effectively instructing most struggling readers and writers Creating Literacy Instruction for All Students in Grades 4 to 8 Thomas G.

Gunning, 2008 This practical resource gives teachers step by step guidance for teaching students in grades 4 to 8 all major aspects of reading and writing In response to today's needs to tailor instruction for the middle grades this book features sample lessons for virtually every major literacy skill strategy and offers numerous reinforcement suggestions and generous listings of materials appropriate for the middle grades Renowned author Tom Gunning presents the theories behind the methods so readers will be free to choose adapt and or construct their own approaches as they create a balanced evidence based program of literacy instruction Because language background knowledge and thinking skills are the foundation of basic and higher level literacy the text emphasizes background building vocabulary and overall language development and the development of key thinking skills Given the current emphasis on Leaving No Child Behind and closing the literacy gap the text explores techniques and materials for helping below level readers and writers Included are listings of intervention programs for older struggling readers and suggestions for helping middle school students who are still having difficulty with decoding skills A Letter to Students From the Author Avon Connecticut March 14 2007 Dear Student Although I receive royalties from the sales of Creating Literacy Instruction for All Students in Grades 4 8 Second Edition my main reason for writing the text and continuously revising it is to improve the quality of literacy instruction for students I believe that the best way to do that is to provide for pre service and in service teachers a text that explains effective ways to assess and instruct students As times change and I acquire new knowledge and insights I add to and revise the suggestions that I make In preparation for the revision of this last edition I worked three days a week for a year in an urban school as a hands on consultant I also visited a number of schools talked with lots of teachers and worked with groups of students in a variety of settings These direct experiences were very enlightening One of my chief discoveries was the importance of fostering higher level reading and responding skills To meet the demands of No Child Left Behind many schools are focusing on decoding skills and literal comprehension Unfortunately this has led to a neglect of vocabulary development and higher level literacy skills which are key elements in developing the kinds of skills needed in today s society and which are assessed in the upper grades by today s high stakes tests To emphasize the importance of higher level literacy skills a new feature entitled Building Higher Level Literacy appears at the end of each chapter Recognizing the reality of the requirements of No Child Left Behind and high stakes tests I have included suggestions for preparing students to cope with demanding tests Using lookbacks supporting responses and other key comprehension and test taking skills are featured Also emphasized is the importance of going beyond teaching students how to respond to challenging texts in discussions to also teaching them how to respond in writing since that is how they will be assessed Quickwrites Macro Cloze Story Impressions Think Pair Share and a number of other intriguing teaching techniques have been added Throughout the text changes large and small have been made that I believe will enhance your knowledge of literacy and your ability as a teacher to build the literacy of the students that you teach While I realize that the purchase of the text might mean a financial sacrifice it should help make you a better teacher of literacy and your students better readers and writers Although the text is costly potential benefits are priceless Sincerely

Thomas G Gunning Ed D Author Creating Literacy Instruction for All Students The Role of the Speech-Language Pathologist in RtI Wayne A. Foster, 2018-01-08 The Role of the Speech Language Pathologist in RtI Implementing Multiple Tiers of Student Support is an innovative resource for school based speech language pathologists SLPs The author examines the current interaction among special and general educators and identifies how SLPs best fit into a multitiered response to instruction process This collaboration requires school staff share the same vision on the operation of the system understand their respective roles and merge the curricular with the developmental perspective to build basic skills in support of student performance growth General educators have traditionally utilized the language of curriculum e g standards pacing guides formative and summative assessments to talk about student goals and achievement Special educators including SLPs most often utilize the language of development e g norms percentile ranks development milestones to measure student growth The Role of the Speech Language Pathologist in RtI assesses this apparent clash in nomenclature and identifies new ways for collaboration and cooperation among faculty and administration In order for the SLP to be an effective partner in the development and implementation of RtI the author proposes that SLPs should understand the language of general education be able to translate the curricular needs of students into skill based units that can be measured and progress monitored have full understanding of the developmental progression of skills and how that progression links to curriculum standards and be knowledgeable on evidence based practices that can have a meaningful impact on closing developmental gaps and result in higher achievement outcomes This text provides the blueprint for the implementation of a system of student support that was envisioned in the 2004 reauthorization of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act IDEIA Unlike other books on RtI this essential resource addresses the very specific roles that different school level professionals must play to make the system effective No other text provides SLPs with such a comprehensive schoolwide perspective on the different roles in the process the different languages used by the professionals in those roles and how to navigate those different perspectives

Creating Reading Instruction for All Children Thomas G. Gunning, 1996 This book will not tell you how to teach reading Teaching reading is in large measure a matter of making choices Should you use basal readers or children s books or both Should you teach children to read whole words or to sound out words letter by letter or both Should you have three reading groups or four or no groups There are no right answers to these questions The answers depend on your personal philosophy your interpretation of the research the level at which you are teaching the kinds of students you are teaching community preferences and the nature of your school or school district s reading program
