Fenton, Michael A. Hicks, Timo Schweckendiek, Brian Simpson, 2013 The ground is one of the most highly variable of engineering materials It is therefore not surprising that geotechnical designs depend on local site conditions and local engineering experience Engineering practices relating to investigation and design methods site understanding and to safety levels acceptable to society will therefore vary between different regions The challenge in geotechnical engineering is to make use of worldwide geotechnical experience established over many years to aid in the development and harmonization of geotechnical design codes Given the significant uncertainties involved empiricism and engineering Design of Structural Elements Chanakya Arya, 2009-05-07 This third edition of a popular textbook is a concise single volume introduction to the design of structural elements in concrete steel timber masonry and composites It provides design principles and guidance in line with both British Standards and Eurocodes current as of late 2007 Topics discussed include the philosophy of design basic structural concepts and material properties After an introduction and overview of structural design the book is conveniently divided into sections based on British Standards and Eurocodes Proceedings fib Symposium in Copenhagen Denmark FIB – International Federation for Structural Concrete, 2015-05-01 Food Composition Data H. Greenfield, 2013-03-09 About twenty years ago there was a recognition in Europe that real benefits would flow from coordinating the manner in which food composition tables were produced in the various countries of Europe Subsequent development of computerised nutritional data bases has further highlighted the potential advantages of working together Such cooperation could lead to improved quality and compatibility of the various European nutrient data bases and the values within them This realisation was one of the driving forces behind the development of the Eurofoods initiative in the 1980 s when those people in Europe interested in data on food composition began working together This initiative received further impetus with the establishment of the Eurofoods Infant Concerted Action Project within the framework of the FLAIR Food Linked Agro Industrial Research Programme of the Commission of the European Communities It was quickly recognised that the draft guidelines for the production management and use of food composition data which had been prepared under the aegis of INFOODS International Network of Food Data Systems a project of the United Nations University would be especially applicable to the objectives of the Concerted Action The guidelines have been written by two recognised experts Many people associated with FLAIR Eurofoods Infant have added constructive criticism and advice to that offered previously by those associated with INFOODS Thus the guidelines are backed by a consensus in the community of those responsible for the production and use of food composition tables and nutrient data bases High Tech Concrete: Where Technology and Engineering Meet D.A.
