Knowledge Jon Koomey, 2008 Mastering the art of problem solving takes more than proficiency with basic calculations it requires understanding how people use information recognizing the importance of ideology learning the art of storytelling and acknowledging the important distinction between facts and values Intended for professors managers entrepreneurs and students this guide addresses these and other essential skills With clear prose quotations and exercises for solving problems in the real world this book serves as an ideal training manual for those who are new to or intimidated by quantitative analysis and an excellent refresher for those who have more experience but want to improve the quality of their data the clarity of their graphics and the cogency of their arguments Publisher's description Map Librarianship Susan Elizabeth Ward

Aber, Jeremy Aber, 2016-11-04 Map Librarianship identifies basic geoliteracy concepts and enhances reference and instruction skills by providing details on finding downloading delivering and assessing maps remotely sensed imagery and other geospatial resources and services primarily from trusted government sources By offering descriptions of traditional maps geographic information systems GIS remote sensing and other geospatial technologies the book provides a timely and practical guide for the map and geospatial librarian to blend confidence in traditional library skill sets Includes rarely discussed concepts of citing and referencing maps and geospatial data fair use and copyright Creates an awareness and appreciation of existing print map collections while building digital stewardship with surrogate map and aerial imagery collections Provides an introduction to the theory and applications of GIS remote sensing participatory neogeography and neocartography practices and other geospatial technologies Includes a list of geospatial resources with descriptions and illustrations of commonly used map types and formats online geospatial data sources and an introduction to the most commonly used geospatial software packages available on both desktop and mobile platforms Archival Storytelling

Sheila Curran Bernard, Kenn Rabin, 2020-04-28 Fully revised and updated Archival Storytelling second edition is a timely pragmatic look at the use of audiovisual materials available to filmmakers and scholars from the earliest photographs of the 19th century to the work of media makers today Whether you're a top Hollywood filmmaker or a first time documentarian at some point you are going to want to find use and license third party materials images audio or music that you yourself did not create to use them in your work This book explains what's involved in researching and licensing visuals and music and exactly what media makers need to know when filming in a world crowded with rights protected images and sounds Filled with insights from filmmakers archivists and intellectual property experts this second edition defines key terms such as copyright fair use public domain and orphan works It guides readers through the complex archival process and challenges them to become not only archival users but also archival and copyright activists This book is an essential resource for both students and professionals from seasoned filmmakers to those creating their first projects offering practical advice for how to effectively and ethically draw on the wealth of cultural materials that surround us After the Interview in Community Oral History Nancy MacKay, Mary Kay Quinlan, Barbara W Sommer, 2013-02-28 Community projects often falter after the interviews are completed This final book of the five volume Community Oral History Toolkit explains the importance of processing and archiving oral histories and takes the reader through all the steps required for good archiving and for concluding the oral history project so that it is preserved and accessible for future generations The authors give special attention to record keeping systems and repositories and provide several examples from actual projects to ground the information in practical terms Charts checklists and sample forms also help the reader apply concepts to practice Volume 5 finishes with examples of creative ways community projects have used oral histories such as performances exhibitions celebrations websites and more in order to promote history and engage the community

Copyright as a Constraint on Creating Technological Value Kasper Drazewski, 2024-01-19 Can we regulate something that doesn't exist yet Can Europe create its own Silicon Valley Who gets to create technological value in today's world Whatever happened to the once flourishing idea of rags to riches Will new and exciting innovations only ever come from big tech companies Can the EU establish its own flexible framework for boosting innovation e.g. by facilitating the transformative use of technologies and data This book seeks to answer these questions by exploring the differences in copyright culture in Europe and the United States with its flexible fair use framework The findings are anything but obvious and decades of case law on both sides of the Atlantic tell a story of judges going to great lengths to deal with new challenges while navigating the imperfections of statutory law both where it is too broadly formulated and where it is too prescriptive How can the population's creative potential best be fostered What do software innovations have in common with the evolution of living organisms What are the vulnerabilities of distributed creativity Answers are sought in the processes that came into being during the early years of the digital revolution and were then forced to take a back seat as control of the means of production was increasingly placed in the hands of tech companies The findings and insights presented here are highly relevant for today's digital policymaking Market concentration processes in innovation haven't ceased they are ongoing And in an age where data-driven services are creating and reinforcing global oligopolies the question posed by the U.S. Supreme Court in Google v. Oracle is now more relevant than ever who should hold the keys to digital innovation

Introduction to Community Oral History Mary Kay Quinlan, Nancy MacKay, Barbara W Sommer, 2016-06-16 The first book of the five volume Community Oral History Toolkit sets the stage for an oral history project by placing community projects into a larger context of related fields and laying a sound theoretical foundation It introduces the field of oral history to newcomers with discussions of the historical process the evolution of oral history as a research methodology the nature of community and the nature of memory It also elaborates on best practices for community history projects and presents a detailed overview of the remaining volumes of the Toolkit which cover Planning Management Interviewing and After the Interview processing and curation Introduction to Community Oral History features a comprehensive glossary index bibliography and references as well as numerous sample forms that are needed throughout the process of conducting community oral history projects Specialized Legal Research ,
