The Coming of Neo-Feudalism Joel Kotkin, 2023-01-10 Following a remarkable epoch of greater dispersion of wealth and opportunity we are inexorably returning towards a more feudal era marked by greater concentration of wealth and property reduced upward mobility demographic stagnation and increased dogmatism If the last seventy years saw a massive expansion of the middle class not only in America but in much of the developed world today that class is declining and a new more hierarchical society is emerging The new class structure resembles that of Medieval times At the apex of the new order are two classes a reborn clerical elite the clerisy which dominates the upper part of the professional ranks universities media and culture and a new aristocracy led by tech oligarchs with unprecedented wealth and growing control of information These two classes correspond to the old French First and Second Estates Below these two classes lies what was once called the Third Estate This includes the yeomanry which is made up largely of small businesspeople minor property owners skilled workers and private sector oriented professionals Ascendant for much of modern history this class is in decline while those below them the new Serfs grow in numbers a vast expanding property less population The trends are mounting but we can still reverse them if people understand what is actually occurring and have the capability to oppose them Indian Muslims Riaz Hassan,2016-10-17 Research shows that Indian Muslims experience higher levels of development and equity deficits Indian Muslims are also predicted to become the largest Muslim population in the world by 2050 This increase in numbers might exacerbate their relative deprivation creating a disjunction between India s constitutional promises of equality of opportunity for citizens of a secular democracy including for minorities and the existential reality This will create social and political conditions that could undermine the stability of the country s democracy and make Indian Muslims a security threat which would have not only national but also global ramifications This book examines the struggle for equality of citizenship of Indian Muslims in light of the release of the Sachar Committee report of 2006 which sparked widespread awareness of socioeconomic disparity and exclusion of religious minorities in India especially Muslims The contributors are some of the most eminent social scientists in the fields of applied economics politics sociology and demography who work on Indian issues The Indian state and its political infrastructure have been relatively successful thus far in countering the challenges presented by the diversity of its population India therefore has the capacity and the ability to deal with these new challenges given the political and collective will Islamic Studies Series Volume 22 War, Identity and the Liberal State Victoria Basham,2013-07-24 This book critically examines the significance of gender race and sexuality to wars waged by liberal states Drawing on original field research with British soldiers it offers insights into how their everyday experiences are shaped by and shape a politics of gender race and sexuality that not only underpins power relations in the military but the geopolitics of wars waged by liberal states Linking the politics of daily life to the international is an intervention into international relations IR and security studies because instead of overlooking the politics of the everyday this book insists that it is vital to explore how geopolitical events and practices are co constituted reinforced and contested by it By utilising insights from Michel Foucault the book explores how shared and collectively mediated knowledge on gender race and sexuality facilitates certain claims about the nature of governing in liberal states and about why and how such states wage war against illiberal ones in pursuit of global peace and security The book also develops post structural work in international relations by urging scholars interested in the linguistic construction of geopolitics to consider the ways in which bodies objects and architectures also reinforce particular ideas about war identity and statehood Tourism, Poverty and Development Andrew Holden,2013-07-18 Poverty alleviation is high on the global policy agenda its importance being emphasised by its place as the first of the United Nation s Millennium Development Goals As a potentially significant source of economic growth in developing countries tourism may also play a major role in poverty reduction and alleviation under the right circumstances The incorporation of tourism into development policy and Poverty Reduction Strategies has special poignancy for those Least Developed Countries where natural resources exist to support a tourism industry and there are limited development alternatives This book offers a holistic explicit and detailed introduction to the relationship of poverty and tourism within the context of developing countries The book is divided into distinct sections progressing from an evaluation of the key concepts of poverty tourism and development to the causal factors of poverty to the mechanisms of how tourism is being implemented in policy and practice to reduce poverty and finally to an analysis of the relationship between tourism to poverty alleviation in the future The adopted analytical approach of the key themes is multi disciplinary incorporating tourism studies human geography political economy economics development and environmental studies It integrates examples and original case studies from varying geographical developing regions including Africa South Asian and East Asia and the Pacific to lend practical insights into tourism s role in poverty alleviation The text will be of particular interest to higher education students from tourism studies geography political economy environmental and development studies and sociology backgrounds It will also be of relevance to government and policy makers alongside those who have a more general interest in poverty alleviation
