Immersive Longform Storytelling David Dowling, 2019-03-13 A deep dive into the world of online and multimedia longform storytelling this book charts the renaissance in deep reading viewing and listening associated with the literary mind and the resulting implications of its rise in popularity David O Dowling argues that although developments in media technology have enabled the ascendance of nonfictional storytelling to new heights through new forms it has done so at the peril of these intensely persuasive designs becoming deployed for commercial and political purposes He shows how traditional boundaries separating genres and dividing editorial from advertising content have fallen with the rise of media hybridity drawing attention to how the principle of an independent press can be reformulated for the digital ecosystem Immersive Longform Storytelling is a compelling examination of storytelling covering multimedia features on demand documentary television branded digital documentaries interactive online documentaries and podcasting This book's focus on both form and effect makes it a fascinating read for scholars and academics interested in storytelling and the rise of new media

Arctic Cinemas and the Documentary Ethos Anna Westerstahl Stenport, 2019-02-18 A collection of essays analyzing the representation of the Arctic region in documentary films Beginning with Robert Flaherty's Nanook of the North 1922 the majority of films that have been made in about and by filmmakers from the Arctic region have been documentary cinema Focused on a hostile environment that few people visit these documentaries have heavily shaped ideas about the contemporary global Far North In Arctic Cinemas and the Documentary Ethos contributors from a variety of scholarly and artistic backgrounds come together to provide a comprehensive study of Arctic documentary cinemas from a transnational perspective This book offers a thorough analysis of the concept of the Arctic as it is represented in documentary filmmaking while challenging the notion of The Arctic as a homogenous entity that obscures the environmental historical geographic political and cultural differences that characterize the region By examining how the Arctic is imagined understood and appropriated in documentary work the contributors argue that such films are key in contextualizing environmental indigenous political cultural sociological and ethnographic understandings of the Arctic from early cinema to the present

Understanding the role of these films becomes all the more urgent in the present day as conversations around resource extraction climate change and sovereignty take center stage in the Arctic's representation. Highly recommended. Choice A: thorough exploration of the inexorable links between the circumpolar regions and historic and contemporary documentary filmmaking. It will be valuable to Arctic humanities specialists particularly as a welcome addition to scholarship on visual depictions of the Arctic by authors such as Ann Fienup-Riordan, Richard Condon, Russell Potter and Peter Geller as well as Mackenzie and Wester Stahl. Steport's earlier co-edited volume Films on Ice It will also be of use to anyone interested in ways of studying linkages between filmmaking environments and local and outsider communities. Sarah Pickman, Yale University, H-Environment, January 2020.

Spin Clive Veroni, 2014-08-02. Spin has been updated with a new introduction reflecting on the current era of Brexit and Trump. Aided by masses of data, sophisticated computer modelling and smart manipulation of social media, political strategists are reshaping the way voters think. And act. Clive Veroni analyzes the inner workings of campaign organizations to show how they build and motivate teams and how they approach strategic and future planning. And those strategies being used to influence our choices at the ballot box will soon be used to influence our choices in the grocery store. Spin focuses on the well-known characters from the worlds of politics and marketing to reveal how all of us will be affected by the surprising new ways in which companies and politicians will try to persuade us to vote for their brands.

The Risk Factor Deborah Perry Piscione, 2025-06-25. Our most revered business icons of the last few decades are the bold risktakers such as Richard Branson, Elon Musk and Steve Jobs. Yet in today's stock market-driven economy, companies are playing it safe with too many leaders focused on short-term gains rather than value creation. The result is a static business culture that generates forgettable results even as the world demands big solutions. So how do we get back in the risk-taking game? In The Risk Factor, Deborah Perry Piscione takes the most comprehensive look at this crucial undervalued leadership behavior and outlines how companies must support risk-taking across the enterprise. Exploring the heroes of risk, including entrepreneurs, venture capitalists and technologists, and the role risk-taking and failure tolerance play in their success, she makes a compelling case not only for big, flashy mergers or acquisitions but also for unorthodox choices in everything from leadership to corporate social responsibility. Drawing on case studies from a wide range of now famous giants, Netflix, Salesforce and successful start-ups, Tesla, NetApp, she distills lessons for both new entrepreneurs and established companies whose longtime risk aversion has cost them more than they realize.

The Political Language of Food Samuel Boerboom, 2015-05-06. The Political Language of Food addresses why the language used in the production, marketing, selling and consumption of food is inherently political. Food language is rarely neutral and is often strategically vague, which tends to serve the interests of powerful entities. Boerboom and his contributors critique the language of food-based messages and examine how such language, including idioms, tropes, euphemisms, invented terms, etc., serves to both mislead and obscure relationships between food and the resulting community health, labor and environmental impacts. Employing diverse methodologies the contributors examine on a micro level the textual and rhetorical elements of food based language itself The Political Language of Food is both timely and important and will appeal to scholars of media studies political communication and rhetoric The Environmental Documentary John A. Duvall,2017-05-18 The Environmental Documentary provides the first extensive coverage of the most important environmental films of the decade including their approach to their topics and their impacts on public opinion and political debate While documentaries with themes of environmental activism date back at least to Pare Lorenz s films of the 1930 s no previous decade has produced the number and quality of films that engage environmental issues from an activist viewpoint The convergence of high profile issues like climate change fossil fuel depletion animal abuse and corporate malfeasance has combined with the miniaturization of high quality recording equipment and the expansion of documentary programming to produce an unprecedented number of important and influential documentary productions The text examines the processes of production and distribution that have produced this explosion in documentaries The films range from a high profile Hollywood production with theatrical distribution like An Inconvenient Truth to shorter independently produced films like The End of Suburbia that have reached a small audience of activists through video distribution interviews with many of the filmmakers and word of mouth

Singer,Stephanie Houston Grey,Jeff Motter,2020-09-01 From farm to table restaurants and farmers markets to support for fair trade and food sovereignty movements for food system change hold the promise for deeper transformations Yet Americans continue to live the paradox of caring passionately about healthy eating

while demanding the convenience of fast food Rooted Resistance explores this fraught but promising food scene More than a retelling of the origin story of a democracy born from an intimate connection with the land this book wagers that socially responsible agrarian mythmaking should be a vital part of a food ethic of resistance if we are to rectify the destructive tendencies in our contemporary food system Through a careful examination of several case studies Rooted Resistance traverses the ground of agrarian myth in modern America The authors investigate key figures and movements in the history of modern agrarianism including the World War I victory garden efforts the postwar Country Life movement for the vindication of farmers rights the Southern Agrarian critique of industrialism and the practical and spiritual prophecy of organic farming put forth by J I Rodale This critical history is then brought up to date with recent examples such as the contested South Central Farm in urban Los Angeles and the spectacular rise and fall of the Chipotle Food with Integrity branding campaign By examining a range of case studies Singer Grey and Motter aim for a deeper critical understanding of the many applications of agrarian myth and reveal why it can help provide a pathway for positive systemic change in the food system

YouTube as both media and advertising companies as well as examining the role of brand culture in the 21st century The Media Ecosystem Antonio Lopez, 2012-07-10 In The Media Ecosystem Antonio Lopez draws together the seemingly disparate realms of ecology and media studies to present a fresh and provocative interpretation of the current state of the mass media and its potential future Lopez explores the connections between media and the environment arguing that just as the world's powers have seized and exploited the physical territories and natural resources of the earth so too have they colonized the cultural commons the space of ideas that everyone shares He identifies the root of the problem in the privileging of mechanistic thinking over ecological intelligence which recognizes that people live in a relationship with every other living thing on the planet In order to create a more sustainable media ecosystem just like the preservation of organic ecosystems we must reconnect our daily media activities to their impact on others and the environment To become organic media practitioners we must become aware of the impact of media use on the environment recognize media's influence on our perception of time space and place understand media's interdependence with the global economy be conscious of media's interaction with cultural beliefs and develop an ethical framework in order to act upon these understandings Above all Lopez calls for media producers and consumers alike to bring a sense of ritual and collaboration back to the process of communication utilizing collective intelligence and supporting a new culture of participation Containing both wide reaching analysis and practical tips for more conscious media use The Media Ecosystem is designed for all those who seek a more sustainable future The Media Ecosystem is part of the EVOLVER EDITIONS Manifesto Series Media Today Joseph Turow, 2019-08-28 This seventh edition of Joseph Turow's pathbreaking media textbook uses convergence as a lens that puts students at the center of the profound changes in the 21st century media world It teaches students to think critically about the role of media and what these changes mean for their lives The book's media systems approach helps students to look carefully at how media content is created distributed and exhibited in the new world that the digital revolution has created The first part examines the media world as a whole while the second delves deep into key media industries such as the movie book and video game industries This new edition includes critical expanded coverage of social media as well as updated figures tables and pedagogy including key terms and further activities Media Today is an excellent introduction to the world of media in the digital age From news media to video games and social networking to mobile platforms it provides students with the tools they need to understand and critique the media they encounter and consume Extensive pedagogical materials also make this a highly teachable book well suited to the classroom The accompanying website has also been updated with new student and instructor resources including chapter recaps recommended readings and instructor's manual Feasting Our Eyes Laura Lindenfeld, Fabio Parasecoli, 2016-11-29 Big Night 1996 Ratatouille 2007 and Julie and Julia 2009 are more than films about food they serve a political purpose In the kitchen around the table and in the dining room these films use cooking and eating to explore such themes as ideological pluralism ethnic and racial acceptance gender equality and class flexibility but not as progressively as you might think Feasting Our Eyes takes a second look at these and other modern American food films to emphasize their conventional approaches to nation gender race sexuality and social status Devoured visually and emotionally these films are particularly effective defenders of the status quo Feasting Our Eyes looks at Hollywood films and independent cinema documentaries and docufictions from the 1990s to today and frankly assesses their commitment to racial diversity tolerance and liberal political ideas Laura Lindenfeld and Fabio Parasecoli find women and people of color continue to be treated as objects of consumption even in these modern works and despite their progressive veneer American food films often mask a conservative politics that makes commercial success more likely A major force in mainstream entertainment American food films shape our sense of who belongs who has a voice and who has opportunities in American society They facilitate the virtual consumption of traditional notions of identity and citizenship reworking and reinforcing ingrained ideas of power

Bits and Pieces Sarah O'Brien, 2023-07-10 Bits and Pieces Screening Animal Life and Death gathers pivotal and more mundane moments dispersed across a predominantly Western history of moving images in which animals materialize in movies and TV shows from iconic scenes of cattle slaughter in early Soviet montage to quandaries over hunting trophies in recent home renovation reality TV series to animals in Black horror films Sarah O'Brien carefully views these fragments in dialogue with germinal texts at the intersection of animal studies film and television studies and cultural studies She explores the capacity of moving images to unsettle the ways in which audiences have become habituated to viewing animal life and death on screens and more importantly to understanding these images as more and less connected to the production for consumption of animals that is specific to modern industrialization By looking back at films and TV series in which the places and practices of killing or keeping animals enter occupy or slip from the foreground Bits and Pieces takes seriously the idea that cinema and television have the capacity not only to catch but to challenge and change viewers regard for animals
