Clifford Boyd, Jr., Donna C. Boyd, 2018-03-19 Provides comprehensive coverage of everything that students and practitioners need to know about working in the field of forensic anthropology. Forensic anthropology has been plagued by questions of scientific validity and rigor despite its acceptance as a section in the American Academy of Forensic Sciences nearly half a century ago. Critics have viewed it as a laboratory-based applied subfield of biological anthropology and characterised it as emphasising methodology over theory. This book shows that these views are not only antiquated but inadequate and inaccurate. Forensic Anthropology: Theoretical Framework and Scientific Basis introduces readers to all of the theoretical and scientific foundations of forensic anthropology, beginning with how it was influenced by the early theoretical approaches of Tyler Morgan Spencer and Darwin. It instructs on how modern forensic science relies on an interdisciplinary approach with research being conducted in the fields of archaeology, physics, geology, and other disciplines. This modern approach to theory in forensic anthropology is presented through the introduction and discussion of Foundational Interpretive and Methodological theories. Sections cover Bias and Objectivity in Forensic Anthropology Theory and Practice, The Theory and Science Behind Biological Profile and Personal Identification, Scientific Foundation for Interpretations of Antemortem

Perimortem and Postmortem Processes and Interdisciplinary Influences Legal Ramifications and Future Directions Illustrates important aspects of the theory building process and reflects methods for strengthening the scientific framework of forensic anthropology as a discipline Inspired by the Application of Theory to Forensic Anthropology symposium presented at the 67th annual meeting of the American Academy of Forensic Sciences Chapters written by experts in the field who were presenters at the symposium Forensic Anthropology Theoretical Framework and Scientific Basis is ideal for university courses in anthropological science forensic science criminal science and forensic archaeology Fifty Years of Forensic Science Dr. Niamh Nic Daeid, 2010-01-19 Over the last half century the science and practice of forensic science has undergone dramatic changes Since the early 1960s the technological developments and their application to forensic science have been immense Not only that the application of science within a legal context and framework has developed enormously as has the evaluation of the analytical results obtained This unique text looks at the changes and challenges within forensic science over the last fifty years through a continuous diary of development witnessed by the editorials and relevant correspondence delivered through the UK Forensic Science Societies journal Science and Justice formally the Journal of the Forensic Science Society The editorials are divided into sections relating to the developments of forensic practice the advancement of science education legal aspects forensic science and medicine the international dimension of forensic science and the interpretation and evaluation of evidence The text and first two sections are set in context by an introductory chapter written by Professor Brian Caddy examining the future of forensic science A key text that traces the historical development of forensic science through reflective editorials published in the journal Science and Justice and the Journal of the Forensic Science Society Includes introductory chapter by Professor Brian Caddy Divided into themed sections to reflect current commentary and debate Forensic Investigation of Explosions, Second Edition Alexander Beveridge, 2011-11-02 Now in its second edition Forensic Investigation of Explosions draws on the editor's 30 years of explosives casework experience including his work on task forces set up to investigate major explosives incidents Dr Alexander Beveridge provides a broad multidisciplinary approach assembling the contributions of internationally recognized experts who present the definitive reference work on the subject Topics discussed include The physics and chemistry of explosives and explosions The detection of hidden explosives The effect of explosions on structures and persons Aircraft sabotage investigations Explosion scene investigations Casework management The role of forensic scientists Analysis of explosives and their residues Forensic pathology as it relates to explosives Presentation of expert testimony With nearly 40 percent more material this new edition contains revised chapters and several new topics including A profile of casework management in the UK Forensic Explosives Laboratory one of the world's top labs with a discussion of their management system training procedures and practical approaches to problem solving Properties and analysis of improvised explosives An examination of the Bali bombings and the use of mobile analytical techniques and mobile laboratories The collection analysis and presentation of evidence in vehicle
