

Configuring the functions

There are 5 dip switches on the front of the product. Configure the voltage with switches 1 and 2 and configure the timer with switches 3, 4 and 5.

■ Configuring the voltage (to configure the voltage thresholds cut-off the power)

If the voltage is set, the product remains in standby mode when the engine is started and the product periodically checks the voltage of the battery when the engine is stopped. If the voltage drops below the configured voltage, the product automatically cuts the power to the vehicle drive recorder to prevent the battery of the vehicle becoming excessively discharged.

■ Configuring the timer

If the timer is configured, the product supplies power to the vehicle drive recorder until the configured time has passed, and then cuts the power. In addition, the timer function only works when the engine is stopped and automatically stops if the engine is started.

■ Even if the timer is configured and the configured time has not elapsed, the power is cut if the voltage drops below the configured voltage.
