Hussain, 2012-12-05 Depicting NAFTA to be but a stepping stone rather than final product of regional economic integrative efforts a chapter specific 15 year assessment conveys the upsides and downsides of North America's Camelot moment

International Trade in Gambling Services Madalina Diaconu, 2010-01-01 The driving concept of the book's analysis whether global or regional is to examine the pertinent international trade regulations in services in the light of the very special nature of gambling North American Regionalism and Global Spread I. Hussain, R. Dominguez, 2015-02-19 Was the 1993 North American Free Trade Agreement NAFTA designed as a definitive trade agreement or as a stepping stone This book reviews NAFTA's performances on trade investment intellectual property rights dispute settlement as well as environmental and labor side agreements within a theoretical construct Political Theory of Global Justice Luis Cabrera, 2006-02-03 This book offers a moral argument for world government claiming that not only do we have strong obligations to people elsewhere but that accountable integration among nation states will help ensure all persons can lead a decent life Globalization and Local Adaptation in International Trade Law Pitman B. Potter, 2011-01-01 The trade principles of Western liberal democracies are at the core of international trade law regimes and standards Are non Western societies adopting international standards or are they adapting them to local norms and cultural values This volume employs the paradigm of selective adaptation to explain the reception of international trade law in the Pacific Rim Drawing on examples from China Japan Thailand and North America the contributors show that formal acceptance of international trade standards does not necessarily translate into uniform enforcement and acceptance at the local level They offer compelling evidence that non uniform compliance will be a legitimate outcome of the globalization of international trade law

Reconciling Environment and Trade Edith Brown Weiss, John Howard Jackson, Nathalie Bernasconi-Osterwalder, 2008 The volume focuses on five cases all of which remain cornerstone trade environment cases of the WTO The subject matter of these cases reflects five basic issues in the clash between trade and the environment public health air pollution ozone depletion food safety destruction of endangered species and biosafety These five issues surface dramatically in international disputes over tobacco reformulated gasoline beef growth hormones commercial fishing methods and genetically modified organisms In the second edition of this book Nathalie Bernasconi Osterwalder joins the original editors to update and contextualize the five case studies in new introductions to each section These introductions provide an overview of developments since the first edition including subsequent related cases The second edition also includes updated bibliographic materials In their penetrating analyses of these cases and their vast implications the authors take into account the entire disciplines of both trade law and environmental law noting especially the points of friction between the multilateral instruments in each field and the developing jurisprudence of the WTO Dispute Settlement with regard to the exceptions specified in Article XX of the GATT The articulated standpoints of all parties governments and NGOs on both sides of the controversy are probed for agendas whether stated or unstated No one involved in international trade or environmental activism can afford to ignore this vital publication The information it provides on WTO jurisprudence on current and pending environmental initiatives on the science behind the disputes no less than the fresh and convincing analysis it holds forth make it an essential tool for understanding some of the most crucial issues in international law today Searching the Law, 3d Edition Frank Bae, Edward Bander, Francis Doyle, Joel Fishman, Paul Richert, 2021-12-13 NAFTA Ralph Haughwout Folsom, Michael W. Gordon, David Lopez, 2000 Community, Diffusion, & North American Expansiveness Imtiaz Hussain, 2008 The United States, the European Union, and the Globalization of World Trade Thomas C. Fischer, 2000-04-30 Professor Fischer presents a comprehensive overview of global trade at the start of a new century from a national regional and international viewpoint He looks closely at the four dominant and competing economic systems the United States the European Union Japan and China and argues that the traditional we win you lose national trade paradigm has been replaced by one that is more collaborative one that is leaning toward de facto world governance He compares foreigners attitudes toward trade and markets with our own using four economic models that typify world trade today He examines the interface between national regional and international trading systems and between business and government then at the prospect of global trade management in different trade sectors under the GATT WTO and other organizations The result is a provocative discussion of global trade today Professor Fischer makes it clear that the United States needs allies Though its influence in the world trade arena will continue America s hegemony has ended The European Union is America s most obvious ally but it has many problems and ambitions of its own The North American Free Trade Agreement has solidified the North American market but it may isolate and lose South America while Japan China Russia and others are left to develop alliances of their own All these factors raise important global questions among them Can American capitalism prevail Should the United States proceed unilaterally as it has so often Or are regional and multinational arrangements preferable If there is further globalization as seems inevitable and if American influence is on the wane what group or organization will lead To explore these questions and provide the beginnings of answers Professor Fischer uses his four competing economic systems and handicaps the process country by country sector by sector with particular attention to transatlantic relations

Theology in Motion Aimee Allison Hein, 2024-11-19 Christian responses to global migration are as loud as they are numerous With voices evoking either the injunction to love the stranger or a commitment to the rule of law this polarized cacophony has become yet another theater in the culture war But migration is not an idea It is not an abstraction Migration is about people present in our midst or encountered at our edges Their presence at our borders forces us to consider the core values we want most to uphold and the stories that taught us those values in the first place In the United States our most popular origin stories tell of a nation that fought off tyranny and committed itself to liberty democracy and the dream of an unencumbered pursuit of happiness of a life lived on one's own terms But is this the whole story Whose perspectives have shaped the stories we tell and which perspectives have been ignored Theology in Motion tracks the story of the United States how it formed and how it came to dominate the land that now rests between its borders to consider more fully what type of nation the US has been and the type of global neighbor it has chosen to be From a Christian moral perspective this history helps us look to the future by analyzing how our past choices have left us with present responsibilities Taking these responsibilities seriously and pursuing more just global relationships provides a way forward in which all people might participate and to which Christians are called
