Fixing Columbine The Challenge To American Liberalism:

Fixing Columbine Doriane Lambelet Coleman, 2002 Fixing Columbine uses the 1999 school shootings at Columbine High School in Littleton Colorado as a metaphor for the much larger and largely silent epidemic of childhood dysfunction that has swept the nation in the last thirty years claiming as its victims approximately 15 to 25 million American children annually. Using both a child development lens and comparative analysis the book first describes the causes of the epidemic which include for the affected children absent adults toxic media exposures dysfunctional peers and an anti social educational environment. It then tackles the question how to fix it. The book argues that classical liberal principles as represented in the constitutional doctrines of parental autonomy and free speech simultaneously enabled the epidemic and impede the most obvious law based solutions. It concludes with a partial answer in the public schools as they perform their original and still salient communitarian function.

The Columbine School Shooting Louise I. Gerdes, 2012-06-12 This essential volume explores many aspects of the Columbine school shootings in April 1999. The Bully Society Jessie Klein, 2013-08 Choice's Outstanding Academic Title list for 2013 Through interviews and case studies Klein develops an explanation for bully behavior in America's schools. In today's schools kids bullying kids is not an occasional occurrence but rather an everyday reality where children learn early that being sensitive respectful and kind earns them no respect. Jessie Klein makes the provocative argument that the rise of school shootings across America and childhood aggression more broadly are the consequences of a society that actually promotes aggressive and competitive behavior. The Bully Society is a call to reclaim America's schools from the vicious cycle of aggression that threatens our children and our society at large. Heartbreaking interviews illuminate how both boys and girls obtain status by acting masculine displaying aggression at one another's expense as both students and adults police one another to uphold gender stereotypes Klein shows that the aggressive ritual of gender policing in American culture creates emotional damage that perpetuates violence through revenge and that this cycle is the main cause of not only the many school shootings that have shocked America but also related problems in schools manifesting in high rates of suicide depression anxiety eating disorders self cutting truancy and substance abuse After two decades working in schools as a school social worker and professor Klein proposes ways to transcend these destructive trends transforming school bully societies into compassionate communities

Edwards, 2011 This book describes in detail the attributes of learning communities and how these characteristics help students acquire a sense of moral responsibility and commitment to fellow students Clifford H Edwards provides an account of how schools fail to satisfy student needs and thus promote discipline problems Special attention is given to children s need for self direction and how empowering them can promote more responsible learning involvement There is also a focus on the factors that motivate learning and those that do not and how teachers can help their students become more intrinsically interested in school learning Constructivist learning theory is
