Curriculum Development Centre Zambia:

The Curriculum Development Centre in Zambia Curriculum Development Centre (Zambia),1987 Practical Subjects Syllabus Curriculum Development Centre (Zambia),1982 Citizenship Education and Social Development in Zambia Ali A. Abdi,Edward Shizha, Lee Ellis,2010-06-01 Zambia the butterfly shaped central African country has a population of about 11 million people and as other Sub Saharan African countries has been trying to democratize since the early 1990s Clearly though the promise of political reform did not fulfill the expectations of the public and with about 60 percent of the population living below the poverty line many Zambians are no longer confident that more open political systems can improve their lives But the problem may not be inherent in the political process itself and could be found more in the apparent disconnection between people s needs and the way the country s affairs are run It is with respect to these and related issues that this book emphasizes the crucial relationship between education and political participation and specifically highlights citizenship education as essential for Zambia s social development Social development which should comprise inter alia the economic political and cultural wellbeing of societies can be enhanced by citizenship education which focuses on elevating people s understanding of their rights and responsibilities vis vis government institutions structures and functions Indeed it is the centrality of the political component in people s lives especially its relationship with public policy and public programs that should underline the important role of citizenship education In describing these issues the book analyzes the role of the media women s groups and youth in enhancing the political educational and by extension the economic lives of the Zambian people The book should interest students and scholars of Zambian as well as African education politics and social development It should also be useful for policy makers institutional managers and both public and para public leaders in Zambia and elsewhere in the continent Bridges and Barriers Eddie Williams,2014-06-03 Recent decades have seen sub Saharan Africa decline in both economic and human terms The rich North has responded with a barrage of well publicized initiatives from pop concerts to international commitments on debt relief aid trade and good governance Among the complex of factors necessary to sustain economic and human development education receives little media coverage although it is crucial However education must be effective This book argues that in Anglophone Africa education is not effective because of the use of English rather than children s first languages both as the medium of instruction and also as the language in which children are first taught to read Research is presented from Malawi and Zambia countries with contrasting language policies using evidence from tests in English and African languages small group discussions and classroom observation The findings show that English medium policies in Africa do not give students any advantage in English over first language policies while the use of English discriminates against girls and rural children The book concludes that much education in Africa is a barrier rather than a bridge to learning because of the prevailing language ideology which has resulted in massive over estimation of the value of English While appropriate language policies alone will not solve

education and development difficulties in Africa they do have a positive contribution to make The evidence presented here suggests they are failing to make that contribution

Multilingualism in Southern Africa Wellman Kondowe, Chimwemwe M.M. Kamanga, Precious Madula, 2024-07-31 This collection showcases perspectives from established and emerging scholars on the contemporary landscape of multilingualism in Southern Africa The book explores the broader impact of colonialism and neocolonialism on language policies and practices drawing on case studies from such countries as Malawi South Africa Tanzania Zimbabwe and Zambia The volume is organised thematically around four different sections looking at issues around linguistic diversity across different sectors including contemporary debates on African languages language education youth languages and language documentation Taken together the collection seeks to offer readers with a more nuanced understanding of fundamental issues in the development of multilingualism across different countries in Southern Africa today and encourage future research on multilingualism in Africa more broadly The volume will be of interest to students and scholars in multilingualism sociolinguistics language policies language education and African studies

Knowledge for Justice Tor Halvorsen, Hilde Ibsen, 2017-11-28 With the adoption of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals SDGs and the Paris Agreement the purpose of development is being redefined in both social and environmental terms Despite pushback from conservative forces change is accelerating in many sectors To drive this transformation in ways that bring about social environmental and economic justice at a local national regional and global levels new knowledge and strong cross regional networks capable of foregrounding different realities needs and agendas will be essential In fact the power of knowledge matters today in ways that humanity has probably never experienced before placing an emphasis on the roles of research academics and universities In this collection an international diverse collection of scholars from the southern African and Nordic regions critically review the SDGs in relation to their own areas of expertise while placing the process of knowledge production in the spotlight In Part I the contributors provide a sober assessment of the obstacles that neo liberal hegemony presents to substantive transformation In Part Two lessons learned from NorthSouth research collaborations and academic exchanges are assessed in terms of their potential to offer real alternatives In Part III a set of case studies supply clear and nuanced analyses of the scale of the challenges faced in ensuring that no one is left behind This accessible and absorbing collection will be of interest to anyone interested in NorthSouth research networks and in the contemporary debates on the role of knowledge production The Southern African Nordic Centre SANORD is a network of higher education institutions that stretches across Denmark Finland Iceland Norway Sweden Botswana Namibia Malawi South Africa Zambia and Zimbabwe Universities in the southern African and Nordic regions that are not yet members are encouraged to join

Fire-Eaters Mwelwa C. Musambachime, 2017-01-13 As late as the beginning of the nineteenth century despite the many years of direct contact with European traders and the influx of European goods most African societies still produced their own iron and its products or obtained them from neighbouring communities through local trade The quality of iron products was such that despite competition from European imports local iron production survived into the early twentieth century in some parts of the continent The production process covered prospecting mining smelting and forging Different types of ore were available all over the continent and were extracted by shallow or alluvial mining A variety of skills were required for building furnaces producing charcoal smelting and forging iron into goods Iron production was generally not an enclave activity but a process that fulfilled the totality of socio economic needs It also fit the gender division of labour within communities

Nurturing Food Safety: Educational Implications of Parental Beliefs and Behaviors Related to Food Safety in Zambia Victoria Fidelia Mukuni, 2025-05-12 SUMMARY The book

Nurturing Food Safety Educational Implications of Parental Beliefs and Behaviors Related to Food Safety in Zambia explores the critical role parents play in shaping food safety practices among school aged children within the Zambian context The book begins by highlighting national food safety challenges and educational gaps emphasizing the influence of Zambia s socio economic conditions on food handling behaviors It reviews global and local literature on student knowledge curriculum interventions and parental involvement in food preparation presenting a conceptual framework that links these factors Using a qualitative approach the study gathers data through interviews and focus groups with parents to understand their beliefs behaviors and barriers to food safety Findings reveal a disconnect between school taught food safety knowledge and home practices shaped by cultural norms economic constraints and limited resources The book concludes with implications for policy and education recommending culturally sensitive community based programs and parental engagement strategies to enhance food safety outcomes for children and families across Zambia

Print Culture in Southern Africa Caroline Davis, Archie Dick, Elizabeth le Roux, Dennis Walder, 2021-07-29 Print Culture in Southern Africa is concerned with the institutions and processes informing textual production circulation and consumption in the region over a broad historical period from the late 18th century to the present day The book is organised around three closely related themes Firstly it presents original research into the formation of reading publics and the impact of reading cultures by uncovering obscure but important reading communities and circuits of book distribution and reception A second theme is the relationship between print and politics with a particular focus on the networks of power how control over the production and circulation of printed books has shaped literary and cultural development The third theme is transnational print culture and how the control exercised by publishers in Europe and America has shaped literature and society in southern Africa Drawing together interdisciplinary research and diverse methodologies the collection encompasses a range of perspectives including literary studies anthropology publishing studies the history of the book and art history and many of the chapters are based on previously unexamined archives and collections The volume contributes to current debates and opens up new and exciting ways of furthering the study of postcolonial literature and African book history The chapters included in this book were originally published in the Journal of Southern African Studies
