Women, Power, and Politics Lori Cox Han,Caroline Heldman,2023-05-29 As women continue to gain more prominence as active participants in the American political and electoral process as voters candidates and officeholders it becomes even more important to understand how gender shapes political power and the distribution of resources within our society There are many areas of research in a variety of disciplines focusing on women gender and feminism and many of them intersect with a discussion of women in American politics Our goal in writing this book is to present these topics in an interesting lively and timely way through an analysis of contemporary political gender related issues We hope to have provided just enough of an historical context to get students interested in the evolution of women in American political life and enough theory and analysis to inspire them to seek more information and knowledge about gender justice today The study of women and U S politics as well as the role gender plays in the broader political context has emerged as a powerful voice within the discipline of Political Science in the last few decades As such we hope that readers find this text a useful addition to the ongoing dialogue while instructors find it to be a useful pedagogical tool for their courses on women gender and politics

Claiming Her Place in Congress Katherine H. Adams,2019-07-22 The fall of 2018 saw an unprecedented number of women elected to Congress changing estimates of how long it might take to achieve equal representation For the first time women candidates used techniques honed by America's political families which have helped women enter politics since 1916 Drawing on extensive research and conversations with successful women politicians this book offers a history of the political opportunities provided through familial connections Family networks have a long history of enabling women to run for political office There is much for the latest group of candidates to emulate Women of India Harshida Pandit,2017-04-07
