Popkewitz,2005-12-10 This collection includes original studies from scholars from thirteen nations who explore the epistemic features figured in John Dewey s writings in his discourses on public schooling Pragmatism was one of the weapons used in the struggles about the development of the child who becomes the future citizen The significance of Dewey in the book is not about Dewey as the messenger of pragmatism but in locating different cultural political and educational terrains in which debates about modernity the modern self and the making of the citizen occurred Lower Technical Education in the Netherlands, 1798-1993 Jan Wolhuis,1999 Sport, Health and the Body in the History of Education Mark Freeman,2016-04-14 Historians in recent years have paid considerable attention to sport and leisure in the past and historians of education are no exception The chapters in this book showcase the breadth and depth of scholarship in this area bringing new perspectives to bear on the history of physical education in several different European countries Ranging from schoolgirl cricket in early postwar England to the varying approaches to physical education in the nineteenth century Netherlands the contributions all emphasise the importance of physical education to wider conceptions of education for citizenship A number of chapters tackle issues in gender history while others focus on the effects often unintended of policy makers and the conflicts that could arise from the imposition of new physical education curricula Covering England Scotland France Germany the Netherlands and Greece this book features the work of both established and emerging scholars and is an important contribution to the historiography of both education and sport This book was originally published as a special issue of History of Education Op eigen vleugels Mark D'hoker, Marc Depaepe,2004 De tijdspiegel ,1857 Geschiedenis der Nederlandsche Pædagogiek in voorlezingen ... Popkewitz,David F. Labaree,2011-05-09 This book is a comparative history that explores the social cultural and political formation of the modern nation through the construction of public schooling It asks how modern school systems arose in a variety of different republics and non republics across four continents during the period from the late eighteenth century to the early twentieth century The authors begin with the republican preoccupation with civic virtue the need to overcome self interest in order to take up the common interest which requires a form of education that can produce individuals who are capable of self guided rational action for the public good They then ask how these educational preoccupations led to the emergence of modern school systems in a disparate array of national contexts even those that were not republican By examining historical changes in republicanism across time and space the authors explore central epistemologies that connect the modern individual to community and citizenship through the medium of schooling Ideas of the individual were reformulated in the nineteenth century in reaction to new ideas about justice social order and progress and the organization and pedagogy of the school turned these changes into a way to transform the self into the citizen
