The Logic of the Cold War Tian-jia Dong,2018-08-24 The Cold War revealed for the first time in human history the logic of human togetherness which indicated that it was not only necessary for nation states to live together but also possible for them to do so The necessity was because of the inescapably shared vulnerability of mutually assured destruction not only in terms of security but more so in economic well being and political stability The possibility was due to the unipolar world structure sustained by the global governance web of interdependent partnership which worked powerfully between the power agents to ensure the best of all possible world This latent governance system was both hierarchical and dynamic because its power was connective in the sense that power was rooted in one another and the ability to be interdependent by empowering other power agents and sharing vulnerability at the same time was the way of becoming the nucleus on the global web of interdependent partners and hence gaining power in transforming one another connectively and governing the world collectively George Kennan's patience in building up hard and soft powers within individual power agents of the web and Wilson Roosevelt's institutionalization of collective power above each power agents contributed to the construction of the system The Soviet big brotherly governing type was proven a failure

Professional Journal of the United States Army ,1991 Scholarly Leadership in Higher Education Wayne J. Urban,2020-04-02 Urban provides an intellectual history of Harvard presidency of James Bryant Conant 1933 1953 situating it within the broader international landscape and drawing out the implication for the current state of higher education with reference to specific leadership policy issues in the sector Throughout this volume Urban explores the ways in which Conant achieved largely successful attempts to modernize Harvard by upgrading both its student body and its faculty He explores the intellectual excellence agenda that Conant pursued both with students and academics and the ramifications of this He also considers the nature of Conant s part time handling of the role of president the way he delegated campus control to his Provost Paul Buck and the ways the two operated together and separately Urban also looks at Conant s own intellectual breadth as scientist and humanist which showed itself prominently in his activities in pursuit of general education reform Conant s combination of intellect and agenda was unusual for a president in his own time and is exceedingly rare if not completely missing in contemporary university presidencies In exploring this innovative president s time in office at Harvard Urban offers pertinent ideas to today s leaders of higher education Review of Current Military Literature ,1991
