Dostoevsky's Conception Of Man Dostoevsky's Conception Of Man:

Dostoevsky's Conception of Man Peter McGuire Wolf, 1997-10 Dostoevsky's novels have contributed to a conception of man that reverberates in the conclusions of prominent twentieth century philosophical anthropologists Max Scheler Martin Heidegger Jean Paul Sartre Maurice Merleau Ponty and Albert Camus among others have admitted that the works of Dostoevsky had an influence on the manner in which they learned to conceive of human nature and the world in which humans live Our aim in this dissertation is to ask what is there in the novels of Dostoevsky concerning the nature of man of which certain philosophers could claim that in their philosophical conceptions of man they were positively influenced by him The main thesis is substantiated with a careful analysis of four novels Notes From the House of the Dead Zapiski iz mertvogo doma Notes From the Underground Zapiski iz podpol'ia Crime and Punishment Prestuplenie i nakazanie and The Brothers Karamazov Brat'ia Karamazovy These novels were chosen partly because I have come to the conclusion that these novels more than others concretely show in what sense the leading characters appear to have made themselves be what they had freely chosen to be under the circumstances in which they had to live and that they were fully aware of the responsibility they had to bear for the implications and consequences of what they had thus decided Based upon a close reading four interpretive chapters employ the most significant criticism from English Russian and French literary scholarship Dostoevsky's philosophical conception of man is compared and contrasted with the conception that Scheler and Heidegger hold i.e. that freedom is man's essence Sartre's atheistic humanism and Camus' thought The following conclusions are consonant with Dostoevsky's work freedom is constitutive for the being or the mode of being essence of man it is an inalienable duty one must become oneself Man strives to overcome himself and to exceed his freedom but in so doing invariably loses it Man exceeds himself only in the sense that he realizes an ideal human possibility The Dostoevskian man reveals not only the absence of human nature but also the enormous power which man possesses for achieving his ideal human possibility

Kaleidoscope: F.M. Dostoevsky and the Early Dialectical Theology Katya Tolstaya, 2013-03-27 Introducing a new hermeneutics this book explores the correlation between the personal faith of F.M. Dostoevsky 1821-1881 and the religious quality of his texts In offering the first comprehensive analysis of his ego documents it demonstrates how faith has methodologically to be defined by the inaccessibility of the living person This thesis which draws on the work of M.M. Bakhtin is further developed by critically examining the reception of Dostoevsky by the two main representatives of early dialectical theology Karl Barth and Eduard Thurneysen In the early 1920s they claimed Dostoevsky as a chief witness to their radical theology of the fully transcendent God While previously unpublished archive materials demonstrate the theological problems of their static conceptual interpretation the kaleidoscopic hermeneutics is founded on the awareness that a text offers only a fixed image whereas living faith is in permanent motion Dostoevsky and The Idea of Russianness Sarah Hudspith, 2004-03 This book examines Dostoevsky's interest in and engagement with Slavophilism and his views on the religious spiritual and moral ideas which he considered to be innately Russian Dostoevsky Константин Мочульский, 1967 Konstantin Mochulsky's critical biography is in the words of George Gibian the best single work in any language about Dostoevsky's work as a whole Through its close and insightful analysis of individual writings relating them to his personal life and fortunes it provides a sustained account of Dostoevsky's evolution as a novelist Already established as a modern classic in the original Russian and in the French translation this superb book is now available in English The Russian Idea. Dostoevsky's Worldview Nikolay Alexandrovich Berdyaev, Dostoevsky's Political Thought Richard Avramenko, Lee Trepanier, 2013-05-23 Recognized as one of the greatest novelists of all time Fyodor Dostoevsky continues to inspire and instigate questions about religion philosophy and literature However there has been a neglect looking at his political thought its philosophical and religious foundations its role in nineteenth century Europe and its relevance for us today Dostoevsky's Political Thought explores Dostoevsky's political thought in his fictional and nonfictional works with contributions from scholars of political science philosophy history and Russian Studies From a variety of perspectives these scholars contribute to a greater understanding of Dostoevsky not only as a political thinker but also as a writer philosopher and religious thinker

Christian Fiction and Religious Realism in the Novels of Dostoevsky William Peter van den Bercken, 2011 This study offers a literary analysis and theological evaluation of the Christian themes in the five great novels of Dostoevsky Crime and Punishment The Idiot The Adolescent The Devils and The Brothers Karamazov Dostoevsky's ambiguous treatment of religious issues in his literary works strongly differs from the slavophile Orthodoxy of his journalistic writings In the novels Dostoevsky deals with Christian basic values which are presented via a unique tension between the fictionality of the Christian characters and the readers experience of the existential reality of their religious problems This study is based on a balanced method of literary analysis and theological evaluation of the texts avoiding free theological association as well as hermeneutical mixing with the non literary writings of Dostoevsky The study starts by discussing the main recent studies of Dostoevsky's religion It then describes Dostoevsky's original literary method in dealing with religious issues his use of paradoxes contradictions and irony Christian Fiction and Religious Realism in the Novels of Dostoevsky ultimately deconstructs Dostoevsky as an Orthodox writer and reveals that the Christian themes in his novels are not ecclesiastical or confessionally theological ones but instead are expressions of a fundamentally Christian anthropology and biblical ethics

Dostoevsky's Religion Steven Cassedy, 2005-05-02 Any reader of Dostoevsky is immediately struck by the importance of religion within the world of his fiction That said it is very difficult to locate a coherent set of religious beliefs within Dostoevsky's works and to argue that the writer embraced these beliefs This book provides a trenchant reassessment of his religion by showing how Dostoevsky used his writings as the vehicle for an intense probing of the nature of Christianity of the individual meaning of belief and doubt and of the problems of ethical behavior that arise from these questions The author argues that religion represented for Dostoevsky a welter of conflicting views and stances from philosophical idealism to nationalist messianism The strength of this study lies in its recognition of the absence of a single religious prescription in Dostoevsky's works as well as in its success in tracing the background of the ideas animating Dostoevsky's religious probing

The New Age Arthur Moore,1925

Dostoevsky's Polyphonic Talent Joe E. Barnhart,2005 This book illuminates the connectedness of Dostoevsky's literary art with his philosophical and psychological brilliance Two Fyodor Dostoevsky conferences originating at the University of North Texas set the stage for this volume Scholars contributed original papers focusing on how Dostoevsky's literary art and philosophical insights enrich one another Fyodor Dostoevsky wrote and thought polyphonically His polyphonic method is both his special literary technique and his distinctive way of probing theological social and philosophical depths As Bakhtin and Terras suggest all Dostoevsky's major literary inventions from the underground man to the vitriolic Grushenka are products of his ability to listen profoundly to his own characters Like the genius author redactor of 1 and 2 Samuel he reports the heights and depths of human emotion and behavior whether exploring the anatomy of dysfunctional families making the heart soar with Zosima's vision of forgiveness or giving Ivan Karamazov full rein to challenge theism Dostoevsky's characters transform themselves into irregular verbs whose fierce independence emerges only because of their desperate and inescapable interdependence His major characters are text subtext and context for each other They play inside each other's head and answer in one way or another
