Assessing Substance Abusers with the Millon Clinical Multiaxial Inventory (MCMI) Robert J. Craig, 2005 The construct validity of a psychological test is assessed by a multitrait multimethod nomothetic matrix which means that the psychometric properties of an assessment instrument are studied with a variety of populations and in a variety of settings and weighed against a variety of other measures that purportedly assess the same construct This concept implies that a test might have strong validity with some populations and weak validity with others and this is the central theme of this book In order to add to the construct validity of the Millon Clinical Multiaxial Inventory MCMI evidence is presented on the psychometric properties of the test with both alcohol and drug abusers Chapter 1 Epidemiology of Substance Abuse reviews the scope of the abuse problem sources of data on prevalence and costs Chapter 2 Overview of MCMI discusses assessing personality disorders and theory and instrumentation Chapters 3 and 4 explain in detail the two scales of the MCMI that assess alcohol and drug abuse both directly and indirectly along with the psychometric properties of these scales and the ways in which they have been used to detect substance abuse and assess substance abusers Chapter 5 integrates the research findings presented in Chapters 3 and 4 and concludes with directions for future research The final chapter presents an annotated bibliography of all studies conducted with substance abusers using the MCMI Supportive illustrations and tables further enhance the presentation of the MCMI scales

New Directions in Interpreting the Millon Clinical Multiaxial Inventory-III (MCMI-III) Robert J. Craig, 2005-05-13 New Directions in Interpreting the Millon Clinical Multiaxial Inventory edited by a leading MCMI researcher and featuring contributions from internationally renowned scholars in personality assessment presents new methods of interpretation and new clinical applications for this classic objective measure of personality This dynamic new handbook discusses issues related to the effect of culture on MCMI III results and controversies regarding its forensic applications and presents research related to the MCMI III's diagnostic power with regard to diagnosis and malingering

Forensic Uses of Clinical Assessment Instruments Robert P. Archer, 2013-04-15 The purpose of this book is to provide a firm basis for psychologists to understand the appropriate uses and limitations of popular clinical assessment measures as they are applied to forensic issues The instruments were selected because of their wide use and importance in both clinical and forensic settings The PCL R the PAI and MCMI II for example are typically used with adults in criminal evaluations the MMPI A is often used in evaluating adolescents in detention and correctional facilities while the Child Behavior Checklist CBCL Achenbach 1991 Personality Inventory for Children Second Edition PIC 2 Lachar Gruber 2001 and Parenting Stress Index PSI Abidin 1995 are more commonly used in evaluating families involved in child protection and custody cases Instruments such as the MMPI 2 the Rorschach and the Halstead Reitan Neuropsychological Battery are widely used across many types of forensic evaluations although the latter category of testing is particularly related to personal injury evaluations The end result is a unique and indispensable reference a comprehensive overview within a single text of prominent clinical assessment instruments widely used for forensic purposes and designed to facilitate the optimal use of clinical assessment instruments among psychologists who have undertaken the training necessary to understand and apply psychological principles and test findings to salient legal standards or issues Personality Assessment Robert P.
