Lesser Son David R. There is general agreement in the field of Biblical studies that study of the formation of the Pentateuch is in disarray. In this book David M. Isaac Agbenohevi, 2024-02-28. This book is the fruit of a dissertation which seeks to get beyond the impasse in the modern interpretation of the Sign of Jonah Traditions by building upon the achieved results of previous studies, both diachronic and synchronic, examining some Jewish Writings from Second Temple Judaism, the historical ambience of the Synoptic tradition, engaging recently refined concepts and methods of literary narrative analyses such as the use of synkrisis, and utilizing the revised understanding of typology in examining the specific role of Jonah in Luke's Christology. Applying the redactional critical approach, typological exegesis, and literary narrative analysis, it examines three specific questions: 1. what is the appropriate image of Jonah in Second Temple Judaism, historically; 2. what is the specific form of the Sign of Jonah, saying in the gospel narratives, literary; and 3. how does Jonah's figure contribute to Lucan Christology, theological. The entire study concludes with some revealing elements which shed light on the questions which underpin the dissertation: 1. Jonah's figure was replete and frequently invoked in Second Temple Judaism; his fish ordeal, preaching in Nineveh, death experience, considered as a sign, commonplace recourse in crisis situation; and 2. Sign of Jonah and Solomon/Queen traditions pieced together with the Beelzebul controversy are interwoven in narration to make a syncretic typological correlation between Jesus and Jonah, prophetic character in person and activity, and bring a clear definition to the enigmatic logion to semeion Iona. 3. Jonah's figure in the context of Luke's Christology serves as an element of both continuity/consistency with OT tradition and discontinuity/redefinition. Jesus is the fulfillment and plenitude of OT tradition.
