Social Work Supervision Carlton Munson, Ann Burack Weiss, Frances C Brennan, 2014-02-25 This unique book clearly depicts a need for supervision in gerontological social work settings and provides a framework for approaching supervision

Grounded in two distinct bodies of literature social work supervision and gerontological social work this important book thoroughly examines present gerontological practice and principles and focuses on the stages and styles of helping and teaching case workers to improve agency efficiency

Gerontological Social Work Supervision assumes some gerontological knowledge and experience with aging on the part of the supervisor yet provides an abundance of informative and practical methods to aid agency success rates with their clients

The authors discuss the supervisory position as a positive asset in all aspects of case work and management

Throughout the chapters the value of a supervisor is compounded whether the supervisor is helping a worker in seeing a broader scope of the field of social work with the elderly providing guidance through gray areas of ethics or teaching practice skills for work with individuals groups or families the need for an involved and prepared case worker supervisor becomes increasingly clear through the theories and scenarios presented

Extensive examples and helpful considerations make this an invaluable book for agency supervisors and workers

An entire chapter is devoted to providing supervision in the educational arena promoting a greater awareness of gerontological social work in students preparing for the field

The appendices are packed with lists of additional works on supervision in social work

Instruction in Social Work Settings Toba Schwaber Kerson, 2014-01-14 Field Instruction in Social Work Settings explores the relationship between field instruction and the setting in which it occurs The book asserts that certain aspects of social work including laws funding political climate organizational policies and values affect the relationship between student and field instructor and shape teaching and learning The book explores dimensions of the student field instructor relationship such as goals and expectations development of professional identity uses of the self issues of diversity authority dependency autonomy value dilemmas and the structure of supervision It presents a framework for teaching field instruction and uses the framework to explore its relevance meaning and use in the following settings perinatal AIDS program public child welfare child advocacy agency public school occupational health and safety project family service psychiatric hospital case management program for the elderly day center for the elderly Field Instruction in Social Work Settings is the only book available relating field instruction to the specific context in which it occurs It recognizes the social work field's diminished budget and increased demands and points out the critical necessity of students learning to address and manage policy and organizational issues as they develop their social work skills This book is an aid to field instructors balancing increases in enrollment and curriculum content and decreases in placements and budgets It integrates all of these concerns with field practice and seeks to provide a model for those working in the field as instructors and students Field Instruction in Social Work Settings applies classroom material to social work settings and emphasizes the value of field instruction by relating it to the branches of child welfare mental health and health care It allows the reader to integrate social work policy and advocacy with field work and it provides the reader with an appreciation of how social work and field instruction can work together directly Religion, Spirituality, and Aging Harry R Moody, 2012-12-06 Learn how to make a more positive impact with your social work with the aged Religion is an important coping mechanism for many aging adults Religion Spirituality and Aging A Social Work Perspective presents the latest research that shows how religion and spirituality can improve quality of life for elders Respected social work researchers and scholars provide insight and practical methods for fostering positive aging while also considering how spirituality and religion can affect practitioners themselves The full range of advantages and ethical implications are discussed in clear detail from a social work viewpoint Case studies plainly illustrate the positive impact that the inclusion of spirituality and religion in an aging person's life may have on their physical and mental welfare. Organized social work in the early twentieth century actively tried to distance itself from its roots as a form of religious charity in favor of becoming a scientific and professional endeavor. Religion, Spirituality, and Aging once again bridges the gap between social work and spiritual matters by presenting penetrating articles that discuss the issues of the aging soul while examining ways to improve care. Creative strategies are offered to contribute to the spiritual side of aging while considering every implication and ethical question. The compilation is extensively referenced and includes helpful figures and tables to clearly illustrate data and ideas. Religion, Spirituality, and Aging discusses the latest social work trends and attitudes toward spirituality, prayer, meditation, and acts of altruism as interventions; an empirical study of how social workers use religion and spirituality as an intervention; ethical considerations and best practices; religion and spirituality during long-term care; the Postcards to God project; dreams and their relationship to the search for meaning in later life; a spiritual approach to positive aging through autobiography; dementia and spirituality; creating new rituals for sacred aging; spiritual master Henri Nouwen's principles of aging; and his approaches to caring for older people. An interview study on elders' spirituality and the changes manifested in their views of religion. Religion, Spirituality, and Aging is a remarkable reminder that elders are our future selves. This erudite, well-reasoned examination of aging and spirituality from a social work perspective is crucial reading for social workers, human service professionals who work with the aged, and gerontology scholars.

Social Work and Health Care in an Aging Society Barbara Berkman, Linda Harootyan, 2003-06-01. This book places significant issues related to the health, mental health, and well-being of older adults and their caregivers within the context of social work service delivery. By presenting the research of social work scholars, all experts in specific research areas, the editors clarify the value that social work brings to the larger realm of health care for older adults and their families. Special consideration is given to such issues as case management, urban African American elders, grandmothers raising grandchildren, aging persons with developmental disabilities, home health care, and more. For further information on Dr. Berkman, please click here: Practical Psychiatry in the Long-Term Care Home. David K. Conn, Nathan Herrmann, Alanna Kaye, Dmytro Rewilak, Barbara Schogt, 2007-05-01. This is a practical book aimed at providing training and guidance for staff members in long-term care facilities. The goal is to help staff understand and solve the wide range of psychiatric and behavioral problems which are encountered on a day-to-day basis. Numerous clinical illustrations are presented. This material is invaluable for all team members: nurses, physicians, social workers, psychologists, and occupational therapists. It is especially helpful for frontline health aids who work most closely with the residents and for supervisors and administrators. As a result, it also serves as a useful tool for teaching students. The emphasis is on training all members of the staff to provide the highest quality of care in the most cost-effective and productive manner. The authors have worked together for many years at the Baycrest Centre for Geriatric Care, a large university-affiliated, multilevel geriatric center which has an international reputation for its excellence in the care of the elderly

The Oxford Handbook of Social Work in Health and Aging

Daniel B. Kaplan, Barbara Berkman, 2016 This Second Edition of the Handbook addresses the evolving interdisciplinary health care context and the broader social work practice environment as well as advances in the knowledge base which guides social work service delivery in health and aging This includes recent enhancements in the theories of gerontology innovations in clinical interventions and major developments in the social policies that structure and finance health care and senior services In addition the policy reforms of the 2010 Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act set in motion a host of changes in the United States healthcare system with potentially profound implications for the programs and services which provide care to older adults and their families In this volume the most experienced and prominent gerontological health care scholars address a variety of populations that social workers serve and the arenas in which they practice followed by detailed recommendations of best practices for an array of physical and mental health conditions The volume s unprecedented attention to diversity health care trends and implications for practice research policy make the publication a major event in the field of gerontological social work This is a Must Read for all social work social work educators practitioners and students interested in older adults and their families
