Earth In Mind On Education Environment And The Human Prospect:

Earth in Mind David W. Orr, 1994 In Earth in Mind noted environmental educator David W Orr focuses not on problems in education but on the problem of education Much of what has gone wrong with the world he argues is the result of inadequate and misdirected education that alienates us from life in the name of human domination causes students to worry about how to make a living before they know who they are overemphasizes success and careers separates feeling from intellect and the practical from the theoretical deadens the sense of wonder for the created world The crisis we face Orr explains is one of mind perception and values It is first and foremost an educational challenge The author begins by establishing the grounds for a debate about education and knowledge He describes the problems of education from an ecological perspective and challenges the terrible simplifiers who wish to substitute numbers for values He follows with a presentation of principles for re creating education in the broadest way possible discussing topics such as biophilia the disciplinary structure of knowledge the architecture of educational buildings and the idea of ecological intelligence Orr concludes by presenting concrete proposals for reorganizing the curriculum to draw out our affinity for life

Hope Is an Imperative David W. Orr, 2011 The author has championed the cause of ecological literacy in higher education helping to establish and shape the field of ecological design and working to raise awareness of the threats to future generations posed by humanity's current unsustainable trajectory This volume brings together his most important works

Education Studies Stephen Ward, 2004-02-26 Written specifically for students on Education Studies degree courses yet also relevant for students on teacher training courses Education Studies A Student's Guide introduces a wide range of topics and issues from knowledge and learning and policy and schooling to the ways in which education is a force for change across the globe The book is split into three comprehensive sections which challenge our assumptions about education It explores a wide range of perspectives on education in different countries and cultures provides critiques of current policies and practice and analyzes learning and the nature of knowledge itself Specific topics covered include the global dimension in the curriculum cultural and religious plurality in education the effective teacher gender and educational achievement special educational needs and inclusion in mainstream schools ICT and learning for the future language power and education With chapter summaries questions for discussion and reflection and suggestions for further reading Education Studies A Student's Guide will be a valuable resource for all students of Education Studies as well as BEd and PGCE students

EDUCATION FOR SUSTAINABILITY -Volume I

Robert V. Farrell ,George Papagiannis,2009-10-10 Education for Sustainability is a component of Encyclopedia of Human Resources Policy Development and Management in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one Encyclopedias The Theme on Education for Sustainability provides the essential aspects and a myriad of issues of great relevance connection between education and more sustainable futures and embraces a reality that all need to know It demands a much broader interpretation of education a holistic perspective that accommodates new and challenging ideas Such education is imperative in creating the knowledge wisdom and vision needed for the transition to a more sustainable world In helping to design this sustainable future education for sustainability implements a vital systemic perspective that will allow for a complex interdependence of all life forms and Earth This volume is aimed at the following five major target audiences University and College Students Educators Professional Practitioners Research Personnel and Policy Analysts Managers and Decision Makers and NGOs Postformal Education Jennifer M. Gidley,2016-08-05 This book explains why the current education model which was developed in the 19th century to meet the needs of industrial expansion is obsolete It points to the need for a new approach to education designed to prepare young people for global uncertainty accelerating change and unprecedented complexity The book offers a new educational philosophy to awaken the creative big picture and long term thinking that will help equip students to face tomorrow s challenges Inside readers will find a dialogue between adult developmental psychology research on higher stages of reasoning and today s most evolved education research and practice This dialogue reveals surprising links between play and wisdom imagination and ecology holism and love The overwhelming issues of global climate crisis growing economic disparity and the youth mental health epidemic reveal how dramatically the current education model has failed students and educators This book raises a planet wide call to deeply question how we actually think and how we must educate It articulates a postformal education philosophy as a foundation for educational futures The book will appeal to educators educational philosophers pre service teacher educators educational and developmental psychologists and educational researchers including postgraduates with an interest in transformational educational theories designed for the complexity of the 21st century This is the most compelling book on education I have read for many years It has major implications for all who are in a position to influence developments in teacher education and educational policy Gidley is one of the very rare scholars who can write intelligently and accessibly about the past present and future in education I was challenged and ultimately convinced by her contention that what masquerades as education today must be seen for what it is an anachronistic relic of the industrial past Gidley s challenge is to co evolve a radically new education All who seek to play a part must read this book Brian J Caldwell PhD Educational Transformations former Dean of Education at the University of Melbourne and Deputy Chair Australian Curriculum Assessment and Reporting Authority ACARA The Nature Principle Richard Louv,2012-04-24 For many of us thinking about the future conjures up images of Cormac McCarthy s The Road a post apocalyptic dystopia stripped of nature Richard Louv author of the landmark bestseller Last Child in the Woods urges us to change our vision of the future suggesting that if we reconceive environmentalism and sustainability they will evolve into a larger movement that will touch every part of society This New Nature Movement taps into the restorative powers of the natural world to boost mental acuity and creativity promote health and wellness build smarter and more sustainable businesses communities and economies and ultimately strengthen human bonds Supported by groundbreaking research anecdotal evidence and compelling personal stories Louv offers renewed optimism while challenging us to rethink the way we live

New Earth Politics Simon Nicholson, Sikina Jinnah, 2016-03-04 Prominent scholars and practitioners consider the role of global environmental politics in the face of increasing environmental stress Humanity's collective impact on the Earth is vast The rate and scale of human driven environmental destruction is quickly outstripping our political and social capacities for managing it We are in effect creating an Earth 2.0 on which the human signature is everywhere a new earth in desperate need of humane and insightful guidance In this volume prominent scholars and practitioners in the field of global environmental politics consider the ecological and political realities of life on the new earth and probe the field's deepest and most enduring questions at a time of increasing environmental stress Arranged in complementary pairs the essays in this volume include reflections on environmental pedagogy analysis of new geopolitical realities reflections on the power of social movements and international institutions and calls for more compelling narratives to promote environmental action At the heart of the volume is sustained attention to the role of traditional scholarly activities in a world confronting environmental disaster Some contributors make the case that it is the scholar's role to provide activists with the necessary knowledge and tools others argue for more direct engagement and political action All the contributors confront the overriding question What is the best use of their individual and combined energies given the dire environmental reality Contributors Erik Assadourian Frank Biermann Wil Burns Ken Conca Peter Dauvergne Daniel Deudney Navroz Dubash Richard Falk Joyeeta Gupta Maria Ivanova Peter Jacques Sikina Jinnah Karen T. Turning to Earth F. Marina Schauffler, 2003 Turning to Earth offers a window into the heart of environmental change moving beyond the culture's traditional reliance on policy reforms and technological measures It charts the course of ecological conversion a dynamic inner process by which people come to ally themselves with the natural world and speak out on its behalf Stories by ecological converts illuminate a critical realm long neglected by environmental scholars and activists how the terrain of spirit psyche and conscience shape our commitment to Earth Marina Schauffler's engaging exploration of inner ecology deftly weaves together numerous autobiographical accounts with insights from the fields of ecocriticism ecopsychology environmental philosophy and environmental education An opening portrait of the writer and activist Terry Tempest Williams traces her deepening devotion to Earth Each subsequent chapter explores a key element of ecological conversion drawing primarily on the personal testimony of Williams and five other pioneering writers Rachel Carson Alice Walker Edward Abbey Scott Russell Sanders and N Scott Momaday Turning to Earth extends the parameters of contemporary environmental discussion by illustrating how substantive change hinges not just on political and institutional reforms but also on profound inner transformation The compelling life narratives of ecological converts provide inspiration and direction for the growing number of activists educators scholars and citizens committed to changing the world from the inside out

Contemplative Approaches to Sustainability in Higher Education Marie Eaton, Holly J. Hughes, Jean MacGregor, 2016-10-14 How do we foster in college students the cognitive complexity ethical development and personal resolve that are required for living in this sustainability century Tackling these complex and highly interdependent problems requires nuanced interdisciplinary understandings collective endeavors systemic solutions and profound cultural shifts Contributors in this book present both a rationale as well as a theoretical framework for incorporating reflective and contemplative pedagogies to help students pause deepen their awareness think more carefully and work with complexity in sustainability focused courses Also offering a variety of relevant timely resources for faculty to use in their classrooms Contemplative Approaches to Sustainability in Higher Education serves as a key asset to the efforts of educators to enhance students capacities for long term engagement and resilience in a future where sustainability is vital

Green Ethics and Philosophy Julie Newman, 2011-06-28 Covers the moral relationship between humans and their natural environment specifically targeting the contemporary green movement

Abundant Earth Eileen Crist, 2019-02-08 In Abundant Earth Eileen Crist not only documents the rising tide of biodiversity loss but also lays out the drivers of this wholesale destruction and how we can push past them Looking beyond the familiar litany of causes a large and growing human population rising livestock numbers expanding economies and international trade and spreading infrastructures and incursions upon wildlands she asks the key question if we know human expansionism is to blame for this ecological crisis why are we not taking the needed steps to halt our expansionism Crist argues that to do so would require a two pronged approach Scaling down calls upon us to lower the global human population while working within a human rights framework to deindustrialize food production and to localize economies and contract global trade Pulling back calls upon us to free restore reconnect and rewild vast terrestrial and marine ecosystems However the pervasive worldview of human supremacy the conviction that humans are superior to all other life forms and entitled to use these life forms and their habitats normalizes and promotes humanity's ongoing expansion undermining our ability to enact these linked strategies and preempt the mounting suffering and dislocation of both humans and nonhumans Abundant Earth urges us to confront the reality that humanity will not advance by entrenching its domination over the biosphere On the contrary we will stagnate in the identity of nature colonizer and decline into conflict as we vie for natural resources Instead we must chart another course choosing to live in fellowship within the vibrant ecologies of our wild and domestic cohorts and enfolding human inhabitation within the rich expanse of a biodiverse living planet

Regenerative Urban Development, Climate Change and the Common Good Beth Schaefer Caniglia, Beatrice Frank, John L. Knott, Jr., Kenneth S. Sagendorf, Eugene A.

Wilkerson, 2019-08-06 This volume focuses on the theory and practice of the regenerative development paradigm that is rapidly displacing sustainability as the most fertile ground for climate change adaptation research This book brings together key thinkers in this field to develop a meaningful synthesis between the existing practice of regenerative development and the input of scholars in the social sciences It begins by providing an expert introduction to the history principles and practices of regenerative development before going on to present a thorough theoretical examination by known theorists from disciplines including sociology geography and ethics A section on regenerative development practices illustrates the need to significantly advance our understanding of how urbanization climate change and inequality interact at every scale of development work Finally the book ends with a serious consideration of the ways in which integrated systems thinking in higher education could result in a curriculum for the next generation of regenerative development professionals
