Landscape Planning with Ecosystem Services Christina von Haaren, Andrew A. Lovett, Christian Albert, 2019-06-25 Human well being depends in many ways on maintaining the stock of natural resources which deliver the services from which human's benefit However these resources and flows of services are increasingly threatened by unsustainable and competing land uses Particular threats exist to those public goods whose values are not well represented in markets or whose deterioration will only affect future generations As market forces alone are not sufficient effective means for local and regional planning are needed in order to safeguard scarce natural resources coordinate land uses and create sustainable landscape structures This book argues that a solution to such challenges in Europe can be found by merging the landscape planning tradition with ecosystem services concepts Landscape planning has strengths in recognition of public benefits and implementation mechanisms while the ecosystem services approach makes the connection between the status of natural assets and human well being more explicit It can also provide an economic perspective focused on individual preferences and benefits which helps validate the acceptability of environmental planning goals Thus linking landscape planning and ecosystem services provides a two way benefit creating a usable science to meet the needs of local and regional decision making The book is structured around the Driving forces Pressures States Impacts Responses framework providing an introduction to relevant concepts methodologies and techniques It presents a new ecosystem services informed approach to landscape planning that constitutes both a framework and toolbox for students and practitioners to address the environmental and landscape challenges of 21st century Europe

Contesting Global Environmental Knowledge, Norms and Governance M. J. Peterson, 2019-01-08 Through theoretical discussions and case studies this volume explores how processes of contestation about knowledge norms and governance processes shape efforts to promote sustainability through international environmental governance The epistemic communities literature of the 1990s highlighted the importance of expert consensus on scientific knowledge for problem definition and solution specification in international environmental agreements This book addresses a gap in this literature insufficient attention to the multiple forms of contestation that also inform international environmental governance These forms include within discipline contestation that helps forge expert consensus inter disciplinary contestation regarding the types of expert knowledge needed for effective response to environmental problems normative and practical arguments about the proper roles of experts and laypersons and contestation over how to combine globally developed norms and scientific knowledge with locally prevalent norms and traditional knowledge in ways ensuring effective implementation of environmental policies This collection advances understanding of the conditions under which contestation facilitates or hinders the development of effective global environmental governance The contributors examine how attempts to incorporate more than one stream of expert knowledge and to include lay knowledge alongside it have played out in efforts to create and maintain multilateral agreements relating to environmental concerns It will interest scholars and graduate students of political science global governance international environmental politics and global policy making Policy analysts should also find it useful

Mourning Nature Ashlee Cunsolo, Karen Landman, 2017-05-17 We are facing unprecedented environmental challenges including global climate change large scale industrial development rapidly increasing species extinction ocean acidification and deforestation challenges that require new vocabularies and new ways to express grief and sorrow over the disappearance degradation and loss of nature Seeking to redress the silence around ecologically based anxiety in academic and public domains and to extend the concepts of sadness anger and loss Mourning Nature creates a lexicon for the recognition and expression of emotions related to environmental degradation Exploring the ways in which grief is experienced in numerous contexts this groundbreaking collection draws on classical philosophical artistic and poetic elements to explain environmental melancholia Understanding that it is not just how we mourn but what we mourn that defines us the authors introduce new perspectives on conservation sustainability and our relationships with nature An ecological elegy for a time of climatic and environmental upheaval Mourning Nature challenges readers to turn devastating events into an opportunity for positive change Contributors include Glenn Albrecht Murdoch University retired Jessica Marion Barr Trent University Sebastian Braun University of North Dakota Ashlee Cunsolo Labrador Institute of Memorial University Amanda Di Battista York University Franklin Ginn University of Edinburgh Bernie Krause soundscape ecologist author and independent scholar Lisa Kretz University of Evansville Karen Landman University of Guelph Patrick Lane Poet Andrew Mark independent scholar Nancy Menning Ithaca College John Charles Ryan University of New England Catriona Sandilands York University and Helen Whale independent scholar
