A Forgotten Small Nationality Francis Sheehy-Skeffington, 2017-12-02 Excerpt from A Forgotten Small Nationality Ireland and the War And when peace comes Ireland with the other small nations will stand at the doors of The Haque conference and will claim her rights from the community of nations Shall peace bring freedom to Belgium and Poland perhaps to Finland and Bohemia and not to Ireland Must Irish freedom be gained in blood or will the comity of nations led by the United States shame a weakened England into putting into practice at home the principles which are so loudly trumpeted for the benefit of Germany About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www forgottenbooks com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Lost Classics Michael Ondaatje, Michael Redhill, Esta Spalding, Linda Spalding, 2011-03-30 An Anchor Books Original Seventy four distinguished writers tell personal tales of books loved and lost great books overlooked under read out of print stolen scorned extinct or otherwise out of commission Compiled by the editors of Brick A Literary Magazine Lost Classics is a reader's delight an intriguing and entertaining collection of eulogies for lost books As the editors have written in a joint introduction to the book being lovers of books we ve pulled a scent of these absences behind us our whole reading lives telling people about books that exist only on our own shelves or even just in our own memory Anyone who has ever been changed by a book will find kindred spirits in the pages of Lost Classics Each of the editors has contributed a lost book essay to this collection including Michael Ondaatje on Sri Lankan filmmaker Tissa Abeysekara s Bringing Tony Home a novella about a mutual era of childhood Also included are Margaret Atwood on sex and death in the scandalous Doctor Glas first published in Sweden in 1905 Russell Banks on the off beat travelogue Too Late to Turn Back by Barbara Greene the slightly ditzy cousin of Graham Bill Richardson on a children s book for adults by Russell Hoban Ronald Wright on William Golding's Pincher Martin Caryl Phillips on Michael Mac Liammoir s account of his experiences on the set of Orson Welles s Othello and much much more Memories of the Classical Underworld in Irish and Caribbean Literature Madeleine Scherer, 2021-09-20 Classical Memories is an intervention into the field of adaptation studies taking the example of classical reception to show that adaptation is a process that can be driven by and produce intertextual memories I see classical memories as a memory driven type of adaptation that draws on and reproduces schematic and otherwise de contextualised conceptions of antiquity and its cultural exports in broadly speaking the twentieth and twenty first centuries These memory driven adaptations differ often in significant ways from more traditional adaptations that seek to either continue or deconstruct a long running tradition that can be traced back to antiquity as well as its canonical points of reception in later ages When investigating such a popular and widespread set of narratives characters and images like those that remain of Graeco Roman antiquity terms like adaptation and reception could and should be nuanced further to allow us to understand the complex interactions between modern works and classical antiquity in more detail particularly when it pertains to postcolonial or post digital classical reception In Classical Memories I propose that understanding certain types of adaptations as intertextual memories allows us to do just that Classical Self Laurie O'Higgins, 2017-03-09 The Irish Classical Self considers the role of classical languages and learning in the construction of Irish cultural identities in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries focusing in particular on the lower ranks of society This eighteenth century notion of the classical self grew partly out of influential identity narratives developed in the seventeenth century by clerics on the European continent responding to influential critiques of the Irish as ignorant barbarians they published works demonstrating the value and antiquity of indigenous culture and made traditional annalistic claims about the antiquity of Irish and connections between Ireland and the biblical and classical world broadly known In the eighteenth century these and related ideas spread through Irish poetry which demonstrated the complex and continuing interaction of languages in the country a story of conflict but also of communication and amity The classical strain in the context of the non elite may seem like an unlikely phenomenon but the volume exposes the truth in the legend of the classical hedge schools which offered tuition in Latin and Greek to poor students for whom learning and claims to learning had particular meaning and power This volume surveys official data on schools and scholars together with literary and other narratives showing how the schools inherently transgressive because of the Penal Laws drove concerns about class and political loyalty and inspired seductive but contentious retrospectives It demonstrates that classical interests among those in the humbler walks of life ran in the same channels as interests in Irish literature and contemporary Irish poetry and demands a closer look at the phenomenon in its entirety SCIENCE FICTION Ultimate Collection: 140+ Intergalactic Adventures, Dystopian Novels, Lost World Classics & Post-Apocalyptic Stories Jules Verne, Mark Twain, Robert Louis Stevenson, Edgar Allan Poe, William Hope Hodgson, George MacDonald, Percy Greg, Jack London, Arthur Conan Doyle, Ernest Bramah, Jonathan Swift, Cleveland Moffett, William Morris, Anthony Trollope, Richard Jefferies, Samuel Butler, David Lindsay, Edward Everett Hale, Edward Bellamy, Charlotte Perkins Gilman, Edgar Wallace, Francis Bacon, Robert Cromie, Abraham Merritt, Ignatius Donnelly, Owen Gregory, H. permeated Irish political discourse in the century since 1916 The 1916 Easter Rising when Irish nationalists rose up against British imperial forces became almost instantly mythologized in Irish political memory as a turning point in the nation s history that paved the way for Irish independence Its centenary has provided a natural point for reflection on Irish politics and this volume highlights an unexplored element in Irish political discourse namely its frequent reliance on reference to and tensions with classical Greek and Roman models Topics covered include the reception and rejection of classical culture in Ireland the politics of Irish language engagement with Greek and Roman models the intersection of Irish literature with scholarship in Classics and Celtic Studies the use of classical referents to articulate political inequalities across gender sexual and class hierarchies meditations on the Northern Irish conflict through classical literature and the political implications of neoclassical material culture in Irish society As the only country colonized by Britain with a pre existing indigenous heritage of expertise in classical languages and literature postcolonial Ireland represents a unique case in the field of classical reception This book opens a window on a rich and varied dialogue between significant figures in Irish cultural history and the Greek and Roman sources that have inspired them a dialogue that is firmly rooted in Ireland s historical past and continues to be ever evolving A Smaller Classical Dictionary of Biography, Mythology, and Geography William Smith, 1878 Lost Cannibal Manifesto Joshua T.
