Rethinking Racism Jennifer Seibel Trainor,2008-11-04 In Rethinking Racism Emotion Persuasion and Literacy Education in an All White High School Jennifer Seibel Trainor proposes

a new understanding of the roots of racism one that is based on attention to the role of emotion and the dynamics of persuasion This one year ethnographic study argues against previous assumptions about racism demonstrating instead how rhetoric and emotion as well as the processes and culture of schools are involved in the formation of racist beliefs Telling the story of a year spent in an all white high school Trainor suggests that contrary to prevailing opinion racism often does not stem from ignorance a lack of exposure to other cultures or the desire to protect white privilege Rather the causes of racism are frequently found in the realms of emotion and language as opposed to rational calculations of privilege or political ideologies Trainor maintains that racist assertions often originate not from prejudiced attitudes or beliefs but from metaphorical connections between racist ideas and nonracist values These values are reinforced even promoted by schooling via emotioned rules in place in classrooms in tacit unexamined lessons rituals and practices that exert a powerful though largely unacknowledged persuasive force on student feelings and beliefs about race Through in depth analysis of established anti racist pedagogies student behavior and racial discourses Trainor illustrates the manner in which racist ideas are subtly upheld through social and literacy education in the classroom and are thus embedded in the infrastructures of schools themselves It is the emotional and rhetorical framework of the classroom that lends racism its compelling power in the minds of students even as teachers endeavor to address the issue of cultural discrimination This effort is continually hindered by an incomplete understanding of the function of emotions in relation to antiracist persuasion and cannot be remedied until the root of the problem is addressed Rethinking Racism calls for a fresh approach to understanding racism and its causes offering crucial insight into the formative role of schooling in the perpetuation of discriminatory beliefs In addition this highly readable narrative draws from white students own stories about the meanings of race in their learning and their lives It thus provides new ways of thinking about how researchers and teachers represent whiteness Blending narrative with more traditional forms of ethnographic analysis Rethinking Racism uncovers the ways in which constructions of racism originate in literacy research and in our classrooms and how these constructions themselves can limit the rhetorical positions students enact Millgate and Playgoer ,1921 Brilliant Activities for Reading Comprehension Year 4 Charlotte

Makhlouf,2015-12-02 The importance of being able to read for meaning should never be underestimated The ability to decode text is not enough It is vital that children understand what they are reading More importantly it is fundamental that they enjoy what they are reading so that they grow up to become lifelong readers The passages in the Brilliant Activities for Reading Comprehension series are designed to do just that They provide children with a variety of engaging enjoyable texts that will grab their attention and indeed their teacher s attention as well The types of comprehension passages range from newspaper articles and dialogues to plays stories and poems They gradually increase in difficulty as you progress through the book and through the series encouraging children to develop their ability to read for meaning and use a range of strategies to engage with the text Tasks range from simple factual recall and vocabulary work to more open ended questions enabling the reader to provide a more personal response The cross curricular activities provide a wealth of ideas for extending the passages further and are ideal for fast finishers

The Comedies of William Shakespeare: Edited with Introductions and Notes ... by J. O. Halliwell, Esq. Reprinted from the American Edition William Shakespeare,1854 Novel Minds R. Tierney-Hynes,2015-12-11 Eighteenth century philosophy owes much to the early novel Using the figure of the romance reader this book tells a new story of eighteenth century reading The impressionable mind and mutable identity of the romance reader haunt eighteenth century definitions of the self and the seductions of fiction insist on making an appearance in philosophy

The Conservator, 1911 Friction Is Fiction: the Future of Content, Media and Business (Black and White Edition) Gerd Leonhard, 2010-05-06 Futurist and Thought Leader Gerd Leonhard www.gerdleonhard.com

mediafuturist.com shares his thoughts on the Future of Content Media and Business Friction is Fiction presents a constantly updated compilation of Gerd's best essays, writings, and most popular blog posts. The central theme is that the Internet has completely disrupted the traditional notion of generating higher income by simply taking advantage of possible friction points and hurdles within transactions or business processes, i.e., by controlling the people formerly known as consumers. The Future is all about winning the trust and turning attention into revenues.
