Fractures du genou Christian Fontaine, Alain Vannineuse, 2005-06-29 L'ambition de cet ouvrage est de faire un bilan complet mais pratique de la prise en charge des fractures du genou et de leurs complications. L'équipedactionnelle regroupe des spécialistes internationaux dont beaucoup participent au groupe AO. La stratégie d'imagerie, le bilan, la classification, les variants anatomiques sont passés en revue pour chaque localisation anatomique. Dans la prise en charge thérapeutique, toutes les modalités sont développées sans exclusive : les implants classiques, les enclouages, les techniques mini-invasives y compris la place du fixateur externe et des nouveautés dont le LISS. Elles sont soumises à une analyse critique pour essayer de dégager les meilleures options en fonction des indications et des situations.

Biomécanique de l'épaule P. Blaimont, A. Taheri, 2006-08-15 Une connaissance approfondie de l'anatomie et de la biomécanique articulaire permet d'aborder rationnellement la pathologie des affections dégénératives ou d'usure de l'épaule ainsi que leurs traitements préventifs ou précoces sous forme d'une kinésithérapie spécifique ou d'interventions chirurgicales plus conservatrices. Cette connaissance est utile également pour imaginer une issue logique des situations inhabituelles non répertoriées voire indispensable dans la conception d'équivalents fonctionnels que sont les arthroplasties aux différents stades de la dégradation articulaire. Cet ouvrage est le fruit d'une collaboration étroite entre un chirurgien et un kinésithérapeute qui se sont efforcés durant quinze ans de trouver des réponses, sinon des explications plausibles, aux questions que leur posait la pratique professionnelle quotidienne. En dehors d'une synthèse de notions classiques d'anatomie fonctionnelle et de biomécanique de l'épaule, les auteurs proposent de la théorie aux applications une vision souvent personnelle, une redéfinition fonctionnelle de la coiffe des rotateurs, une conception pathologique originale du conflit antéro-supérieur de l'épaule, différente de celle de Neer, une approche clinique des contraintes qui pèsent sur la gléno-humérale ainsi qu'une théorie pathologique de l'omarthrose qui engendre une synthèse du traitement conservateur par harmonisation ou compensation musculaire sur la base des données fondamentales qui ont été exposées. Le Professeur Blaimont, titulaire honoraire de l'enseignement d'orthopédie-traumatologie à l'université libre de Bruxelles (ULB) et cofondateur du centre interdisciplinaire de biomécanique osseuse (CIBO), est l'auteur de nombreuses publications concernant des travaux expérimentaux de biomécanique ostéo-articulaire réalisés pour la plupart en collaboration avec le Professeur Halleux, ingénieur et directeur du laboratoire de Résistance des matériaux ULB.
