Decolonizing Multicultural Counseling Through Social Justice International And Cultural Psychology:

Decolonizing “Multicultural” Counseling through Social Justice Rachael D. Goodman, Paul C. Gorski, 2014-11-03

Multicultural counseling and psychology evolved as a response to the Eurocentrism prevalent in the Western healing professions and has been used to challenge the Eurocentric patriarchal and heteronormative constructs commonly embedded in counseling and psychology. Ironically, some of the practices and paradigms commonly associated with multiculturalism reinforce the very hegemonic practices and paradigms that multicultural counseling and psychology approaches were created to correct. In Decolonizing Multicultural Counseling through Social Justice, counseling and psychology scholars and practitioners examine this paradox through a social justice lens by questioning and challenging the infrastructure of dominance in society as well as by challenging ourselves as practitioners, scholars, and activists to rethink our commitments. The authors analyze the ways well-meaning clinicians might marginalize clients and contribute to structural inequities despite multicultural or cross-cultural training and offer new frameworks and skills to replace the essentializing and stereotyping practices that are widespread in the field. By addressing the power imbalances embedded in key areas of multicultural theory and practice, contributors present innovative methods for revising research paradigms, professional education, and hands-on practice to reflect a commitment to equity and social justice. Together, the chapters in this book model transformative practice in the clinic, the schools, the community, and the discipline. Among the topics covered: Rethinking racial identity development models; Queering multicultural competence in counseling; Developing a liberatory approach to trauma counseling; Decolonizing psychological practice in the context of poverty; Utilizing indigenous paradigms in counseling research; Addressing racism through intersectionality. A mind-opening text for multicultural counseling and psychology courses as well as other foundational courses in counseling and psychology education. Decolonizing Multicultural Counseling through Social Justice challenges us to let go of simplistic approaches, however well-intended, and to embrace a more transformative approach to counseling and psychology practice and scholarship. The Sage Encyclopedia of Multicultural Counseling, Social Justice, and Advocacy Shannon B. Dermer, Jahaan R. Abdullah, 2023-12-08 Since the late 1970s, there has been an increase in the study of diversity, inclusion, race, and ethnicity within the field of counseling. The SAGE Encyclopedia of Multicultural Counseling, Social Justice, and Advocacy will comprehensively synthesize a wide range of terms, concepts, ideologies, groups, and organizations through a diverse lens. This encyclopedia will include entries on a wide range of topics relative to multicultural counseling, social justice, and advocacy and the experiences of diverse groups. The encyclopedia will consist of approximately 600 signed entries arranged alphabetically within four volumes. Facilitating Social Justice, Service Delivery, and Advocacy Through Multicultural Counseling Competencies Wilson, Keith B., Chao, Si-Yi, 2023-08-18 Many post-secondary institutions have added courses dealing with diversity-related topics in their curriculum over the last decade. Because many professionals will encounter people with disabilities or underrepresented groups in their daily vocations either as peers or people seeking services it is essential to understand the unique challenges these individuals face in society Facilitating Social Justice Service Delivery and Advocacy Through Multicultural Counseling Competencies explores how social variables intersectionality and multicultural competencies are connected to one of the essential words in the diversity lexicon advocacy Each section underscores the importance of certain social variables and how one might be perceived and treated in the classroom workplace and interacting with community services Covering topics such as disability competencies trauma informed counseling strategies and race and identity this premier reference source is an excellent resource for administrators and educators of both K 12 and higher education librarians students of higher education social workers health professionals mental health counselors guidance counselors researchers and academicians

Decolonial Psychology and Dialogues of Resistance James Cresswell,Atsushi Tajima,Arthur Arruda Leal Ferreira,2025-07-11 Interweaving rich theory on dialogism power and resistance together with situated scenarios addressing the production of psychological knowledge this book explores decoloniality as it interfaces with strategic fields in psychology Current movements in global sentiment have raised important calls for decolonial action In this volume an international set of authors come together to critically challenge power by considering how colonial mindsets develop and are retained Drawing on dialogism inspired by Bakhtin Vygotsky and other leading thinkers of dialogicality the book focuses on dialogue and how it is tied to the ability to think in ways outside colonial mindsets It challenges approaches that run the risk of bypassing how fundamental colonialism has become for human thinking and incorporates visions to consider how both conceptually and methodologically a postcolonial or decolonial psychology can be done In so doing it guides readers beyond the status quo to consider a program to improve psychology formulate a new psychological culture and bring about discussion beyond the permanent yet generative tension between liberating and subordinating psychologies The book will be key reading for theoretical and critical psychology scholars and postgraduate students particularly those interested in community engagement and decolonizing psychology It will also be of interest to those engaged in research in Bakhtian studies critical theory and power studies
