Conversations with Barry Lopez William E. Tydeman, 2013      Conversations with Barry Lopez William E.

Tydeman, 2013-08-26 Known as an advocate for the endangered earth Barry Lopez is one of America's preeminent writers on nature. This invigorating book invites readers to sit down with Lopez and his friend William E. Tydeman to engage with their conversations about activism, the life of the mind, and all things literary. Even readers who think they know everything there is to know about Lopez will learn much from this richly informative book, both from Tydeman's concise biography of Lopez and from the dialogue about Lopez's ideas and experiences. The three interviews and Tydeman's reflections on other discussions with Lopez gathered here address nature, human beings' relationship to the land, the tension between political activism and the life of the intellectual, memory and reconciliation, the artist's social responsibility, and the business of authorship. What is the nature of the relationship between the writer and the reader? Lopez asks. It's reciprocal, contractual, and moral. Lopez's thoughts on the importance of authenticity will resonate with every reader or writer, as will his deep commitment to story in all his work. He and Tydeman engage in illuminating exchanges on style and genre, the publication process, and relationships among authors, editors, and publishers. Both men are interested in photography and its relationship to writing, a subject on which they offer thought-provoking comments. A comprehensive annotated bibliography of Lopez's writings by archivist Diane Warner rounds out the volume.

Other Country James Perrin Warren, 2015-12-03 The award-winning American environmental writer Barry Lopez has traveled extensively in remote and populated parts of the world. Lopez's fiction and nonfiction focus on the relationship between the physical landscape and human culture, posing abiding questions about ethics, intimacy, and place. Other Country presents a full-scale treatment of Lopez's work. James Perrin Warren examines the relationship between Lopez's writing and the work of several contemporary artists, composers, and musicians whose works range from landscape photography, painting, and graphic arts to earth art, ceramics, and avant-garde music. The author demonstrates Lopez's role in creating this community of artists who have led cultural change and shows that Lopez's writing and his engagement with the natural world creates an other country by redefining boundaries, rediscovering a place, and renewing our perceptions of landscapes. Warren's critique examines manuscripts and typescripts from the 1960s to the present, interviews with Lopez conducted from 2008 to 2013, and interviews with artists. Part 1 focuses on the relationship between Lopez's storytelling, which he calls a conversation with the land, and Robert Adams's landscape photography. For both Lopez and Adams, a worthy artistic expression serves the cultural memory of a community, reminding us how to behave properly toward other people and the land. Part 2 looks at the collaborative friendship of Lopez and visual artist Alan Magee, tracking the development of Lopez's short stories through a consideration of Magee's career. Part 3 moves farther afield, discussing Lopez's relationship to Richard Long's earth art, Richard Rowland's ceramics, and John Luther Adams's soundscapes. Other Country reveals the dynamic relationships between Lopez, considered by many the most important

Ethics of Alaska Travel Writing since 1959 Benjamin Ferguson, 2025-08-28 This book digs into environmental themes in Alaska travel writing since U S statehood in 1959 drawing on the works of six authors including Barry Lopez Jonathan Raban Tom Lowenstein and others Each work though disparate in style advocates for the empowerment of the Alaska Native people by connecting not only with diverse perspectives but with the lived realities in the geographical spaces that have formed them In analyzing how these authors have succeeded in depicting the realities of alterities and where they have perhaps fallen short by more recent standards we may begin to carve out a system of ethics This is important as fresh waves of travel writers search for their own place in the environmental conversations surrounding the ever evolving 21st century Arctic and its place on the front lines of a changing climate
