In Forest Land (Classic Reprint) Douglas Malloch, 2015-07-07 Excerpt from In Forest Land Let other bards their harps attune To sing of gold and courts and kings But leave to me the hush of June The music that the forest sings Let other bards from fields of blood Send up their hymns to mighty Mars But leave to me the quiet wood The tender moonlight and the stars I'll hang my harp upon a tree Where ev'ry passing breeze may play And catch the leafy minstrelsy The music of the shaded way Yea I will teach this harp of mine To sing the song the forest sings To mingle with the sob of pine The silver aspen's whisperings For I would find that sweetest chord That makes the forest harmony Would wake at will the music poured To ev'ry zephyr by the tree To know thee more my spirit longs O melody of leaves astir About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works The Forest-Land Owners of New Hampshire and Vermont (Classic Reprint) Neal P. Birch, 2018-03-28 Excerpt from The Forest Land Owners of Kentucky The most recent forest survey of Kentucky 1975 provided estimates of forest area and timber volume by broad owner categories kingsley and Powell That survey did not however estimate the timber volume or acreage of commercial forest land that is available for harvesting The report also did not describe forest land owners their reasons for owning forest land or their attitudes toward timber harvesting forest management and the recreational use of their lands by the public Such information is useful to public agencies for planning and organizing forestry related programs to forest industries for locating available timber and to others for learning more about the motivations and objectives of forest land owners Ninety two percent of the commercial forest land in Kentucky is in private hands and an in depth look at the private forest land owners will provide a better understanding of the forest resources of the State About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works The Forest-Land Owners of West Virginia (Classic Reprint) Thomas W.

Birch, 2018-01-05 Excerpt from The Forest Land Owners of West Virginia The data presented here are based on a sample of forest land owners The results of this sample have been statistically expanded to estimate the total population of owners of privately held forest land and the acreage they own To fully understand how estimates were made the user of these data is advised to read the discussion of study methods and sampling errors in the Appendix For the resurvey of the forest resources of West Virginia data were developed for four geographic sampling units 1 National Forest Land 2 the Northeastern Unit 3 the Southern Unit and 4 the Northwestern Unit Because the entire National Forest Unit is in public ownership it was excluded from this report fig I About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works The Forest-Land Owners of Delaware (Classic Reprint) Neal P. Kingsley, 2018-09-13 Excerpt from The Forest Land Owners of Delaware The sum of the weighted number of owners then provides an unbiased estimate of the total number of persons who own commercial forest land in Delaware The acreage of commercial forest land was estimated in a manner similar to that used in the forest survey The total area of privately owned commercial forest land was divided by the number of field plots represented in the ownership canvass Thus if a particular respondent owned one forested plot his response was given a weight of one and his response was said to account for acres of commercial forest land If a respondent represented two forested plots his response received a weight of two or double the acreage and so on Actual reported acreage was used only to calculate the sample mean mode and median About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www

From the Forest (Classic Reprint) William Scott Palmer, 2018-01-20 Excerpt from

From the Forest Of trees and here and there a wood are set in wide stretches of heather and the short upland grass. They say too that it was once all ice. And assuredly there was a time when it was neither ice nor forest land nor sea but the womb of seething elements whence these came. I stand in fact between two immensities of change for there is an end to earth as well as a beginning. I stand here chaos behind me, chaos ahead of me, chaos that is relative to me but a pregnant order. I do not doubt for the Spirit of the Whole in Whom those seething elements have their being as securely as I. First Book of Forestry (Classic Reprint) Filibert Roth, 2015-07-20 Excerpt from First Book of Forestry During the last twenty years the general interest in forestry has grown with remarkable rapidity in all parts of our country The federal government has set aside large forest reserves and several states have established reservations or parks The private owners of large tracts of forest lands are employing trained foresters to care for their property and an improvement in the smaller holdings is everywhere noticeable Forestry is taught in two special schools in America and elementary courses on the subject are given in several colleges and preparatory schools A desire has been expressed to introduce this useful and interesting study into our public schools and country homes and this volume is an attempt to provide a book on the subject which shall satisfy this demand In keeping with this purpose there has been no attempt to write a textbook or manual of forestry but an effort has been made to present in simple non technical language some of the general principles underlying the science and to state the methods which are employed and the objects to be attained in the practice of forestry Early association with the well kept forests of Germany observations made in the widely differing forest districts of our own country and three years experience in teaching forestry have helped to make the responsible task of preparing this book a pleasure About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The National Forests of California (Classic Reprint) Robert William Ayres, 2018-09-10 Excerpt from The National Forests of California After a quarter century of effort by the conservationists the problem Of providing for adequate protection and wise use Of forests and forest land in the United States is still one of the most pressing problems of the Nation This problem can not be solved in its entirety by foresters and landowners Public Opinion must be aroused The destructive use Of the forests which created the present Situation has been tolerated partly because Of lack Of general understanding Of the results Of unwise lumbering methods and Of letting fire burn the woods There is great need to day for the public to become acquainted with the forests in a more intimate way To know something of their extent and productivity their relationship to the economic and social life Of the Nation and their consequent claim to direct interest on the part Of every citizen in their wise use and perpetuation About the Publisher
