Aeschylus's text Jacobs reveals that psychoanalytic theorists have unwittingly reproduced the denial of Metis in their own critiques. This repression, which can be found in the work of Sigmund Freud and Melanie Klein as well as in the work of more contemporary theorists such as André Green and Luce Irigaray, has resulted in both an incomplete analysis of Oresteia and an inability to account for the fantasies and unconscious processes that fall outside the oedipal patricidal paradigm. By bringing the story of Athena's mother Metis to the forefront, Jacobs challenges the primacy of the Oedipus myth in Western culture and psychoanalysis and introduces a bold new theory of matricide and maternal law. She finds that the Metis myth exists in cryptic forms within Aeschylus's text, uncovering what she terms the latent content of the Oresteian myth and argues that the occlusion of the law of the mother is proof of the patriarchal structures underlying our contemporary social and psychic realities. Jacobs's work not only provides new insight into the Oresteian trilogy but also advances a postpatriarchal model of the symbolic order that has strong ramifications for psychoanalysis, feminism, and theories of representation as well as for clinical practice and epistemology.

Prophecy, Populism, Propaganda in the Octavia Penguin Classics Penguin (Firm), 1999 "Nancy Spero, Encounters" Joanna S. Walker, 2017-07-05. An original and valuable intervention in the fast-growing field of feminist and new art histories, Nancy Spero's Encounters offers a sophisticated interpretation of the work of a highly original and under-represented woman artist. The study proposes a new model of comparatism within the field of visual studies, mirroring and complementing Spero's dialogic manner of working. Basing her analyses on extensive research and multiple face-to-face interviews with the artist, Joanna Walker examines how a selection of the artists and art forms Spero cited offer significant points of comparison with her work. Walker presents Spero's encounters with the art of Ana Mendieta, with the poetry of the American poet H.D. with the dance of Isadora Duncan, and turning the lens back on Spero as subject with the portraits of the artist by Abe Frajndlich. Also included are transcripts of Walker's interviews with the artist and a listing of the books contained in Spero's personal library, which informed her practice. Not only does this book cast well-deserved light on an artist who spent most of her career on the margins of the mainstream, it reverses genealogies and revises the traditional remit of the art historical monograph through both its structure and content.
