SmartYellow™ J.A. Christy, 2015-08-07 SmartYellow is the story of a young girl Katrina Williams who finds herself on the wrong side of social services After becoming pregnant with only a slight notion of the father's identity she is disowned by her parents and goes to live on a social housing estate Before long she is being bullied by a gang involved in criminal activity and anti social behaviour Seeking help from the authorities she is persuaded to return to the estate to work as part of Operation Schrödinger alongside a surveillance specialist But she soon realises that Operation Schrödinger is not what it seems Exploring themes of social inequity and scientific responsibility J A Christy's first speculative fiction novel leads her heroine Katrina to understand how probability hope and empathy play a huge part in the flow of life and are absent in the stagnation of mere survival As readers we also start to question how we would know if the power of the State to support and care for the weak had become corrupted into the oppression of all those who do not fit society's norms SmartYellow offers a worryingly plausible and chilling glimpse into an alternate Britain For the sake of order and for the benefit of more fortunate members of society those seen as socially undesirable are marked with SmartYellow making it easier for them to be controlled and maintained in a state of fruitless inactivity Writer J A Christy turns an understanding and honest eye not only onto the weak who have failed to cope with life but also onto those who ruthlessly exploit them for their own ends At times tense and threatening at times tender and insightful SmartYellow is a rewarding and thought provoking read Candid Eyes Jim Leach, Jeannette Sloniowski, 2003-01-01 Documentaries have dominated Canada's film production and have been crucial to the formation of Canada's cinematic identity This volume will be an indispensable companion for anyone seriously interested in Canadian film studies Contemporary Debates in Social Sciences Esma Torun Çelik, Şenel Gerçek, 2018-09-30
