Don't Make a Sign on the Boat, Stories from Burma Susanne Isabel Krajanek, 2015-03-12 A collection of stories from Myanmar Burma told by Sayadaw UNyaneinda Abbot of the old Burmese Temple in Bodhgaya and written down in this form by Susanne Isabel Krajanek born in Austria and living in Bodhgaya India for many years Hidden in most of the tales is some piece of advise such as how to manage a certain situation or to show how things generally turn out Some are simply amusing in the Burmese way Don t Make a Sign on the Boat is a well known and well loved proverb in Burma and very typical for the people s Buddhist attitude of mind It has much to do with our continuous attempt to preserve things which are by nature transient and passing Between two variations with the same title concerning young people just starting out on their life s journey as the first story and an old couple in the last is set a rich variety of different themes which also draw a beautiful picture of the daily life in the villages and small towns in the countryside along Burma s Great River There are farmers fishermen and storytellers rich men and poor shopkeepers the Joker the King and the Wise Man the Little One who challenges Wind and Rain and the Two Blind Men Also the Hunter Tiger Dog and Monkey teach us lessons Always somewhere included is the Buddhist monastery the monk and the gods of the rivers and trees Each one is not only a story but also shows very common situations in life We clearly can see the love of the Burmese people for the fantastical and surreal for their old gods and kings and for their Buddhist Tradition We find a mixture of simplicity and complex psychology There are often sudden humorous twists and turns in the course of events which seem rather absurd Some of the stories are quite old but if one forgets about the kings they could happen today because in the villages in the life of the simple people there has not changed that much

Baptizing Burma Alexandra Kaloyanides, 2023-06-20 Shortlisted 2024 EuroSEAS Book Prize in the Humanities European Association for Southeast Asian Studies. In July 1813, a young American couple from Boston arrived in Rangoon to preach the gospel. Celebrated in the Protestant press, which ran dramatic accounts of exotic adventures, the attempt to convert the Burmese met with mixed results. Although Burmese Buddhists resisted Christian evangelism, people from minority communities were baptized in large numbers throughout the nineteenth century. American Baptist Christianity was itself transformed in the Buddhist kingdom. Missionaries who were initially horrified by what they saw as the idolatry of Buddha statues found themselves creating tree shrines and their converts hanging colorful Jesus paintings in their churches. Baptizing Burma explores the history of how the American Baptist mission to Burma failed to convert the country yet succeeded in transforming its religious landscape. Alexandra Kaloyanides examines how the Burmese majority positioned Buddhism to counter Christianity, how marginalized groups took on Baptist identities, and how Protestantism was reimagined as a Southeast Asian religion. She considers a series of holy objects to reveal the mechanics of religious practice in a period of entangled empires: British, Burmese, and American. By telling stories of four key things—the sacred book, the school house, the pagoda, and the portrait—this book illuminates the histories of Burma's last kingdom and the unexpected consequences of America's first overseas mission.
