Energy Futures John Elting

Treat, 2000 More than a dozen of the futures industry's leading authorities provide you with an even broader background in both the theory and practice of energy futures trading in this newly updated text. They review the history of the futures markets and the fundamentals of trading, hedging and technical analysis, then update you on the newest trends in energy futures trading, natural gas and electric futures, options, regulations and new information services. What's New? New chapters specifically dedicated to the oil futures market, natural gas markets and electricity markets. A new chapter on market fundamentals with details on how to manage energy supply and trading groups. A sample electricity contract. About the Author: John Elting Treat is Vice President of Booz Allen Hamilton Inc, a firm responsible for management consulting to the energy industry. He also leads the firm's wargaming activities. His recent work includes assignments for national and international companies in both North and South America, Europe, the Middle East and Asia. Mr. Treat received degrees in International Economics from Princeton and from Johns Hopkins University.

Counter-shock Duccio Basosi, Giuliano Garavini, Massimiliano Trentin, 2018-04-30 The oil price collapse of 1985-6 had momentous global consequences: non-fossil energy sources quickly became uncompetitive; the previous talk of an OPEC imperium was turned upside down; the Soviet Union lost a large portion of its external revenues and many Third World producers saw their foreign debts peak. Compared to the much debated 1973 oil shock, the countershock has not received the same degree of attention, even though its legacy has shaped the present-day energy scenario. This volume is the first to put the oil counter shock of the mid 1980s into historical perspective. Featuring some of the most knowledgeable experts in the field, Counter Shock offers a balanced approach between the global picture and local study cases. In particular, it highlights the crucial interaction between the oil counter shock and the political counterrevolution against state intervention in economic management put forward by Ronald Reagan and Margaret Thatcher in the same period.

Natural Gas and Hydrogen John Tabak, 2009 Energy and the Environment is a six-volume set that examines the history, technology, science and environmental and social implications, including issues of environmental justice associated with the acquisition and production of energy. Designed to complement science curricula, each volume describes comprehensively one or more sources of energy and the technology needed to make it useful. The books emphasize the science on which such technology is based, the limitations of each technology, the environmental effects of its use, questions of availability and cost, and the way that government policies and energy markets interact.

Law and Intersystemic Communication Gorm Harste, 2016-04-15 With contributions from experts in the field of sociology of law, this book provides an overview of current perspectives on socio-legal studies. It focuses particularly on the relationship between law and society described in recent social systems theory as structural coupling. The first part of the book presents a reconstruction of theoretical tendencies in the field of socio-legal studies characterised by the emergence of a transnational model of legal systems no longer connected to territorial borders and culturally specific aspects of single legal orders. In the following parts of the book, the contributions analyse some concrete cases of interrelation between law and society from an empirical and theoretical perspective

The World Market for Natural Gas Andrea Gilardoni, 2008-07-20 This book is a product of investigations conducted within the Global Utility Research Unit Guru of Agici Corporate Finance Milan Italy More specifically it is the result of a project developed by the Observatory on Alliances and Strategies in the Pan European Utility Market set up seven years ago with the contribution of Accenture The project entitled Pan European Gas Industry Scenario Truth and Lies was presented at the 2008 Milan annual international conference www.agici.it I would therefore like to thank Luca Cesari Claudio Arcudi and Massimo Pagella from Accenture for their continued support The scope of this book is to shed some light on a market that of natural gas which is highly complex and at the same time of fundamental importance for Europe for at least the next 20 years We do not intend to build a theory but only to develop a better understanding of the key factors We fully recognise that each of the issues we cover deserves further investigation and we are also well aware that we may have omitted a number of important considerations and topics These shortcomings are at least in part justified by the desire to keep the book to a reasonable size for editorial reasons
