Ocean Biogeochemistry

Michael J.R. Fasham, 2012-12-06 Oceans account for 50% of the anthropogenic CO₂ released into the atmosphere. During the past 15 years an international programme the Joint Global Ocean Flux Study JGOFS has been studying the ocean carbon cycle to quantify and model the biological and physical processes whereby CO₂ is pumped from the ocean's surface to the depths of the ocean where it can remain for hundreds of years. This project is one of the largest multi disciplinary studies of the oceans ever carried out and this book synthesises the results. It covers all aspects of the topic ranging from air sea exchange with CO₂ the role of physical mixing the uptake of CO₂ by marine algae the fluxes of carbon and nitrogen through the marine food chain to the subsequent export of carbon to the depths of the ocean. Special emphasis is laid on predicting future climatic change.

The Digital Humanities Eileen

Gardiner, Ronald G. Musto, 2015-06-25 The Digital Humanities is a comprehensive introduction and practical guide to how humanists use the digital to conduct research organize materials analyze and publish findings. Streams and Ground Waters Jeremy B. Jones,Patrick J. Mulholland,1999-12-06 Streams around the world flow toward the sea in floodplains All along this transit there is exchange of water between the stream itself and the surrounding sediments which form the floodplain Many chemical biological and geological processes occur when water moves back and forth between streams and these flood plain sediments Streams and Groundwaters focuses on the consequences of water flow between streams their underlying sediments and surrounding landscapes Certain to appeal to anyone interested in stream ecology the management of stream ecosystems or landscape ecology this volume should become a oft opened reference

Freedom William Cairns,1844 Social Media Mining Reza Zafarani,Mohammad Ali Abbasi,Huan Liu,2014-04-28 The growth of social media over the last decade has revolutionized the way individuals interact and industries conduct business. Individuals produce data at an unprecedented rate by interacting, sharing, and consuming content through social media. Understanding and processing this new type of data to glean actionable patterns presents challenges and opportunities for interdisciplinary research, novel algorithms, and tool development. Social Media Mining integrates social media, social network analysis, and data mining to provide a coherent platform to understand the basics and potentials of social media mining. It introduces the unique problems arising from social media data and presents fundamental concepts, emerging issues, and effective algorithms for network analysis and data mining. Suitable for use in advanced undergraduate and beginning graduate courses as well as professional short courses, the text contains exercises of different degrees of difficulty that improve understanding and help apply concepts, principles, and methods for social media mining.

Brook's Clinical Pediatric Endocrinology Charles G. D. Brook, Peter Clayton, Rosalind Brown, 2008-04-15 This new edition of the benchmark text on clinical pediatric endocrinology still remains at the forefront of world clinical opinion. Environmental Bioinorganic Chemistry of Aquatic Microbial Organisms Christel Hassler, Martha Gledhill, Veronique Schoemann, 2013-07-05 The Environmental Bioinorganic Chemistry of Aquatic Microbial Organisms describes the interactions between metals and aquatic prokaryotic and eukaryotic microorganisms in their environment. Metals influence microbial growth in the aquatic environment as they can be either toxic to aquatic microbes if present at too high concentrations in the environment or limiting if bio-essential and present at very low concentrations. In turn, microorganisms influence the biogeochemical cycling of metals as they affect trace metal concentrations, distributions between particulate and dissolved phase, and chemical speciation. At the sub-cellular level, metalloproteins are the catalysts driving many steps in the biogeochemical cycles of major elements such as carbon, nitrogen, and sulfur. Metals thus provide a link between the abundance and activity of enzymes, the growth of microorganisms, and the biogeochemical cycles of major climate-influencing elements. Furthermore, the evolution of the chemistry of aquatic environments and atmosphere has left its mark on the microbial proteome as a direct result of changes in the solubility of metals. The aquatic microbial metallome thus has the potential to reveal information about key biogeochemical processes, their spatial and seasonal occurrence, and also to reveal how the geochemical environment is shaping the microbial population itself. The aim of this Research Topic is to highlight recent advances in our understanding of how metals influence the activity of aquatic microbes and how microbes influence the biogeochemical cycling of metals. Applications of techniques in proteomics spectroscopy mass spectrometry and genomics are all leading to a greater understanding of the interactions between the microbial metallome and the aquatic metallome and thus the influence of metals on the biogeochemical cycles of climatically important elements such as carbon nitrogen and sulfur Both reviews and original research on the occurrence and abundance of microbial metal proteins and peptides the utilisation of metals by aquatic microbes the influence of microbially produced exudates on metal speciation and the biogeochemical cycling and the toxicity of metals to microbial organisms are welcome
