Bullying Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Education and Skills Committee,2007-03-27 There has been an increasing awareness over the past few decades of bullying and the effect it has on the educational and social achievements of children and young people The Committee's report examines the progress that has been made to address this problem since the introduction of the Don't Suffer in Silence pack in 1994 the barriers that prevent schools from tackling bullying effectively issues of prejudice driven bullying including SEN related homophobic and faith based bullying and cyber bullying The report finds that defining what bullying is and identifying instances of bullying is the first potential barrier to successfully tackling the problem Teachers and staff pupils and parents should all be aware of their school's definition of bullying and how this affects their own behaviour with the attitude and engagement of head teachers vital to tackling bullying The focus of anti bullying guidance should be tackling bullying behaviour and making it clear that such behaviour is not acceptable rather than attempting to change the behaviour of the victim The DfES should issue new guidance to local authorities and schools on when the use of exclusion is appropriate The lack of accurate reliable data on bullying is another barrier to more effective anti bullying work and the Government should commission a long term study of a number of schools looking at both general trends in bullying and also the effectiveness of different approaches in different circumstances The report also recommends that the Government needs to foster a culture where schools are encouraged to be open about incidents of bullying have effective ways of dealing with bullying when it occurs and provide support the victims of bullying rather than fearing reporting incidents of bullying will damage their reputation

Conflict and Bullying Through Evidence-Based Strategies Bruce Burton, Margret Lepp, Morag Morrison, John O'Toole, 2015-06-15 This book offers a complete and detailed account of the evolution of an internationally successful evidence based program that has been the result of almost two decades of action research into conflict and bullying. It addresses one of the most serious problems encountered in schools and work places worldwide that of bullying and interpersonal conflict. The book presents a comprehensive account of the research development and refinement of the DRACON Project and the Acting Against Bullying and Cooling Conflicts programs. The effective strategies that emerged from the extensive international research and practice use a combination of theories of conflict and bullying management with drama techniques and peer teaching which have been unique in their application. The book analyses their evolution into an effective program that has impacted positively on bullying and conflict in a number of settings. In the UK the program successfully addressed behavioural problems amongst girls in schools through the use of peer teaching in a drama setting. In Sweden the program assists nursing students, nurses and other health professionals to deal with conflict in the workplace. In Australia it has been applied in hundreds of schools to reduce bullying and assist newly arrived refugees to deal with cultural conflict and develop resilience and self identity in their new country. This volume makes a major and authentic contribution to the international effort to find effective strategies and techniques to deal with interpersonal conflict and bullying across a range of contexts.
