Forestry Outlook Study for Africa Forestry Outlook Study for Africa, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2003-01-01 This regional report examines the emerging trends and considers the opportunities and challenges involved in promoting the contribution of the forest sector to Africa's sustainable development over the next two decades including policy and institutional demographic economic technological and environmental factors Forestry Outlook Study for Africa Forestry Outlook Study for Africa, 2003 Forestry outlook study for Africa, 19?? African Forests Forestry Outlook Study for Africa, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2003-01-01 This report provides a summary of the main findings from regional and subregional reports into the likely trends and development issues in forestry in Africa to the year 2020 It also outlines key priorities and challenges to promote the sector's contribution to wider sustainable development and social welfare policies Forestry Outlook Study for Africa, 2003 Auto-evaluation of Forestry Sector Outlook Studies, 2005 World Agriculture: Towards 2015/2030 Jelle Bruinsma, 2017-09-25 This report is FAO's latest assessment of the long term outlook for the world's food supplies nutrition and agriculture It presents the projections and the main messages The projections cover supply and demand for the major agricultural commodities and sectors including fisheries and forestry This analysis forms the basis for a more detailed examination of other factors such as nutrition and undernourishment and the implications for international trade The report also investigates the implications of future supply and demand for the natural resource base and discusses how technology can contribute to more sustainable development One of the report's main findings is that if no corrective action is taken the target set by the World Food Summit in 1996 that of halving the number of undernourished people by 2015 is not going to be met Nothing short of a massive effort at improving the overall development performance will free the developing world of its most pressing food insecurity problems The progress made towards this target depends on many factors not least of which are political will and the mobilization of additional resources Past experience underlines the crucial role of agriculture in the development process particularly where the majority of the population still depends on this sector for employment and income Biomass and Bioenergy Michael D. Brenes, 2006 Biomass and bioenergy are essential components of the energy mix in most countries Biomass is organic matter available on a renewable basis Biomass includes forest and mill residues agricultural crops and wastes wood and wood wastes animal wastes livestock operation residues aquatic plants fast growing trees and plants and municipal and industrial wastes Bioenergy is useful renewable energy produced from organic matter The conversion of the complex carbohydrates in organic matter to energy Organic matter may either be used directly as a fuel or processed into liquids and gases This book presents up to date research in this field Reading through the Charcoal Industry in Ethiopia Bekele, Melaku, Girmay, Zenebe, 2014-06-12 Studies in many African countries show that charcoal making is among the primary drivers of deforestation and subsequent land degradation In the case of Ethiopia charcoal is produced from state owned public forests and woodlands There is little regulatory intervention from the government side Moreover production is more traditional and the producers have little idea that charcoal can be produced efficiently with modern technologies Although charcoal meets significant portion of urban households energy needs in the country and also support the livelihood of tens of thousands of rural households it hardly attracted the attention of policy makers and development agents A good majority of urban population who use charcoal on regular basis doesn't seem to know how charcoal is made from where it comes and its adverse environmental impacts In cognizant of the potential environmental impact of charcoal production and marketing in the country FSS commissioned this study with the objective to understand the environmental social and economic implications of charcoal production marketing and consumption in Ethiopia with aim to generate increase awareness among the general public and incite a policy debate among concerned key stakeholders

Climate Change and Food Security in West Asia and North Africa Mannava V.K. Sivakumar, Rattan Lal, Ramasamy Selvaraju, Ibrahim Hamdan, 2013-07-30 The countries of West Asia and North Africa WANA have long had the challenge of providing sustainable livelihoods for their populations in the fragile ecosystems of semi arid and arid areas Climate change is already a reality in WANA and it places additional constraints on the already fragile ecosystems of dry areas and limited natural resources in WANA A comprehensive and integrated approach to planning and implementing the climate change adaptation strategies across the wide range of agro ecosystems in different countries in WANA could help both the planners and the local communities to deal effectively with the projected impacts and also contribute to overall sustainability of agricultural production systems This book addresses the important issue of climate change and food security in West Asia and North Africa and presents the appropriate strategies which could help in the development of new policies to better adapt agriculture production systems and enhance food security in WANA

Forests For Sustainability Dr. D.N. Tewari, 2012-01-01 Forests are receiving unprecedented world wide attention for their crucial role in the mitigation of climate change conservation of biodiversity regulation of water cycle and maintenance of livelihoods That includes the social and economic benefits from timber fuelwood non wood forest products and wildlife among other items Apart from gainful employment and income generation potential for rural communities and self reliant subsistence of forest dwellers forests provide a range of environmental services fundamental for human wellbeing they help protect land and water resources conserve and improve soils store carbon and provide significant intrinsic and aesthetic values for people Yet the continuing deforestation and forest degradation especially in the poverty afflicted developing countries threaten the very future of their civilization while escalating the food insecurity and vulnerability of world s forest dependent poorest people Given the global prospects and problems of the planet s welfare associated with forests an effective international response is warranted without further procrastination to ensure sustainable management and conservation of the earth s forest resource assets In this context awareness raising by launching the International year of Forests 2011 IYF is timely This book on Forests for Sustainability is dedicated to the mission of the IYF and the Indian Forest Congress It is oriented to highlighting the opportunities and challenges for enhancing forestry related livelihoods market based and informational instruments for promoting the improvement of state of forests and related dimensions of the environment and livelihoods Forest Tenure Reform in Asia and Africa Randall Bluffstone,Elizabeth J.Z.

Robinson,2014-11-13 Forest tenure reforms are occurring in many developing countries around the world These reforms typically include devolution of forest lands to local people and communities which has attracted a great deal of attention and interest While the nature and level of devolution vary by country all have potentially important implications for resource allocation local ecosystem services livelihoods and climate change This book helps students researchers and professionals to understand the importance and implications of these reforms for local environmental quality climate change and the livelihoods of villagers who are often poor It is shown that local forest management can often be more successful than top down management of common pool forest resources The relationship of local forest tenure reform to the important climate change initiative REDD is also considered The work includes a number of generic chapters and also detailed case studies from China Ethiopia Kenya Nepal Tanzania and Uganda Using specific examples and a wide variety of disciplinary perspectives including quantitative and qualitative analytical methods the book provides an authoritative and critical picture of local forest reforms in light of the key challenges humanity faces today Handbook of Ecological Indicators for

Africa's tropical dry forests - time to re-engage: an agenda for priority research CIFOR,2002-01-01 State of the World's Forests 2007 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2007-01-01 This is the 7th edition of the FAO s biennial report on the state of global forest resources recent developments and emerging issues in the forest sector This edition focuses on progress towards sustainable forest management at the regional and global levels with each regional report structured according to seven thematic elements the extent of forest resources biological diversity forest health and vitality productive functions of forest resources protective functions of forest resources socio economic functions and legal policy and institutional frameworks These summaries are based on the most current information available including new data from the Global Forest Resources Assessment 2005 FRA 2005 The report goes on to consider 18 key issues in the forest sector including climate change forest landscape restoration forest tenure invasive species wildlife management and wood energy The overall conclusion is that whilst progress is being made it is very uneven with those regions with developing economies and tropical ecosystems continuing to lose forest area whilst lacking adequate institutions to reverse this trend The biggest limitation for evaluating progress is weak data with many countries lacking the financial resources to undertake national forest assessments

Sustainable Management of Tropical Forests in Central Africa Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2003-01-01 This publication contains 14 case studies which detail successful examples of sustainable forest management practices identified and demonstrate the evolution of the forest sector in Central Africa This is part of an initiative undertaken within the framework of the FAO Netherlands Partnership Programme and in close collaboration with regional and international organisations to highlight the numerous efforts undertaken in forest management over the last 20 years to promote all aspects of sustainable development
