

PERANCANGAN DAN ANALISA SISTEM TRANSMISI PADA INFRASTRUCTURAL MOBILE DARI HASIL PERTANIAN

Oleh: Nur Faiha Rahim

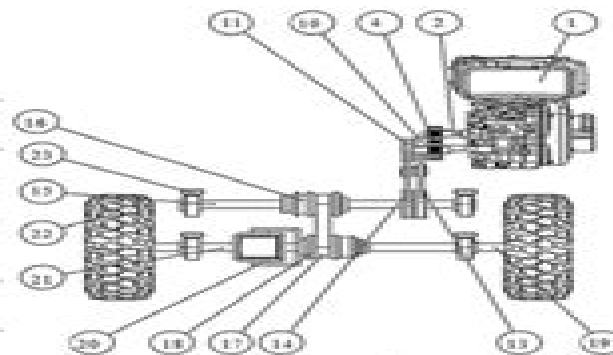

Supervisor: Ir. Julendra Bambang Ariatedja, MT.

Dalam penelitian ini dilakukan perancangan dan analisa sistem transmisi infrastuctural mobile dari hasil pertanian. Sumber daya yang digunakan adalah mesin diesel. Putaran mesin diesel ini di transmisikan dengan roda gigi sehingga menghasilkan dua output yang berlawanan arah. Masing-masing roda gigi yang berlawanan arah ini dihubungkan dengan poros transmisi yang menggerakkan pulley. Transmisi pulley- v belt dengan putaran yang berlawanan arah ini selanjutnya menggerakkan poros transmisi satu. Selanjutnya putaran dari poros transmisi satu ke poros transmisi dua dihubungkan dengan CVT untuk mendapatkan differential kecepatan. Selanjutnya poros transmisi dua yang terhubung ke roda kiri dihubungkan ke poros roda kanan dengan mekanisme differential.

KONSEP RANCANGAN

Langkah awal yang dilakukan dari penelitian ini adalah studi literatur tentang alat angkut pedesaan dan sistem transmisi. Selanjutnya dilakukan desain dari transmisi infrastuctural mobile dari hasil pertanian ini dengan SolidWork 2015. Setelah didapat gambaran kasar, mengenai mekanisme dari sistem transmisi ini, dilakukan perhitungan dan analisa dari setiap transmisi yang ada. Output dari tugas akhir ini adalah suatu rancangan transmisi, berupa perhitungan kebutuhan daya, rasio tiap transmisi, serta dimensi dan geometri dari komponen utama transmisi.

Construction and Analysis of Transition Systems with MEC Andr  Arnold,Didier B gay,Paul Crubill ,P.

Crubille,1994 The importance of formal methods in software engineering has been receiving greater acknowledgement These methods can be used at several stages of the software development process This book focuses on a method concerning the early stages of design namely the modeling of a system at conceptual level and the verification and validation of this model The mathematical formalism used for modeling and verifying systems is the synchronized product of transition systems The book introduces this notion and presents several examples of modeling and verification covering various domains games industrial processes communication protocols etc These examples are worked out using the Mec software tool This book is also intended to be an introduction to this tool which is described in full detail

Vision 2030 and the UAE's rush into renewables tech hubs and smart city prototypes both acknowledge that oil money will eventually run thin and promise a future built on broader revenue streams. Within this shifting frame, Chinese companies eager to showcase their muscle in highways, fibre optics and offshore wind are signing contracts that range from sprawling desert solar fields to green hydrogen pilot plants on the Gulf Coast. Such projects offer a test case of how Xi Jinping's Belt and Road can mesh if only partially with the Arab world's pledges to go low carbon. Each agreement carries its own red flags, however: regulatory surprises, debt fatigue and the ever-present shadow of US and European scrutiny. The following chapters unpack both the promise and the pitfalls, mapping a busy intersection where Middle Eastern modernisation meets Chinese engineering. Arab policymakers have begun to voice unease about over-dependence on Chinese hardware and capital; similar worries from Washington and Moscow keep nudging the conversation. Their dialogue now juggles not only traditional budget spreadsheets but also water footprints, carbon credits and the image of a region whose wealth once sprang from oil wells alone. Off stage, the surge of solar farms and shifting global fuel preferences push everyone to rethink tomorrow's energy blueprints before yesterday's contracts are even inked. Powering the Future pores over that scramble and decodes the tangled lines where economics, diplomacy and ecology meet. The book concludes that both sides are still trading on their marathon pasts while sketching an uncertain joint finish line through a landscape that refuses to hold still. Merchants of Culture John B. Thompson, 2013-04-17 These are turbulent times in the world of book publishing. For nearly five centuries, the methods and practices of book publishing remained largely unchanged, but at the dawn of the twenty-first century, the industry finds itself faced with perhaps the greatest challenges since Gutenberg. A combination of economic pressures and technological change is forcing publishers to alter their practices and think hard about the future of the books in the digital age. In this book, the first major study of trade publishing for more than 30 years, Thompson situates the current challenges facing the industry in an historical context, analysing the transformation of trade publishing in the United States and Britain since the 1960s. He gives a detailed account of how the world of trade publishing really works, dissecting the roles of publishers, agents and booksellers and showing how their practices are shaped by a field that has a distinctive structure and dynamic. This new paperback edition has been thoroughly revised and updated to take account of the most recent developments, including the dramatic increase in ebook sales and its implications for the publishing industry and its future.
