

Fools of Time

The background is a rich, abstract landscape painting. The sky is a deep, dark blue with a large, bright white full moon in the upper right. A single, large red teardrop is depicted falling from the letter 'i' in the word 'Time'. The landscape below is composed of layered, horizontal bands of color, including shades of purple, pink, orange, yellow, and red, suggesting rolling hills or a desert at sunset. In the foreground, there are patches of green and blue, possibly representing vegetation or water. The overall style is expressive and painterly, with visible brushstrokes and a vibrant color palette.

Plato, Time, and Education Brian P. Hendley, 1988-01-01 This collection of original essays pays tribute to the man by exploring topics that have interested him through a long and productive career Plato's mathematical imagery his theory of perception the role of engineering techne in the origin of Greek science time and free will in Kant Whitehead as teacher of teachers mapping friendships Kierkegaard and the necessity of forgery These and other topics are given fresh treatments meant to stimulate further philosophical thinking in the spirit of Brumbaugh himself

Transgressive Romanticism Larry H. Peer, 2018-04-18 Romanticism is an intuitive grasp of the self and the other in an interdependent imperative non systematic transcendent radically individuated and endlessly interconnective The set of norms Romanticism represents and broadcasts therefore lends itself particularly well to interdisciplinary and cross linguistic study essentially demanding a view coming from and constructed out of more than one discourse field These norms radically transgress not only the cultural and literary inheritance of thinkers and artists beginning in the late eighteenth century but do so in a transnational and comparative way unique in Western history This collection of essays bringing together established scholars and newer academic voices offers fresh perspectives on what Romanticism thought itself to be by suggesting spaces in Romanticism studies needing negotiation and elaboration Presenting a protocol that escapes the circular referentiality of Romanticism studies typically limited to one academic discipline or one language area this volume works through topics and ideas including Hegelian reflections lyric poetry stage drama music political implications and even vampires outlaws and zombies
