Systems and Mindfulness to Educate a Literate Citizenry for Sustainable and Healthy Lives Malgorzata

Powietrzyńska, Kenneth Tobin, 2017-11-14 Weaving Complementary Knowledge System and Mindfulness to Educate a Literate Citizenry for Sustainable and Healthy Lives contains 24 chapters written by 33 authors from 9 countries. The book, which consists of two sections on mindfulness in education and wellness, is intended for a broad audience of educators, researchers, and complementary medicine practitioners. Members of the general public may find appeal and relevance in chapters that advocate transformation in a number of spheres including K-12 schools, museums, universities, counselling, and everyday lifestyles. Innovative approaches to education involving meditation and mindfulness produce numerous advantages for participants in schools, museums, and a variety of self-help contexts of everyday life. In several striking examples, critical stances address a bandwagon approach to the application of mindfulness often by for-profit companies to purportedly improve quality of education in contexts where learning has been commodified, and ideologies such as neoliberalism have been mandated by politicians and implemented by policy makers. In different international contexts, Buddhist roots of mindfulness are critically reviewed by a number of authors. Chapters on wellness focus on complementary practices including art therapy, Jin Shin Jyutsu, Iridology, and yoga. Foci in the wellness section include sexual health, prescription drug addiction, obesity, diabetes, cancer, and a variety of common ailments that can be addressed using complementary medicine. New theories such as a polyvagal theory provide scope for people to become aware of their bodies in different ways and maintain wellbeing through changes in lifestyle, heightened self-awareness, and self-help. Handbook of Language and Literacy, Second Edition. C. Addison Stone, Elaine R. Silliman, Barbara J. Ehren, Geraldine P. Wallach, 2016-05-27. An acclaimed reference that fills a significant gap in the literature, this volume examines the linkages between spoken and written language development, both typical and atypical. Leading authorities address the impact of specific language-related processes on K-12 literacy learning, with attention to cognitive, neurobiological, sociocultural, and instructional issues. Approaches to achieving optimal learning outcomes with diverse students are reviewed. The volume presents research-based practices for assessing student needs and providing effective instruction in all aspects of literacy: word recognition, reading comprehension, writing, and spelling. New to This Edition: Chapters on digital literacy, disciplinary literacy, and integrative research designs; Chapters on bilingualism, response to intervention, and English language learners. Incorporates nearly a decade's worth of empirical and theoretical advances. Numerous prior edition chapters have been completely rewritten. Research and Education.
