Objectives of safety, quality, and economy are given priority in these guidelines for formwork. A section on contract documents explains the kind and amount of specification guidance the architect/engineer should provide for the contractor. The remainder of the report adds to the formwork engineer/contractor on the best ways to meet the specification requirements safely and economically. Separate chapters deal with design, construction, and materials for formwork. Generalizations peculiar to architectural concrete are also outlined in a separate chapter. Other sections are devoted to formwork for bridges, slabs, mass concrete, and underground work. The concluding chapter on formwork for special methods of construction includes slipforming, preplaced aggregate concrete, tunnel concrete, precast, and posttensioned concrete.

Keywords: arches; architectural concrete; castings; concrete; construction; falsework; forms; formwork; formwork; formwork foundations; quality control; making; slabs; slabs; construction; specifications; tolerances.

ACI Committee Reports, Guides, Standard Practices, and Commentaries are intended for guidance in planning, designing, executing, and inspecting construction. This document is intended for the use of individuals who are competent to evaluate the significance and limitations of its content and recommendations and who will accept responsibility for the application of the material it contains. The American Concrete Institute disclaims any and all responsibility for the stated principles. The Institute shall not be liable for any loss or damage resulting therefrom.

Reference to this document shall not be made in contract documents. If items found in this document are desired by the Architect/Engineer to be a part of the contract documents, they shall be restated in mandatory language for incorporation by the Architect/Engineer.
