P. Allison,1997 These efforts have shed light not only on the history of the villa itself but also on the shifting focus of power over the course of a millennium at the sites associated with Castle Copse in the immediate region the Iron Age hillfort of Chisbury a post Roman settlement and a Saxon village destined to become an urban center A Fenland Garden Francis Pryor,2023-07-06 The story of how Francis Pryor created a haven for people plants and wildlife in a remote corner of the fens A Fenland Garden is the story of the creation of a garden in a complex and fragile English landscape the Fens of southern Lincolnshire by a writer who has a very particular relationship with landscape and the soil thanks to his distinguished career as an archaeologist and discoverer of some of England s earliest field systems It describes the imagining planning and building of a garden in an unfamiliar and sometimes hostile place and the challenges setbacks and joys these processes entail This is a narrative of the making of a garden but it is also about reclaiming a patch of ground for nature and wildlife of repairing the damage done to a small slice of Fenland landscape by decades of intensive farming A Fenland Garden is informed by the empirical wisdom of a practising gardener and archaeologist and by his deep understanding of the soil landscape and weather of the region Francis s account of the development of the garden is counterpointed by fascinating nuggets of Fenland lore and history as well as by vignettes of the plantsman s trials and tribulations as he works an exceptionally demanding plot of land Above all this is the story of bringing something beautiful into being of embedding a garden in the local landscape and thereby of deepening and broadening the idea of home Communities and Connections Chris Gosden,2007-11-08 A collection of essays by many of the leading specialists in the archaeology of the Iron Age and early Roman periods in Britain and western Europe paying tribute to Professor Sir Barry Cunliffe The subjects covered range over more than a thousand years and from the Atlantic coasts to the eastern Mediterranean The Tree Experts Mark Johnston,2021-08-02 Trees are now in the public eye as never before The threat of tree diseases the felling of street trees and the challenge of climate change are just some of the issues that have put trees in the media spotlight At the same time the trees in our parks gardens and streets are a vital resource that can deliver environmental social and economic benefits that make our towns and cities attractive green and healthy places Ever since Roman times when amenity trees were first planted in Britain caring for those trees has required specialist skills This is mainly because of the challenges of successfully integrating large trees into the urban environment and the risks involved in working with them often at height and in close proximity to people buildings and roads But who are the people with the specialist expertise to care for our amenity trees While professionals such as horticulturists landscape architects conservationists and foresters have a role to play it is the arboriculturists who are the tree experts For centuries arboriculture was often synonymous with forestry or considered an aspect of horticulture until it emerged in the nineteenth century as a separate discipline There are now some 22 000 people employed in Britain s arboricultural industry including practical tree surgeons and arborists local authority tree officers and arboricultural consultants This is the first book to trace the history of Britain s professional tree experts from the Roman arborator to the modern chartered arboriculturist It also discusses the influences from continental Europe and North America that have helped to shape British arboriculture over the centuries The Tree Experts will have particular appeal to those interested in the natural and built environment heritage landscapes social history and the history of gardening
