Getting Medieval Sexualities And Communities Pre And Postmodern Series Q:

Getting Medieval Carolyn Dinshaw, 1999-09-22 In Getting Medieval Carolyn Dinshaw examines communities dissident and orthodox in late fourteenth and early fifteenth century England to create a new sense of queer history. Reaching beyond both medieval and queer studies, Dinshaw demonstrates in this challenging work how intellectual inquiry into pre-modern societies can contribute invaluable to current issues in cultural studies. In the process, she makes important connections between past and present cultures that until now have not been realized. In her pursuit of historical analyses that embrace the heterogeneity and indeterminacy of sex and sexuality, Dinshaw examines canonical Middle English texts such as the Canterbury Tales and The Book of Margery Kempe. She examines polemics around the religious dissidents known as the Lollards as well as accounts of prostitutes in London to address questions of how particular sexual practices and identifications were normalized while others were proscribed. By exploring contemporary misappropriations of medieval tropes in texts ranging from Quentin Tarantino's Pulp Fiction to recent Congressional debates on U.S. cultural production, Dinshaw demonstrates how such modern media can serve to reinforce constrictive heteronormative values and deny the multifarious nature of history. Finally, she works with and against the theories of Michel Foucault, Homi K. Bhabha, Roland Barthes, and John Boswell to show how deconstructionist impulses as well as historical perspectives can further an understanding of community in both pre and postmodern societies. This long anticipated volume will be indispensable to medieval and queer scholars and will be welcomed by a larger cultural studies audience.

Getting Medieval Carolyn Dinshaw, 1999-09-22 How medieval texts represent and reproduce normative heterosexual identities. Queer Readings of the Centurion at Capernaum Christopher B. Zeichmann, 2022-10-28 The first ever monograph on the history of queer biblical interpretation of a controversial biblical passage. Since the 1950s, homoerotic readings of the pericope in which Jesus heals a Roman centurion's slave have been built upon three of the account's features: the specific Greek word pais which can refer to youth, slave, or the junior partner in a sexual relationship between two men; Luke's characterization of the young man as dear entimos to the centurion; and commonplace homoeroticism in the Roman army. Rather than affirming or denying the historical reality of a sexual relationship between the centurion and the young man, Christopher B. Zeichmann instead traces the shifting patterns of queer readings of the text and the influences of the sexual, political, and theological discourses of late twentieth and early twenty-first century Europe, the United States, and Australia. Readers will see how distinct political contexts have led interpreters to find very different meanings about the sexual subtexts of this story. Sexual

Disorientations Kent L. Brintnall, Joseph A. Marchal, Stephen D. Moore, 2017-11-07 Sexual Disorientations brings some of the most recent and significant works of queer theory into conversation with the overlapping fields of biblical, theological, and religious studies to explore the deep theological resonances of questions about the social and cultural construction of time, memory, and futurity. Writing Sin in the German Lands, 1050-1215 Sarah Bowden, 2025-04-11 Writing Sin in the German Lands 1050 1215 is about how sin and atonement function as an impetus for textual production and formal linguistic and intellectual creativity It focuses on the late eleventh and twelfth centuries a time in which various social and cultural conditions came together to provoke both an interest in sin and an opportunity for writing experimentally about it and its area of enquiry is the German speaking world Working with a remarkably rich body of German language texts this book allows us not only to grasp with greater clarity aspects of medieval penitential thought and practice but it also offers new ways of thinking about the development of German as a literary language The book joins bodies of work on the history of penance and on devotional writing in the European vernaculars and through the interconnection of these two fields of study it offers a new perspective on questions that currently occupy scholars of the Middle Ages the medieval conception of the self in relation to other and to God the value and function of vernacular writing the nature of textuality and the relationship between writing speech material text and performance In five chapters that deal with a wide range of texts many of which have had little scholarly attention this volume shows that the long twelfth century was not only a period in which there was a particular interest in exploring aspects of the theology and practice of penance but also significantly a time in which a fundamental connection can be seen between thinking about sin and creative literary production

Shame and Guilt in Chaucer Anne McTaggart, 2012-09-14 Explores the representation of emotions as psychological concepts and cultural constructs in Geoffrey Chaucer's narrative poetry McTaggart argues that Chaucer's main works including The Canterbury Tales are united thematically in their positive view of guilt and in their anxiety about the desire for sacrifice and vengeance that shame can provoke

Kokai, Tom Robson, 2025-07-02 Most scholars and critics deny agency to the tourist in their engagement with the Disney theme park experience The vast body of research and journalism on the Disney Imagineers the designers and storytellers who construct the park experience leads to the misconception that these exceptional artists puppeteer every aspect of the guest's experience This anthology now in its second edition re-centers the park experience around its protagonist the tourist and addresses the Disney Parks using performance theory an approach few to no scholars had used prior to the first edition The authors of the individual essays as well as the Introduction by Kokai and Robson and an Afterword by world renowned tourism and performance expert Susan Bennett recognize the inherently complicated nature of Disney Many of the contributors consider themselves Disney fans but also recognize the potentially problematic aspects of Disney parks This collection permits both perspectives to exist side by side informing rather than contradicting each other MLA International Bibliography of Books and Articles on the Modern Languages and Literatures, 1999 Reading the World Mary Franklin-Brown, 2012-09-01 The thirteenth century saw such a proliferation of new encyclopedic texts that more than one scholar has called it the century of the encyclopedias Various referred to as a speculum thesaurus or imago mundi the term encyclopedia was not commonly applied to such books until the eighteenth century these texts were organized in such a way that a reader could easily locate a collection of authoritative statements on any given topic Because they reproduced rather than simply summarized parts of prior texts these compilations became libraries in miniature In this groundbreaking study Mary Franklin Brown examines writings in Latin Catalan and French that are connected to the encyclopedic movement Vincent of Beauvais's Speculum maius Ramon Llull's Libre de meravelles Arbor scientiae and Arbre de filosofia d'amor and Jean de Meun's continuation of the Roman de la Rose Franklin Brown analyzes the order of knowledge in these challenging texts describing the wide ranging interests the textual practices including commentary compilation and organization and the diverse discourses that they absorb from preexisting classical patristic and medieval writing She also demonstrates how these encyclopedias like libraries became heterotopias of knowledge spaces where many possible ways of knowing are juxtaposed But Franklin Brown's study will not appeal only to historians she argues that a revised understanding of late medievalism makes it possible to discern a close connection between scholasticism and contemporary imaginative literature She shows how encyclopedists employed the same practices of figuration narrative and citation as poets and romancers while much of the difficulty of the imaginative writing of this period derives from a juxtaposition of heterogeneous discourses inspired by encyclopedias With rich and innovative readings of texts both familiar and neglected Reading the World reveals how the study of encyclopedism can illuminate both the intellectual work and the imaginative writing of the scholastic age

Violence and the Writing of History in the Medieval Francophone World Noah D. Guynn, Zrinka Stahuljak, 2013 An examination of medieval historical writings through the prism of violence The concept of medieval historiography as usable past is here challenged and reassessed The contributors shared claim is that the value of medieval historiographical texts lies not only in the factual information the texts contain but also in the methods and styles they use to represent and interpret the past and make it ideologically productive Violence is used as the key term that best demonstrates the making of historical meaning in the Middle Ages through the transformation of acts of physical aggression and destruction into a memorable and usable past The twelve chapters assembled here explore a wide range of texts emanating from throughout the francophone world They cover a range of genres chansons de geste histories chronicles travel writing and lyric poetry and range from the late eleventh to the fifteenth century Through examination of topics as varied as rhetoric imagery humor gender sexuality trauma subversion and community formation each chapter strives to demonstrate how knowledge of the medieval past can be enhanced by approaching medieval modes of historical representation and consciousness on their own terms and by acknowledging and resisting the desire to subject them to modern conceptions of historical intelligibility Noah D Guynn is Associate Professor of French at the University of California Davis Zrinka Stahuljak is Associate Professor of French and Comparative Literature at the University of California Los Angeles Contributors Noah D Guynn Zrinka Stahuljak James Andrew Cowell Jeff Rider Leah Shopkow Matthew Fisher Karen Sullivan David Rollo Deborah McGrady Rosalind Brown Grant Simon Gaunt Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 1999-04 Fifteenth-Century Studies 37 Barbara I.
