East Asia Imperilled East Asia Imperilled:

East Asia Imperilled Alan Dupont, 2001-10-15 Security issues have traditionally been defined in military terms yet the post Cold War security landscape contains numerous non military challenges to security In this 2001 analysis Alan Dupont argues that an emerging new class of non military threats has the potential to destabilize East Asia and reverse decades of hard won economic and social development He shows that these transnational shifts must be grasped and dealt with by governments and non government organizations both regionally and internationally if conflict is to be avoided Transnational threats stem from overpopulation deforestation and pollution global warming unregulated population movements transnational crime virulent new strains of infectious diseases and other issues not previously associated with international security Collectively they represent a new agenda and pose novel challenges for foreign and defence policy This highly informative compelling and authoritative book is essential reading for East Asia specialists and makes a significant contribution to international security debates

ASEAN and the Institutionalization of East Asia Ralf Emmers, 2011-09-28 This book examines the evolving multilateral security arrangements in East Asia with a focus on the role of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN It explores the function and relevance of ASEAN in East Asia s emerging institutional security landscape These issues have direct implications for the future of the ASEAN Security Community the relevance of the ASEAN cooperative model to wider regional arrangements and finally for the further institutionalization of great power relations within these multilateral structures The book highlights ASEAN s successes and shortcomings It also considers ASEAN led institutions in the wider region and goes on to analyse alternative approaches to regionalism including the China Japan South Korea Trilateral Summit Overall it assesses how the various initiatives are likely to develop concluding that ASEAN despite its shortcomings is likely to continue to play a key role

Remapping East Asia T. J. Pempel, 2018-08-06 An overarching ambiguity characterizes East Asia today The region has at least a century long history of internal divisiveness war and conflict and it remains the site of several nettlesome territorial disputes However a mixture of complex and often competing agents and processes has been knitting together various segments of East Asia In Remapping East Asia T J Pempel suggests that the region is ripe for cooperation rather than rivalry and that recent region building developments in East Asia have had a substantial cumulative effect on the broader canvas of international politics This collection is about the people processes and institutions behind that region building In it experts on the area take a broad approach to the dynamics and implications of regionalism Instead of limiting their focus to security matters they extend their discussions to topics as diverse as the mercurial nature of Japan s leadership role in the region Southeast Asian business networks the war on terrorism in Asia and the political economy of environmental regionalism Throughout they show how nation states corporations and problem specific coalitions have furthered regional cohesion not only by establishing formal institutions but also by operating informally semiformally or even secretly

Critical security in the Asia-Pacific Anthony Burke,Matt McDonald,2021-06-15 In the wake of 9 11 the Asian crisis and the 2004 tsunami traditional analytical frameworks are increasingly unable to explain how individuals and communities are rendered insecure or advance individual global or environmental security In the Asia Pacific

the accepted wisdom of realism has meant that analyses rarely move beyond the statist militarist and exclusionary assumptions that underpin traditional realpolitik This innovative new book challenges these limitations and addresses the missing problems people and vulnerabilities of the Asia Pacific region It also turns a critical eye on traditional interstate strategic dynamics Critical security in the Asia Pacific applies both a critical theoretical approach that interrogates the deeper assumptions underpinning security discourses and a human centred policy approach that focuses on the security welfare and emancipation of individuals and communities Leading Asia Pacific researchers combine to apply these frameworks to the most pressing issues in the region from the Korean peninsula to environmental change Indonesian conflict the war on terror and the plight of refugees The result is a sophisticated and accessible account of often neglected realities of marginalization in the region and a compelling argument for the empowerment and security of the most vulnerable

Asian Security Reassessed Stephen Hoadley, Jurgen Ruland, 2006 This book traces changes in the concept of security in Asia from realist to cooperative comprehensive and human security approaches and assesses a number of policy alternatives to management of both old and new security threats It surveys not only orthodox security threats such as tensions between regional powers or armed ethnic antagonists but also new sources of anxiety such as resource scarcity economic instability irregular migration community fragmentation and international terrorism Security policies of major powers such as China Japan and the United States and the moderating roles of regional organizations such as ASEAN ARF SCO and KEDO are evaluated in historical and contemporary perspectives Contributors proffer policy relevant insights where appropriate The book concludes that traditional security approaches remain valid but need to be adapted to the new challenges and offers suggestions for incorporating fresh Asian security perceptions into the agendas of policy makers analysts and scholars
